GEORGIA TECH'S GRIDMEN BEAT CALIFORNIA, 8-7

Freak Play, Resulting in Safety for Dixie Team, Proves Decisive.

RIEGELS, FOR BEARS, RUNS TO OWN GOAL

Mizell's 30-Yard Dash and Lom's Pass Pave Way for Touchdowns.

By GEORGE H. BEALE
(United Press Staff Correspondent).

Rose Bowl, Pasadena, Calif., Jan. 1 (U.P.).—Captain-elect Roy Riegels, of California, ran 66 yards at the Rose Bowl today to give Georgia Tech an 8-to-7 victory over his own eleven in the anual Tournament of Roses football classic.

Riegels, named to head the Golden Bears next season, traveled toward the wrong goal, a mistake which led to a safety and subsequent defeat for California.

Riegel's ill-fated run stopped on his own 1-foot line, and on the next play Georgia Tech broke through to block Lom's kick and to tackle Barr, who recovered the ball behind his own goal line.

The crowd was strangely silent during Riegels' run. Stunned by the unexpected sight of a player racing for his own goal line with every nerve strained, not even Georgia Tech's delegation from the South made a demonstration.

Fans Tense During Run.

All sat tense as Benny Lom caught up with Riegels at the last moment and warned him. There was little sound or movement as Riegels made a desperate attempt to reverse his field and redeem himself.

The lull was followed a moment later by a roar when Tech blocked Lom's punt. There was silence again as Riegels was taken from the game.

The game was played in the colorful setting of the Tournament of Roses and before a crowd of 70,000 persons.

This victory added a deal of prestige to Tech's claim for a national championship. The Southerners concluded an unbeaten and united season by scoring their touchdown and a safety against California's touchdown and conversion.

The contest, one of the wildest and most thrilling ever played here, produced its heroes in Lom and Phillips, of California, and Mizell, Thomason, Pund and Waddey, of Tech. It also offered an individual goat in the person of Riegels.

Tech scored its first two points on Riegel's error. The next six followed when Thomason went across after he and Mizell had carried the ball to the danger zone in a series of brilliant end runs.

Bears Rally Near End.

California's touchdown came with less than two minutes to play. Passes carried the ball to the 17-yard line, and then a final pass, Lom to Phillips, with the latter coming out of a group of Tech players to make the catch behind the goal line, brought the score. Barr converted for California's other point.

Tech gained the most ground around end. It resorted to the overhead game

Science Head Deplores Criticism of Religion

Osborn Calls Demand for New God Idea Out Of Place.

New York, Jan. 1 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Prof. Harry Elmer Barnes, of Smith College, who last Saturday started a storm among New York clergy by calling for a revision of religion and for a new concept of God, and abolition of the notion of rewards to come after death, was taken severely to task tonight by Prof. Henry Fairfield Osborn, president of the American Museum of Natural History and of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Prof. Osborn charged Prof. Barnes with an "unwarranted intruson" of a topic which, he maintained, had no business before the American Association.

"We have been very desirous, during this great gathering, of requesting that all the clergy relieve the public mind on this subject," he said, "and emphasize the fact that there is absolutely no antagonism between science and religion. There is none, there can be none. Some of the greatest men of science have been religious men. If I had been present at the sectional meeting which Mr. Barnes addressed, I should have protested."

Prof. Osborn implied his criticism at the final meeting of the American Association in an astronomical address in the auditorium of the museum over which he presides.

HENRY FAIRFIELD OSBORN.

"Some of you may think," he said then, "that the American Association has nothing to do with Providence. You will recall how a minister, one rainy Sunday night, looked around at his sparse congregation and said, 'we thank thee, O Lord, that despite the

KLINGLE BRIDGE LEAP MAY KILL INVALID WOMAN

Miss Naomi Elmore, 28, Patent Clerk, Was Ill Since April.

LITTLE HOPE HELD FOR HER RECOVERY

Was Hysterical Over Pending Operation on Stomach; Is War Veteran.

Despondent over prospects of continued illness and unhappiness during the new year, Miss Naomi Elmore, 28, of the Cathedral Mansions, last night attempted to end her life by hurling herself off the Klingle Street Bridge, a drop of 40 feet.

Miss Elmore was taken to Emergency Hospital and treated for a possible fracture of the skull, dislocated neck, crushed chest and compound fractures of both legs, by Drs. I. Rutkoski and Edward Kelly. Little hope is held for her recovery.

Miss Elmore was found unconscious on the soggy ground about 75 feet from the south end of the bridge by Policeman Ralph Harris, of the Fourteenth Precinct, who had been sent to investigate the report of a man who notified police he had seen a man leap over the side of the bridge about 8 o'clock.

Motorists Refuse Help.

Upon discovering Miss Elmore, Harris shouted to Herbert A. Roberts, of 2221 Connecticut avenue northwest, passing over the bridge at the time, to come and aid him to carry Miss Elmore up the steep embankment.

Harris hailed two passing motorists, but both declined to take the injured woman to the hospital. One motorist, Harris said, told him his automobile was too crowded, and the other claimed he was ill and unable to withstand the shock of seeing the injured woman.

Harris then hailed W. T. Cahill, of 4701 Connecticut avenue northwest, who drove the party to the hospital.

Miss Belle Boyd, a roommate, told how Miss Elmore became hysterical from worry over a pending operation for a serious stomach disorder last night shortly before 8 o'clock. Miss Boyd said Miss Elmore insisted on going out of the apartment and that she was unable to calm her. Miss Boyd quoted Miss Elmore as saying she had nothing to live for.

Miss Boyd said she was unsuccessful in a struggle to keep Miss Elmore in the apartment. As soon as she left, Miss Boyd called I. Levinson, a friend, of 2709 Woodley road northwest, and told him what had transpired in the apartment.

Levinson called police at the Fourteenth Precinct and asked that a search be conducted for Miss Elmore.

A few moments later police received the telephone message that a man had jumped from the bridge.

Miss Elmore, the step-daughter of Lieut. F. H. Baasen, U. S. N., stationed at Newport, R. I., has been unable to return to her position at the Patent Office since April last, when she underwent a serious operation. She had planned to go to the Veterans' Bureau Hospital at Mount Alto January 15 for another operation, Miss Boyd said During the World War Miss Elmore served in the Navy as a yeomanette.

Miss Elmore, police were told, took several sleeping powders Monday.

GERMANY UNDER YOKE, SAYS CHANCELLOR; CAN PAY, GILBERT'S REPORT

Mueller Deplores the Grip of Foreign Powers Upon Rhine.

BITTERNESS IS ALSO TOLD BY HINDENBURG

President, at Diplomatic Reception, Urges Full National Liberty.

Berlin, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—President Paul von Hindenburg and Chancellor Hermann Mueller made today's official New Year reception the occasion for telling the diplomatic representatives of two score nations that the German people feel entitled to a full measure of liberty.

Chancellor Mueller used the term "foreign yoke" in referring to the occupied Rhineland provinces and the president said that his countrymen were "very bitter because a great part of their country still lacks the liberty which we claim through divine and human right."

The function at which these expressions were given was attended by the Diplomatic Corps, the federal cabinet, members of the reichstag and reichsrat, chiefs of the army and navy, heads of the federal railways and the reichsbank and officers of the Prussian provincial government.

Speaks of Bitter Feeling.

The president exchanged felicitations with, and had a personal word for, each guest.

It was in replying to the formal greetings of the Diplomatic Corps that the president spoke of the bitter feeling in Germany. He also said:

"Germany hopes, despite grave disappointments, that the new year will witness restoration to us of full self-determination. Ideals of peace and the progress of mankind can be thoroughly developed only by free peoples."

The chancellor, addressing the President on behalf of the Government, pledged unceasing work "until the Rhine, the Saar and the Palatinate shall be liberated from the foreign yoke."

Refers to Reparations.

He said that the forthcoming study of reparations involved a question which was "decisively important" for Germany and he hoped that the negotiations would bring the nations involved in the World War nearer the complete liquidation of the costs of that conflict.

"Only after this tremendous problem has been solved," he said, "can the strained relations remaining over from the war be removed and an era of really trustful relations between ourselves and all our neighbors be made possible. Without this, the foundations of real peace can not be laid."

PRESIDENT VON HINDENBURG.

Reparations Agent Is Sure of Teuton Economic Stability.

REVENUES PRODUCTIVE, DESPITE LOWER TAXES

Reich Is Complimented Upon Promptness; Charges of Spending Renewed.

Berlin, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Confidence in Germany's economic soundess is the dominant note in Agent General Seymour Parker Gilbert's report for the fourth reparations annuity year, made public today.

The report paints a highly complimentary picture of Germany's entire economic life. The agent general testifies to Germany's punctilious payments of all sums due on the reparations account and vividly describes Germany as placing the product of her science, skill and labor at the disposal of creditor nations in an effort to pay for the war.

Mr. Gilbert repeats earlier charges of overspending and overborrowing by the German states and individual communities. In his report he expressed the further opinion that "the most encouraging feature of the whole four years from the standpoint of public finances is the great productivity of revenues, notwithstanding important reductions in taxation."

Reich Able to Pay.

With reference to payments for the current annuity year the report forecasts that "no question can fairly arise, in the light of practical experience thus far, as to the ability of the Reich to provide the full amount of its standard contribution to the plan."

The introductory covering letter contains many pithy observations on Germany's economic health. One paragraph points out that the German Railway Co. is in a strong financial position and that it is able to carry the full annual charge for the service of its reparations bond.

"The reichsmark continues to satisfy all the requirements of stability" says the covering letter. "The gold reserve of the Reichsbank now stands at the highest point ever reached." The fact is brought out further on that "German production and trade, as well as credit conditions, have taken on an aspect of greater steadiness than at any time since the war."

Recovery of Germany.

The letter continues:

"German business conditions in general appear to have righted themselves on a relatively high level of activity. Commodity prices have become relatively stable. The general volume of consumption appears to have remained during 1928 at or about the high level of the year before, giving an impressive indication of the improved standard of living among the great mass of German population."

The agent general finds, however, that despite this happy picture of German recovery "it is not to be supposed that Germany has yet made up for the values destroyed in the war or for the values which would have been produced had there been no war. But it should always be remembered that the present dislocations and difficulties are not confined to Germany. Germany's reconstruction has at least kept pace with the reconstruction of Europe as a whole and it has played an essential part in the general process of European reconstruction."

Berlin Loyal and Punctual.

In its analysis of payments and transfers the report finds that "the experts' plan continued to operate successfully in the field of reparations payments and transfers. Germany made all payments required by the plan loyally and punctually. The transfer committee on its part made the transfer regularly without disturbance to German exchange, to an aggregate amount substantially equivalent to the year's receipts."

The report states that the payments and transfers during the year amounted

WORK DENIES STORY FAVORING MRS. HERT

Republican Chairman Says President-Elect Will Name His Own Aids.

TENSION IS RELIEVED

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

Published reports that Chairman Work of the Republican National committee had plans of making the committee paramount to the Senate in the matter of patronage and that he was espousing Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, committee vice chairman, for the Cabinet, yesterday brought a statement from him in the way of a disclaimer. It read:

"I regret the publicity given to conjectures attributed to officials of the party that has been given to probable presidential appointees of the next administration.

"Those who know our next President best, thoroughly understand, because of his very wide acquaintance and independent mind, that he needs no referee to advise on appointments, and that, of a certainty, no one has been so designated.

"Certainly no party official would publicly express his views or wishes as to presidential appointments, and not at all, unless requested to confidentially do so by the appointing power. There has been no basis at any time for any other assumption."

The last paragraph of Dr. Work's statement can be taken in no other light than a denial of published reports that he openly favored Mrs. Hert for the post of Secretary of the Interior, thought Mr. Hoover should so recognize the part the women played in his campaign, and that he intended to so picture the situation to the President-elect.

Undoubtedly the statement was intended to relieve the problem created

GIRL, 12, MURDERED; BODY LEFT IN DITCH

Paroled Degenerate Arrested in Salt Lake City After Discovery of Crime.

CHASED, SISTER, 5, SAYS

Salt Lake City, Utah, Jan. 1 (U.P.).—Little June Nelson, 12 years old, was attacked and slain by a degenerate kidnaper today. Her body was recovered from a ditch filled with water on the outskirts of the city.

No more baffling or brutal crime ever challenged the Salt Lake police department.

George Perry, 37 years old, twice paroled from the Utah Pentientiary after conviction for similar degenerate attacks, was taken into custody for questioning. He claimed an alibi, detectives announced, which in some parts was shaky.

June's little sister, Betty, 5 years old, who claimed she had seen June's abductor, was sent for in an attempt to identify Perry.

Another clew which police had hoped would lead to the man who strangled June and threw her body into the ditch collapsed at the outset of the investigation.

When the body was found June's shoes and stockings were missing. In an abandoned automobile nearby police found a pair of child's shoes. The machine belonged to a Magna man. The shoes turned out not to be June's and he established an alibi.

An autopsy performed after the child's body was found disclosed the manner of death and the fact that the girl had been mistreated before being killed. An automobile was found near the ditch and its owner is sought.

June and Betty, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Nelson, left home Monday evening on an errand to a neighborhood store. Betty went home later and told her parents a man had "chased" them and that she had returned after seeing June enter the grocery store.

June's father searched the neighborhood all night and this morning. During the night he passed the ditch, where the body was found. He said he was certain the body was not there Monday night. It apparently had been thrown from an automobile about daybreak, it was indicated.

Northcott to Tell Murder Farm Tale

Announces His Readiness to Confess Killing of Boys, Say Officers.

Los Angeles, Calif., Jan. 1 (A.P.).—County officials and defense attorneys assembled at the county jail here tonight after Gordon Stewart Northcott, charged with the murder of four boys, told Capt. William Bright, of the sheriff's homicide squad, that he was ready to make a full confession.

Northcott was to go to trial at Riverside tomorrow for the alleged slaying of three of the boys. He said tonight, according to Capt. Bright, that he will plead guilty in court there tomorrow.

Mrs. Sarah Louisa Northcott, mother of Gordon, yesterday confessed in the court to the murder of one of the four boys. She was sentenced to life imprisonment and today entered San Quentin Prison.

Civil War Veteran, 80, Wins Divorce in Reno

Reno, Nev., Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Among the divorces granted in Reno in 1928 was that of an 80-year-old Civil War veteran, William H. Wharton, late of Minneapolis, who obtained a decree from Georgina Park Wharton on the ground that she was excessively jealous.

He immediately obtained a marriage license and was wedded to Grace E. Orner, of Reno.

Husband Locked Up At Wife's Request

Woman, Desiring Quiet, Takes Mate to Police Cell; Will Pay $10 Fine.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cambridge, of 1731 D street northeast, likes quiet even if it does cost money.

This was evidenced last night when she visited the Second Police Precinct with her husband and requested the officers to lock him up for the night because she was afraid he was going to be noisy. She said that her husband had been drinking.

"We will be glad to accommodate you," the desk sergeant told her, "but if we do it will cost $10."

"That'll be all right," police quote the woman as saying.

So the husband, J. E. Cambridge, was booked on a charge of drunkenness and was assigned to a cot in one of the nicest cells. Mrs. Cambridge then departed.

She promised police she would be in Police Court this morning and pay her husband out.

18-Mile Walk Fatal To 88-Year-Old Pioneer

Hartford, S. D., Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Col. Edward Bonham, Civil War officer and Minnehaha County pioneer, died last night from exposure and exhaustion after taking an 18-mile walk from Sioux Falls here Monday. He was found unconscious on a highway.

Although 88 years old, the colonel, who was also a breveted brigadier general in the Union Army, and accustomed to long walks to and from the homestead on which he settled 50 years ago, decided to make the trip here on foot because of no immediate train service. He was found by a former on the road a mile from town.

TEST AERO REFUELS FOUR TIMES ALOFT

Question Mark, in Endurance Flight, Also Takes On Lubricating Oil.

CONTACT AT 2,000 FEET

Metropolitan Airport, Los Angeles, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Success attended the first twelve hours today of the refueling endurance test flight of the Army tri-motored monoplane Question Mark. After taking the air this morning on a flight which may run into weeks, four contacts were made with refueling planes, each proving successful in the transfer of gasoline and oil. This evening the monoplane circled the airport plyon here, and headed back on its loop course for San Diego, where at midnight Maj. Carl Spatz, commanding officer, ordered a night refueling.

Rough air, which jerked the refueling hose from Maj. Spatz's hands three times, was reported by him following the second contact, which was made over Rockwell Field, San Diego. In spite of this the Army monoplane's tanks registered 270 gallons as having been successfully loaded while in flight. At San Diego, also, two afternoon contacts with a speedy refueling plane were made, once for receiving seven 5-gallon cans of oil, and in late afternoon for another supply of gasoline.

Capt. Ira C. Eaker, noted cross-country and international flier of the air crops, was seen to smile broadly as the big ship sailed past the pylon tower at the take-off. There was less than a hundred gallons of gas in the wing tanks, about three hours' supply, and within three-quarters of an hour the initial refueling of some 100 gallons of gasoline was made over the town of Lankershim, near the field.

Lieut. Odas Moon, piloting the Douglas transport refueling ship, when he landed after the initial refueling, said:

"We held contact for eight minutes. We started at 2,800 feet altitude and Maj. Spatz (flight commander) found that 2,000 feet was the best, after he had dropped 800 feet in experimenting for ideal conditions.

Moon later took off for Imperial Airport near Elecentro, Calif., in Imperial Valley, an emergency station. Following the second refueling at Rockwell Field at San Diego, the crew particiapted in a New Year's turkey dinner on the northward flight which

2 Boys, Hunting Candy, Eat Poison Instead

Elizabeth, N. J., Jan. 1 (NYWNS).—Alfonso Gaina, 9, and John Bruggis, 7, went with their parents to celebrate in the Pioneer Club, a community house, New Year's Eve, where they learned that all the youngsters were to be treated to candy.

The two lads decided to put an end to the waiting and their search for candy led them to the basement, where a vermin exterminating company had placed rat bait. The explorers began to groan soon after eating, and were found by other children. They were taken to a hospital where it was said today they would recover.

Lieut. A. J. Williams to Fly For Navy in Schneider Race

Famous Speeding Aviator One of Team, but Officials Hide Facts.

Lieut. Alford J. Williams, Navy speed pilot, is slated to represent the United States in the Schneider Cup race this year, it was learned authoratively last night from Naval sources.

Officials of the National Aeronautic Association refused to affirm or deny the report. They admitted that the association had entered a team in the race, but explained that under contest rules entrants do not have to reveal plane or pilot until 30 days before the race.

Aside from the United States, nations entered are Great Britain, France and Italy, according to Associated Press dispatches.

Lieut. Williams planned to enter the contest last year but was prevented by lack of time in which to complete preparations and preliminary plane tests, Navy officials said.

The Navy has not been represented officially in the race since it was held at Hampton Roads, Va.

Two Americans have won the race. Lieut. James H. Doolittle, famous Army aviator, was victor in 1925, at Baltimore, and Lieut. D. Rittenhouse, U. S. N., won in 1923 at Cowes, England.

LIEUT. ALFORD J. WILLIAMS,
Navy speed pilot, who is scheduled to represent the United States in this year's Schneider Cup race.

The race was inaugurated in 1913. During the war years it was abandoned, but has been an annual event since 1919, with the exception of 1924. The contest is confined to seaplanes.

This year the race will be flown during the summer over the Solent, Associated Press dispatches state.

Miss Booth Begins Battle To Reform Salvation Army

American Chief Is Unable to See Ill Brother; Shunned by Niece.

London, Jan. 1 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Commander Evangeline Booth, leader of the American branch of the Salvation Army and sister of Gen. W. Bramwell Booth, world head of the army, will lead the fight of the "reformist party" for change in the army's constitution at a meeting of the high council of the organization, which opens Tuesday at Sunbury-on-Thames, a meeting which may develop into a contest of the American wing of the army against other national units.

This was indicated in an interview obtained with her tonight after a previous talk with Col. Samuel Tucker, of the Salvation Army headquarters here, a close friend of Gen. Booth.

The two interviews clearly revealed the issue which will be fought out in the high council as to whether the Salvation Army is to continue under the undisputed rule of Gen. Booth, with maintenance of his present right to choose his successor, or whether there is to be a constitution reform, rescinding that right, modifying the general powers of the head of the Salvation Army, and perhaps involving the immediate retirement of Gen. Booth, who has been seriously ill for some weeks.

Because of this situation there has been a decided coolness between the members of the Booth family. It became known tonight that when Commander Evangeline Booth sought to see her brother, Gen. Booth, she received a letter from her sister-in-law, Mrs. William Bramwell Booth, informing her that it would be impossible, because of the commander-in-chief's condition, to do so.

MISS EVANGELINE BOOTH.

Mrs. Booth wrote that she feared Gen. Booth could not withstand the excitement of the meeting.

Commander Evangeline Booth's desire to meet Commissioner Catherine Booth, daughter of the general, also remains unrealized. When Commander Evangeline visited the army's international headquarters here, she sent a note to the general's daughter asking to 1,733,000,000 gold marks (about $440,000,000), approximately 54 per cent of this amount was transferred in foreign currencies and 46 per cent by means of Reichsmark payments within Germany.

"These percentages," reads the report, "indicate the continuance of a tendency toward the transfer of an increasing proportion of the annuities in foreign currencies."

The report proceeds to show that the total annuity of the fourth year was almost 1,750,000,000 marks, of which France receives more than 1,000,000,000 (about $250,000,000).

Deliveries Are Diversified.

The list of creditors included France, Great Britain, Italy, Belgium, Jugoslavia, United States, Roumania, Japan, Portugal, Greece and Poland. Each took part of the amounts due them in cash and part in kind, principally coal, coke, lignite, chemical fertilizers, agricultural products, sugar, timber, dyestuffs and pharmaceutical products.

The catalogue of minor deliveries in kind graphically illustrates how Germany went about paying for the war. For example, France received moving picture films, telegraph poles and bricks. Belgium received ships and river craft; Jugoslavia received a floating dock, some steel conduits, several hydroplanes and scientific charts; Roumania received railway and bridge-building material; Japan accepted books, automobiles and yarn; Portugal received some steam dredges and material for a model farm, while among the payments to Greece were listed wooden houses.

The cost of the army of occupation, payable out of the annuity totaled almost 66,000,000 marks (about $16,000,000). France received three-fourths of this amount. The United States shared in the annuity to the amount of about 53,000,000 marks (about $21,000,000), of which about 53,000,000 marks (about $13,800,000) was taken in cash transfers for army costs in arrears.

Criticism of Budget.

The agent general's criticism of German budgetry practices was epitomized in this paragraph:

"The current budget of the reich gives evidence of some effort to curb the tendency toward rising expenditures, but many new demands are being made on the budgets and the indications are that new taxes will have to be imposed unless expenditures can be compressed to a considerably greater extent. Moreover the financial settlement with the states and communes which comes up for reconsideration next year, still remains on a basis which automatically deprives the reich of the benefit of most of the year-to-year growth in some of its principal revenues. It also gives increasing transfers to states and communes without reference to their needs. The principal states are receiving larger revenues than ever before, but their expenditures are still steadily rising and they are still voting budgets which anticipate current deficits."

Dorothy Mackaye Quits Cell After Ten Months

San Quentin Prison, Calif., Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Dorothy Mackaye, Los Angeles actress, was released from the State penitentiary here today after ten months behind its walls. She left for San Rafael to visit her baby daughter. After that, she said, she might think again of her stage career.

Miss Mackaye was convicted of concealing facts concerning the death in Los Angeles of her husband, Ray Raymond, former stage comedian, for whose death Paul Kelly, stage juvenile, is serving from one to ten years in San Quentin. The prison board recently fixed the actress' term at one year, which was reduced to ten months by good behavior.

Townspeople Brave Rain Four Hours to See President and Wife.

Brunswick, Ga., Jan. 1 (A.P.).—The train carrying President and Mrs. Coolidge pulled out of the Brunswick Station early tonight for the return trip to Washington. The Chief Executive and Mrs. Coolidge, who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Coffin during their midwinter vacation in Georgia, left the Sapelo Island home of their hosts in the midafternoon aboard the Coffin yacht Zapalo for St. Simon's Island, where automobiles conveyed the party to the railway station in Brunswick.

A large crowd of townspeople stood about in a drizzling rain for several hours before the time of departure, hoping for a glimpse of the President.

As Mr. Coolidge mounted the steps to the rear platform of the train, the throng applauded lustily, and the President smiled and waved his hat in farewell.

Last Island Day Quiet.

Sapelo Island, Ga., Jan. 1 (A.P.).—His midwinter vacation on the sea islands of Georgia at an end, President Coolidge tonight was on his way back to the National Capital.

New Year's Day was spent quietly on Sapelo Island, where the Chief Executive and Mrs. Coolidge were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Coffin. In preparation for an overnight railroad journey, the President decided not to attempt anything of a strenuous nature. The hunting trails were abandoned and the Chief Executive rested quietly at the Coffin home.

Late in the day, Mr and Mrs. Coolidge, with their official party and their hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Coffin, boarded the Coffin yacht, the Zapala, for the first stretch of the homeward journey, through the meandering marshland channels to St. Simons Island and thence by automobile to Brunswick, where the Presidential special was drawn up awaiting the Chief Executive's arrival.

Coolidge Enjoys His Stay.

Mr. Coolidge frankly enjoyed his stay here and freely acknowledged his gratitude for the hospitality that had been accorded him. In the course of his six-day visit he hunted with success for pheasants, wild turkeys and quail and one morning was spent in a deer drive, which, although fruitless for Mr. Coolidge himself, resulted in a member of his party, Col. Osmun Latrobe, his military aid, bringing down a fine doe.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge cruised to St. Simons Island on the Zapala to attend services at historic Old Christ Episcopal Church, visited several places of historic interest and spent the night on board the Zapala, off the mainland game preserve of their host on Floyd's Neck. There Mr. Coolidge enjoyed an oyster roast and early the next day engaged in an unsuccessful hunt for wild turkeys. Later in the day he dedicated the "President Coolidge Oak," on St. Simons Island, and then returned to Sapelo Island for a quiet New Year's Eve.

At odd moments Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge have posed for Frank O. Salisbury, an English portrait painter, who accompanied them to Georgia, to picture the President for the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society. The paintings are now completed, so far as the sittings are concerned.

LANGLEY MAY RETURN TO POLITICS

Whether John W. Langley or his wife, the present representative from the Tenth Kentucky District, will make the race for Congress in 1930 seems to be a matter for the family council. Mrs. Langley was elected when her husband resigned to go to prison for a prohibition law violation. He has been restored to citizenship.

Scientists Plan Campaign To Halt Laws on Evolution

Other Efforts to Restrict Freedom of Teaching Are Opposed; Circular Planned to Contend for Right to Express Doctrines of Science.

New York, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Action to combat the spread of evolution legislation and other efforts to restrict the freedom of teaching was taken today by scientists and university professors in session here.

The American Association of University Professors authorized a special committee to cooperate with the American Association for the Advancement of Science to prepare a circular to contend for such freedom, and the latter was placed definitely on record as deploring antievolution laws and regulations.

"We are convinced," said the scientists' resolution, "that any legislation attempting to limit the teaching of any widely accepted scientific doctrine is a profound mistake, which can not fail to retard the advancement of knowledge and of human welfare.

"It is only by the maintenance of freedom of teaching that we can create conditions under which truth comes most rapidly to prevail. Therefore, we wish to make our most earnest protest against all legislation and administrative interference with the presentation of the facts and theories of science.

Asserting that "what is taught as science should be determined by qualified experts in their fields rather than by popular vote," the resolution cited the action of three States which have enacted antievolution laws and similar restrictions in various institutions of learning, and declared:

"We deplore all such efforts to restrict the freedom of teaching and learning in science.

"We deplore such action first because evolution in some form is accepted by practically all competent men of science the world over, and second, because the idea of evolution has so profoundly influenced the thinking of mankind in biology, psychology, ethics, social science and philosophy that no one can pretend to have a liberal education who is ignorant of its grounds and import.

"We deplore these measures also for a deeper reason which should appeal to all Americans of whatever creed who believe in intellectual and religious liberty whether they accept or reject the theory of evolution, namely, that such restrictions constitute a violation of a fundamental principle of freedom essential to all progress."

Although "the general conditions of academic freedom and tenure" have improved throughout the country in recent years, the American Association of University Professors was told today that much remains to be done.

"Some of our academic institutions are still under the sway of politicians, who know nothing of the standards and ethics of our profession, and with such people we must continue our struggle for their recognition," said a report presented by Prof. H. R. Fairclough, of Amherst, chairman of the association's committee dealing with that problem.

"We seldom have legal power of redress, but we do have a powerful weapon in the publicity we can give to offending institutions.

"As regards institutions of a denominational or partisan character, we recognize that they are on a different basis from the nondenominational college or university, but we adhere to the principle that specific stipulations in advance, fully understood and accepted by both parties, should limit the scope and character of instruction."

Action on testimony before the Federal Trade Commission that schools and colleges have been utilized as propaganda channels by power corporations was held up by the university professors pending the hearing of evidence in rebuttal and conclusion of the Government investigation. The association's council emphasized, however, that the "committee on ethics is actually following the testimony of the trade commission as well as conducting investigations of its own, and that when the time comes the committee * * * will report to the association its findings of fact and recommendations for such action by the association as the facts thus disclosed may call for."

Old Sing Sing Cells Soon to Be Emptied

Convicts Will Be Removed to New Prison Nearby Within Week.

Ossining, N. Y., Jan. 1.—Historic old Sing Sing Prison, alma mater of thousands of crooks, is about to pass into history. Its antiquated stone cells, poisonous with memories of over a century of human wretchedness, are shortly to be abandoned. But that fact should bring no tears of joy to future crooks. They will find a new Sing Sing standing just up the hill from the old one, and open for "guests."

Surveying his ten years' regime at the "big house up the river," Warden Lewis E. Lawes today announced that abandonment of the old prison will begin at once. The 900 prisoners will be moved into clean, lighted, open steel cells of the new prison within the week. Only the death house will remain of the 163-year-old institution, as will the prison industries.

The new prison, costing $5,000,000, was begun shortly after Lawes took charge, and of recent years has been housing some of the 1,700 Sing Sing prisoners. Its capacity will be 1,780, and it is expected greatly to relieve present crowded conditions.

Lawes has had charge of 13,639 criminals during his regime and has presided at the executions of 121.

Honduran Chamber Will Confirm Last Election

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, Jan. 1 (A.P.). The Honduran Chamber of Deputies today completed preparations for the formal opening of its regular session tomorrow by electing Gen. Tiburcio Carias as speaker. Special interest attaches to this session as one of its duties will be the confirming of the results of the presidential election of October 28.

Dr. Mejia Colindres, supported by a Liberal-Republican coalition in opposition to the administrative ticket, was chosen president of Honduras in the October voting. The campaign left some bitter feeling in its wake and on December 12 representatives of the Conservative and Liberal parties signed a pact to insure harmony. It was ratified by the board of directors of the Liberal party but the board of the defeated Conservative party rejected it.

Woman, Slayer of Youth, Begins Prison Sentence

San Quentin Prison, Calif., Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Mrs. Sarah Louisa Northcott, who was sentenced to life imprisonment at Riverside, Calif., yesterday after pleading to murdering Walter Collins, a young boy, on her Wineville chicken ranch, arrived at the prison here today to begin serving her sentence.

Mrs. Northcott appeared worn from loss of sleep as a result of her trip from Riverside. She was accompanied by Sheriff and Mrs. Clem Sweeters, of Riverside County. After posing for photographs Mrs. Northcott was put through the routine of admission and told that she could attend the New Year's show if she desired.

HOOVER HOST AT SEA AT MOCK RECEPTION

Greets Costumed "Justices," "Diplomats" and "Tammany" Aboard Utah.

SHIP IS OFF PORTO RICO

U. S. S. Utah, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Save for a mock White House reception, New Year's Day passed aboard this battleship, carrying President-elect Hoover, much as any other day during the cruise from Rio Janeiro toward Hampton Roads.

Mr. Hoover, Mrs. Hoover and Ambassador Fletcher were in the receiving line on the upper deck at the "reception," and they, as well as officers and passengers, were much amused at costumes worn by those impersonating the justices of the Supreme Court, Diplomatic Corps, Army, Navy, Tammany Hall, W. C. T. U., G. A. R. and Sandino, the Nicaraguan chief who has given the Marines so much trouble.

Brisk Trade Winds Encountered.

The Utah rolled along at a little more than fifteen knots with brisk trade winds kicking up a sea which gave her a decided but gradual rocking from side to side.

Late this afternoon the good will ship was due east of Porto Rico and 1,700 miles from Hampton Roads, which will be reached at 8 a. m. Sunday unless stormy weather is encountered meanwhile.

There were showers early this morning soon after the Hoovers rose, and a brilliant rainbow stretched from horizon to horizon off the port bow.

Tropic Sun Follows Rain.

The rain was succeeded by clear skies and the tropical sun beat down the rest of the day, although the heat was tempered by stiff trade winds.

The President-elect had his usual nap after luncheon while Mrs. Hoover operated a portable motion-picture machine on various parts of the ship. She took a number of pictures with spray breaking over the bow and of players in a deck tennis tournament. The sea was deep blue dotted by numerous whitecaps.

Few members of the Hoover party escaped drenching during the day as seas broke over the bow and at times even threw heavy spray over the quarters.

No Official Ceremony.

There will be no official ceremony in connection with Herbert Hoover's return to the United States Sunday, but unofficial demonstrations probably will be staged both at Old Point Comfort, Va., where the Utah will dock, and Washington.

Dr. Hubert Work will not go to Old Point Comfort, but is planning to greet the President-elect at the Union Station.

The President-elect and his wife plan to go from the Union Station directly to their home on S street northwest and desire to do it as unobtrusively as possible.

Doesn't Want Salute.

Hoover has expressed the hope that there will be no pomp or ceremony attendant upon his return. In keeping with this he has requested naval authorities not to fire a salute as the Utah docks.

While Hoover has not indicated just what will occupy his attention while in Washington, indications are that he will have a busy time. Republican national committee headquarters is not committing the President-elect to any engagements, but is keeping a record of names of all who desire appointments. Whether Hoover will attempt to confer with any of these persons could not be learned last night.

Trial of Child-Slayer Suspect Deferred Week

Special to The Washington Post.

Jersey City, N. J., Jan. 1.—Peter Kudzinowski, said to have emerged from a drunken stupor in Detroit to confess to the ghastly murder of little 7-year-old Joey Storelli, kidnaped in New York and killed in the Jersey City marshes, will not go on trial until January 9. The trial originally was set for Thursday.

Deputy Attorney General McMahon granted the delay at the request of Senator Alexander Simpson, who, with William Griffin, was appointed counsel for Kudzinowski. They said they had not completed their case yet.

Los Angeles Revelry Fatal to 1; 2 Are Shot

Los Angeles, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—One man was killed, two persons were shot, and more than 200 revelers received injuries which sent them to the Receiving Hospital in this city's reception of the new year.

Eddie Bernal was almost instantly killed when struck by a hit-and-run driver as he was crossing an intersection. One man was shot in the foot by a reveler firing into a crowd on a downtown corner and a woman was wounded when she came to the door of her home to watch a noisy procession pass. Police raided dozens of cafes and night clubs during the night, but made no arrests.

GOVERNOR WILL NOT DELVE IN LYNCHING

Mississippi Head Says He Has No Time to Inquire Into Burning of Kidnaper.

JURY MAY INVESTIGATE

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Unless the courts take a hand, the curtain has been rung down on the crimes of murder, abduction and lynching that have rocked north Mississippi since Thursday.

Arriving here tonight, Gov. Theodore G. Bilbo announced that no investigation of the burning at the stake of Charley Shepherd, convict slayer and abductor, would be made at his instigation.

"I have neither the time nor the money to investigate 2,000 people," he said.

Telegrams poured into the governor's office during the day urging him to investigate the lynching. Some of the messages came from members of the recent mass meeting at Hattiesburg, Miss., where they voted to request an inquiry into the lynching of another negro that resulted in the calling of a grand jury for next Monday.

Although the governor said he would take no action, Arthur Jordan, district attorney, indicated he might call for a grand jury investigation. He declared he "would get in touch" with Judge B. F. Davis at Indianola, in whose jurisdiction the lynching occurred.

Gov. Bilbo passed through Parchman today while driving from Bell Buckle, Tenn., and viewed the body of the mob's victim. It had been brought in by Dr. McDavid, prison physician, who removed it from the funeral pyre near Drew, wrapped in a tarpaulin, and had it interred in the prison cemetery.

Gov. Bilbo said he authorized the calling out of troops to search for the negro when he passed through Parchman Saturday on his way to Tennessee. He said he offered Superintendent L. T. Fox of the penitentiary the entire Mississippi militia if necessary, as "the State could not afford to let the perpetrator of such a crime to go free."

"No request was made for troops to guard the negro after he had been captured, either by the prison superintendent or sheriffs in the counties through which Shepherd was carried, "Gov. Bilbo said. "If such a request had been made by a person authorized to do so, I would have granted it."

Adjt. Gen. Hairston said that when he heard the mob had the negro he ordered his troops home, as he was 30 miles from the scene and "could not do anything anyway."

Tear gas and phosphorous gas were used by the guardsmen in their search for Shepherd. When the adjutant general arrived at Parchman Sunday night, he was placed in command of approximately 400 men.

During the next morning, from sunrise until noon, his soldiers searched a swamp and found Shepherd's shoes and other signs that he had spent the night there. The gas was thrown into hollow logs and stumps where the negro might have been hiding.

The swamp was so thick that convicts used brush axes clearing a way for the searchers.

Parchman, Miss., Jan. 1 (A.P.).—A verdict of "death from causes unknown" was rendered by a coroner's jury today in the case of Charley Shepherd, negro convict, who was burned to death last night near Rome after having confessed to murder and abduction.

The jury's verdict, as reported by Judge R. E. Smith, of Drew, who acted as coroner, was:

"We, the coroner's jury, after due examination of the body of Charley Shepherd, convict No. 1361, of the Mississippi State Penitentiary at Parchman, do find that he came to his death from causes unknown to this jury."

Peace Pact Lauded By France's Ruler

President Says That Kellogg-Briand Treaty Reflects Nation's Opinion.

Paris, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—France's part in the effort for world peace was the theme of the reception by President Gaston Doumergue today to the ambassadors and ministers of some sixty nations accredited to Paris.

Archbishop Luigi Maglione, the papal nuncio, as dean of the diplomatic corps, led the procession of envoys at the Elysee Palace and addressed the president in their name. He described the Kellogg-Briand pact for the renunciation of war as "due to the noble and generous initiative of France and the United States," and added:

"This pact has given the peoples of the world a welcome promise and it will remain for them a strong, sweet hope."

President Doumergue replied that France felt honored at having proposed the pact. He said it was prepared in complete accord with the Government of the United States and he promised that the achievement of lasting world peace would remain the dominant concern of the French Government.

Official Election of Hoover And Curtis Is Slated Today

Excitement Will Be Lacking When 531 Electors Cast Ballots in States in Accordance With Constitutional Red Tape; Congress to Count Them.

(United Press.)

The real presidential election will be held today, but there'll be no bets made, no screaming headlines and no excitement.

Throughout the country, 531 national electors will gather in their respective States, cast their ballots, collect their expense money and return home, completing another step in the official formula of making Herbert Hoover, President, and Charles Curtis, Vice President of the United States.

Even this official gesture will not suffice to make Hoover and Curtis eligible to take their oaths of office on March 4. Under the cumbersome electoral college machinery, as set up by the Constitution, the House and Senate must meet in joint session on February 13, count the ballots, discover that Hoover received 444 electoral votes and Alfred E. Smith 87—a fact everyone has known since early in November—and announce that Hoover has been chosen over Smith and Curtis over Senator Joseph Robinson.

Then—and not until then—Hoover and Curtis will be officially entitled to accept the cheers of inaugural crowds and stand on a platform erected on the Capitol Plaza to become the President and Vice President.

Under the rules laid down by Congress, electors will meet in some city in each State, presumably the capital, and cast their ballots six times for President and six times for Vice President.

One of the six complete sets of ballots will be forwarded to Vice President Dawes as President of the United States Senate; two sets will be filed with the State secretary of state; two will be sent to Secretary of State Kellogg here, and one will be furnished the Federal judge of the local district.

Then, on the second Wednesday in February, which happens to fall on the 13th this year, the Senate will join the House in a 1 p. m. session, with Vice President Dawes presiding. Two tellers from the House and two from the Senate will open and count the ballots by States in alphabetical order. The total will be checked and the results announced by Dawes.

Hoover and Curtis then will be advised they have been elected by the will of the people and the red tape of official machinery.

Framers of the Constitution adopted the electoral college methods of choosing the President and Vice President because they feared to trust such an important task to the direct vote of the people.

De Negri Mexican Minister of Labor

Envoy to Germany to Direct Oil Laws; Unions Hail His Appointment.

Mexico City, Jan. 1 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—President Emilio Portes Gil today appointed Ramon de Negri, at present Mexican Minister to Germany, formerly minister of agriculture, and prior to that consul general at New York, to the post of minister of industry, commerce and labor. De Negri, in his new cabinet position, will be charged with administration of petroleum and the prospective new labor laws.

Former Minister of Industry, Commerce and Labor J. Manuel Puig Casauranc, who earlier held the cabinet portfolio of minister of education, was at the same time designated president of the executive council of the federal district, a position corresponding to the extinct governorship of that area.

Organized labor elements, especially those affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, acclaimed the appointment of De Negri. James Lord, formed head of the mining department of the A. F. of L., who is here advising organized labor, declared the choice of De Negri was a first-class one, in his opinion. Agrarian leaders also praise his selection.

Salt Lake City Police Raid 8 as Bookmakers

Salt Lake City, Utah, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—A city-wide clean-up of bookmakers' establishments came today as the aftermath to the confession of David J. Pugh, former chief deputy State treasurer, that he stole $100,000 from State funds and used it to bet on horse races. Pugh was given a maximum sentence of twenty years in the State Prison yesterday.

Police Chief Joseph E. Burbridge assigned a special detail of detectives to wipe out horse race gambling. Eight downtown stores and clubrooms were raided today. Several arrests were made.

Parley Will Discuss Cornborer Control

Further impetus is expected to be given to efforts now being made to control the cornborer by the cornborer conference which is to be held this morning at 10 o'clock.

The purpose of this meeting, according to Dr. A. F. Woods, director of scientific work of the Department of Agriculture, is to provide for a complete coordination of various research projects, both Federal and State. It is also intended, he said, that an opportunity should be afforded for administrative review and constructive criticism.

Wet Muskrats' Skins Cause Furrier's Arrest

Baltimore, Jan. 1 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Solomon Garfinkel, a fur dealer, is in trouble over muskrats. He was arrested today and released on his own recognition for appearance before the grand jury, charged with having in his possession 423 muskrat hides during the closed season.

His arrest was brought about, according to the police, by Joseph Rivell and John Smith, deputy game wardens, when they discovered that the hides, valued at $318.75, were still wet. They had been shipped, police state, from North Carolina.

3 Killed When Auto Backs on Car Tracks

Minnesota City, Minn., Jan. 1 (A.P.). Three persons were instantly killed and a fourth was critically injured early today when a westbound Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific fast mail train struck their automobile.

Those killed were John Schumanski, 38 years old; Iona Weber, 19, and Gladys Stola, 21. Gertrude Page, 21, is not expected to live. All four are from Winona. It is believed the crash occurred when the driver, in trying to turn around, backed onto the railroad.

Accused Instigator Of Killing Is Bailed

Wife's Work Frees Man Held After Disappearance of Mobile Citizen.

Mobile, Ala., Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Albert Bedwell, of Calvert, who was arrested December 23 and charged with the murder of C. C. Coffee, 73, of Mobile, who is thought by authorities to have been slain November 12, was released from the Washington County Jail on $5,000 bond today. Release of the fisherman terminated several days of constant effort on the part of his wife.

Simultaneously with the release, Joe Pelham, solicitor of the First Judicial District, announced that he has sought the aid of Walter E. McAdory, chief of the State law enforcement department, in attempts to solve the mysterious disappearance of Coffee. Pelham has asked that two State law officers be assigned to the case.

While confessions have been obtained from seven negro woodchoppers that they clubbed Coffee, robbed him and then buried the body, authorities contend the body was burned and that Bedwell instigated the slaying.

ROOSEVELT CHEERED AS HE TAKES OFFICE

Introduced by Smith, Makes Plea for Cooperation by New York Citizens.

INAUGURATION IN SNOW

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 1 (A.P.).—A new Governor of New York—Franklin Delano Roosevelt—was inaugurated today amid the plaudits of an enthusiastic crowd which filled the assembly chamber in the State Capitol. A demonstration equally as enthusiastic was given to his predecessor, Alfred E. Smith, who today reentered private life after a quarter of a century in public service.

A departure from the ancient ritual of inaugurations in Albany was made when the retiring governor introduced his successor immediately after the latter had subscribed to the oath of office.

In his speech of introduction, which was in the nature of a farewell to the public, former Governor Smith sketched the growth of the State's activities during the 25 years he had been a part of the State government.

Pleads For Cooperation.

"I am turning the government over to you—not perfect, no human institution reaches perfection, but as good as it can be made," Mr. Smith said.

He added that the State officials, by their cooperation, were responsible for about 90 per cent of the State's progress.

Gov. Roosevelt in his inaugural address pleaded for the cooperation of the citizenry of the State in helping him reach a solution of the problems confronting the government.

Among the problems he mentioned were the question of water power, simplification of court procedure and improvement in the condition of the farmer.

Except for the address by the retiring governor, the inaugural ceremonies followed closely the procedure of many years' standing. At the instant the oath of office was administered a battery of guns in Capitol Park boomed out the governor's salute of seventeen guns.

Senators March In, Then Out.

Nearly every one listed in the Democratic "Who's Who" attended the inauguration.

Through an oversight, no provision was made for the seating in the inaugural chamber of the State Senate. Promptly according to the time schedule, the 51 senators, marshalled by the sergeant-at-arms, entered the chamber, marched gravely down the center aisle and up the platform stairs, only to learn that there were no seats. Without a pause the parade of the solons continued through a door in the rear of the platform, out of the chamber.

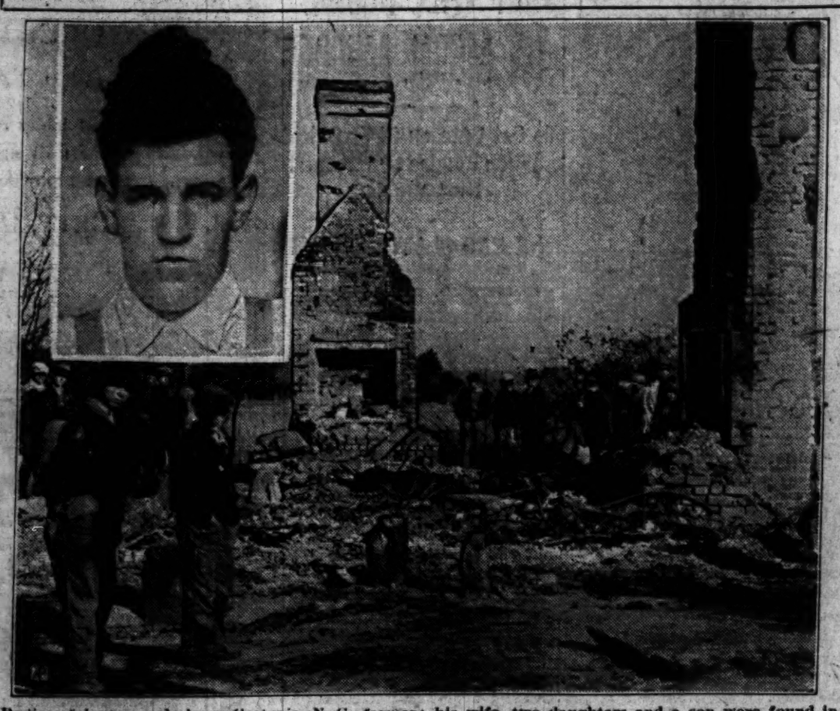

The military parade that preceded the inaugural and which acted as an escort for Former Governor Smith and Gov. Roosevelt from the Executive Mansion to the Capitol was over snow-covered streets. The first snowstorm of the season began a few hours before the ceremonies.

Smith in Empire City.

New York, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Alfred E. Smith, until today Governor of New York State, arrived tonight from Albany and was greeted at the Grand Central Terminal by several hundred persons.

A band played "The Sidewalks of New York," as the governor passed through the terminal between lines of soldiers to the entrance to the Biltmore Hotel, where he has maintained headquarters on visits to New York during his terms as governor.

HOME IS FUNERAL PYRE OF FIVE NORTH CAROLINIANS

Bodies of J. W. Vanderburg, Gastonia, N. C., farmer; his wife, two daughters and a son were found in the ruins of their farm home. Another son, Jacob, 17 (inset), who is held in the investigation of their deaths, said he waked to find the home in flames and members of his family slain.

THREE NATIONS SEEK SAFE AIRSHIP PRIZE

CONTEST CLOSES OCT. 31

New York, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Twelve airplane manufacturers of Italy, Great Britain and the United States have entered models in the $150,000 international safe aircraft competition, President Harry F. Guggenheim, of the Daniel Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics, announced today.

"The interest in the competition both here and abroad promises that the results will be of very great importance in developing an aerodynamically safe plane which will compare favorably with the motor car in ease and safety of operation," Mr. Guggenheim said. "The fund has so far received entrance applications from one manufacturer of Italy, five in England and six in the United States."

"We believe," he added, "that the planes submitted may point the way to the final solution of the few remaining problems in flight, so as to achieve an aircraft which will be safe even in inexpert hands; at the same time this aircraft will be efficient in a practical and commercial sense."

Among the entries is the British Cierva autogiro, which is generally similar to the ordinary airplane, but which gets its lifting power from a sort of windmill with four giant blades that revolve above the plane. The autogiro can fly and land slowly, and control is not lost when the engine stalls.

The contest closes October 31 of this year. A first prize of $100,000 and four prizes of $10,000 will be awarded.

Wounded Man Shot Down on Roadway

Fourth Victim of Gangsters "Taken for a Ride," Police Believe.

Hammonton, N. J., Jan. 1 (U.P.).—A man, already wounded, was shot dead early today on the Bargaintown road, and police believe he may be identified as the fourth victim of the gang shooting near Camden, N. J., Sunday.

Paul Angerman was sitting in a parked automobile when he heard shots. A car swept by him and some one in it shouted to him to "look out for bullets." Angerman walked back to find the body of a man in the middle thirties, well dressed, tattooed on both arms. There was a wound over the left eye that had been inflicted some days previously. The body was riddled with buckshot.

Police believe the man killed was Daniel Delgiorno, alias Dannie Day, said to be a Philadelphia racketeer. Delgiorno was in one of two coupes, in which a woman and two men were killed by gangsters Sunday. It was shown that Delgiorno was wounded over the eye in the fusillade. He died after the shooting.

The theory is that Delgiorno was traced by gangsters and "taken for a ride."

Gov. Green of Michigan Begins Second Term

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Fred W. Green was inaugurated today for his second term as Governor of Michigan. The oath of office was administered by Walter O. North, of the State Supreme Court. Other State officers inaugurated with Gov. Green were:

Wilber M. Brucker, attorney general; John S. Haggerty, secretary of state; O. B. Fuller, auditor general; Frank D. McKay, State treasurer; Luren D. Dickinson, lieutenant governor, and Justices Louis M. Fead and William W. Potter of the Supreme Court.

Postoffice Employes To Meet in September

New York, Jan. 1 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The 1929 convention of the National Federation of Postoffice Clerks will be held in New York starting Labor Day, September 2, according to announcement made today by the New York Federation.

About 5,000 postal clerks and employes are expected to attend the one-week meeting. Headquarters will be at the Commodore Hotel.

PROTOCOL'S SIGNING DELAYED BY BOLIVIA

Minister, Lacking Instructions, Declines to Affix His Name to Document.

PARAGUAY READY TO ACT

(Associated Press.)

The Bolivian and Paraguayan delegates to the Pan-American arbitration conference last night were unable to sign the parley's protocol of conciliation of their countries' dispute on account of the lack of instructions for the act to Minister Diez de Medina, of Bolivia, from his government.

A meeting of the conference's special committee on the Bolivian-Paraguayan controversy, which had prepared a draft protocol of conciliation which appeared to have agreed with the desires of both disputing governments, was held late yesterday with the expectation that the protocol would be signed by the delegates of the two nations.

Delay Laid to Holiday.

At the end of a brief half-hour session the following statement was issued:

"It is believed that the substance of the protocol expresses the agreements of the governments. Presumably on account of today being a holiday instructions from Bolivia were delayed and her representatives here did not feel authorized to sign the protocol."

The Paraguayan delegate, after the meeting, said he would have been ready to sign the document in the name of his government.

The meeting of the special committee had been delayed over half an hour by Minister de Medina, the Bolivian delegate, because of his hope of receiving instructions from La Paz. He said that the draft protocol was cabled to his government late Monday night and he did not feel authorized to affix his name to it without definite instructions.

Conflicting Views Arise.

Failure to conclude the protocol caused conflicting views among the conference delegates. A feeling of pessimism existed among some delegates that the Bolivian action might presage difficulties on that government's part in the final acceptance of the protocol, while delegates who attended the special committee session said nothing to indicate the likelihood of future disagreements over the conciliation proposal had arisen at the meeting.

It was pointed out, however, that the Paraguayan delegates had cabled the text of the draft protocol simultaneously with the Bolivian representatives and had had time to receive a favorable reply from the Asuncion government.

Replies from Argentina, Brazil and Uruguay as to their willingness to appoint judges on the conciliating tribunal proposed in the protocol also had not been received last night by the conference.

Soft-Drink Proprietor Held in Two Slayings

Chicago, Jan. 1 (U.P.).—George Maloney, proprietor of a soft drink parlor, was held to the grand jury today in the slaying of Hugh "Stubby" McGovern and William McFadden, who were shot down in the Granada Cafe Monday.

Several other men, alleged to be prominent in gang circles, also are sought by police.

NICARAGUANS GREET PRESIDENT MONCADA

New Chief Executive Thanks United States Forces for Election Roles.

FAVORS PLAN FOR CANAL

Managua, Nicaragua, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Gen. Jose Marie Moncada, in his inaugural address as president of Nicaragua today, praised American supervision of the election and said that he favored the construction of an interoceanic canal across Nicaragua. He asked for the establishment of schools, the construction of highways and railroads and promised that all political and civic rights would be respected.

"In the election," he said, "the Nicaraguan people responded magnificently to the hopes which we conceived for their welfare and it is only just that we render fervent homage to them for the splendid part which they took in the elections.

"In the same manner we complied only with our duty in giving thanks to the people of the United States, their Government's electoral commission, headed by Gen. Frank McCoy, as well as to Admiral Sellers, Gen. Dogan Feland, the United States marines and the Nicaraguan National Guard for having conducted the election in the most honorable manner that could possibly be conceived.

"To other friendly nations, especially those whose shores kiss the same waters as ours, our policy will be one of sincere fraternity, motivated for the good of the continent and for its mutual defense. For this defense Nicaragua has something to offer. I refer to the canal, which would supplement the Panama Canal.

"Geographically located in the center of the New World and having common interests and destiny with the United States of America and the other nations of this continent, we Nicaraguans are inevitably obligated to open the heart of our country to civilization so that we may contribute something of what prodigious nature has given us for the benefit of all the people of the earth."

Gen. Moncada asked his fellow citizens to forget the rivalries of the past, be tolerant of each other's opinions and work wholeheartedly for the good of the republic. He concluded:

"I urge my adversaries of yesterday to recognize in my statements the convinced expressions of a man who has had only one great love in all his life—that for his country."

RABBI BECK RESIGNS AS LEGION CHAPLAIN

National Official's Health and Heavy Demands on Time Prompt Step.

SUCCESSOR IS TO BE JEW

Pottsville, Pa., Jan. 1 (A.P.).—The Pottsville morning paper will tomorrow carry an announcement by Rabbi Herman Beck, of the local Oheb Zedek reformed congregation, that he has tendered his resignation as national chaplain of the American Legion to Vice National Commander Edward L. White.

Rabbi Beck, who was elected national chaplain at the American Legion convention in San Antonio last September, said he had asked White to place his resignation before the executive committee of the Legion when it meets in Indianapolis on January 14.

"When Commander White happened to be in Pottsville last Sunday," the Rabbi's announcement reads, "he visited me at my home and I took advantage of the opportunity to present my resignation.

"Without seeking any office I have successively been post chaplain, State chaplain and national chaplain of the American Legion. This work makes many heavy demands upon me and my health has for some time not been of the best. Though my congregation has generously granted me many privileges in connection with these positions I feel that this is an opportunity to relieve myself of some of these arduous duties.

"I have been assured that my successor will be another Jewish rabbi and therefore the recognition given by the American Legion to the many valiant soldiers of Hebrew faith who fought in the World War will not be lessened by my resignation."

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Edward L. White, national vice commander of the American Legion, commenting upon the resignation of Rabbi Beck as national chaplain, said:

"The demands upon Rabbi Beck's time made by his growing congregation, and his present ill health, have brought the rabbi to a decision to resign his office as national chaplain of the American Legion. This decision was made after consultation with representatives of his congregation, local and department officers of the legion and myself. As I was authorized by National Commander McNutt to assure him that he would be succeeded by one of his own faith, he has presented his resignation."

WORK DENIES HE FAVORED MRS. HERT FOR CABINET

on in Mrs. Hert's behalf, and which had reached the point of where some of those close to Mr. Hoover thought that he might be placed in the position of either having to appoint a woman or offending the sex.

Newspaper reports about Mrs. Hert's possibilities have steadily mounted until in the last several days they reached the point of picturing Dr. Work in the light of definitely favoring her appointment.

As to whether the chairman really thinks it is the politically expedient thing to do to appoint a woman and will so tell Mr. Hoover is known only to the chairman himself.

His statement is designed to stop the authoritative use of his name in the speculation concerning it.

The chairman's statement as to the President-elect's independent mind is generally shared in by political observers. There is a strong belief, in fact, that by the time he returns to this country he will have a fairly good idea of who he wants to serve in his cabinet.

It is reasonable to suppose, though, that he will ask his campaign manager for ideas.

May Change His Mind.

The general understanding, in fact, is that regardless of how definite views on his cabinet he may already have he will go through the form of having several conferences with high party men.

It is conceivable that out of these conferences he may get an idea that would cause him to change some appointments he already has in mind.

The very fact that he will call for an expression of views, though, would give Dr. Work, even with the modesty professed in his statement, an opportunity to broach Mrs. Hert's name, or at least, the suggestion that a woman should be named to one place in the Cabinet.

Dr. Work studiously avoids any reference to his statement to the question of whether he thinks, in his own mind, that Mrs. Hert should be appointed.

It is fair to assume, however, that the published reports of his attitude have placed him in a very embarrassing position. He would certainly not want to come out with a formal statement, it is pointed out, saying that he did not favor Mrs. Hert for the Cabinet or that he disfavored any other particular person.

As to whether his statement will tend to dampen the enthusiasm of Mrs. Hert's friends is conjectural. Certainly there are no more important or aggressive influences behind any man than are behind the movement in behalf of Mrs. Hert.

With the possible exception of Dr. Work it is doubtful if there is any important leader of the party who thinks that such a revolutionary move should be made as the appointment of a woman.

The majority of the high party influences are inclined to consider the possibility as remote. Nevertheless, the friends of Mrs. Hert were creating so much agitation that a serious problem was arising for the President-elect.

Moved by the recent published stories placing him in the light of making an issue of Mrs. Hart to issue a statement of some kind, the chairman made it the occasion also to deal with reports that had been published sometime before that it was his ambition to make the national committee the patronage arbiter.

These reports did not set well with the Senate. Naturally they would not. Patronage is the life blood of that august body.

The chairman's statement does not definitely deal with the correctness or falsity of these reports. He says that Mr. Hoover with his "independent" mind does not need any patronage referee.

Of course, all Presidents have had patronage referees. The Senate has in the vast majority of cases been that referee. No President could possibly have enough acquaintances to make personal appointments to all the offices that a President has to fill.

So far as Dr. Work's reference to this is concerned it is believed that Mr. Hoover would like to give the national committee more prominence in the filling of these places than the Senate, but as to whether he will attempt to accomplish anything of the kind, or attempting it, be able to do so, is another matter.

Bracelets in Window Trap Alleged "Fence"

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Jan. 1.—Two platinum bracelets in the show window of Seaman Scheppe, jeweler, on Sixth avenue led today to the arrest of Emanuel Kerber, 26, of the Bronx, a diamond setter. He was held in $10,000 bail this afternoon in Tombs court for a hearing Thursday, accused of criminally receiving part of the $100,000 in gems stolen in Detroit by six armed thugs on April 10, last from Philip Woolf, New York jeweler.

Woolf saw the bracelets in Scheppe' window and alleges he recognized them. They were traced to Kerber, police say, who sold them to a man who, in turn, sold them to Scheppe.

Trickery Charged By Mexican Labor

Agitation to Break Ranks of Federation Is Laid to Politics.

Mexico City, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—The executive committee of the Mexican Federation of Labor issued a manifesto today charging that recent agitation within the federation's ranks was a political maneuver designed to break up the present labor organization and weaken the position of the workers.

The manifesto counseled "serenity and patience" until the situation could be cleared up and charged that the political enemies of the federation had persuaded several unions to secede by misrepresenting the federation's position.

It was stated that the federation opposed President Portes Gil's new labor program because it "discriminated" against manual labor and gave the government the right to conscript workers of this class in time of emergency.

Cunard . . .
The Shortest Bridge
To Europe

Travelling Cunard almost brings European Winter Resorts as close as Palm Beach and Sarasota.

The fastest way over . . . the accepted crossing for season-followers who rely on Cunard speed . . . for those to whom January means St. Moritz and February, Cannes . . . who must leave New York on Friday because their hotel rooms are booked for Naples or Rapallo in a week's time.

Cunard crossings are in the blood of inveterate travellers . . . inherited from generation to generation . . . These wise people consider travel values before everything . . . speed . . . perfect service . . . express regularity.

For these reasons, in season and out, the Cunard tradition persists . . . It literally bridges the Atlantic.

CALCIUM GIVEN KING; IMPROVEMENT SEEN

New Treatment Follows Upon Blood Test; Queen Tells London of Hope.

LORD LASCELLES IS ILL

London, Jan. 1 (U.P.).—One of the new measures recently inaugurated in the battle to save King George's life has proved beneficial, according to an official bulletin issued at Buckingham Palace tonight.

The court physicians announced that administration of calcium had been undertaken as a result of a chemical examination of the blood and that there had been a slight improvement of his majesty's general condition. A new physician, Prof. Edward Charles Dodds, of the biochemistry department c the University of London, participated in today's consultations and signed the night bulletin.

Improvement Is Noted.

The bulletin, issued at 8:15 p. m., said:

"The king has had a restful day. There is a slight improvement in the general condition. Administration of calcium based on chemical examination of the blood is producing beneficial results.

"STANLEY HEWETT,
"HUGH RIGBY,
"E. C. DODDS,
"DAWSON OF PENN."

Prof. Dodds presumably was called into the consultations after an examination last week revealed that the infection was diminishing and that the battle now depended upon the ability of physicians to aid the king in recovering his strength. Officials at Buckingham Palace said they regarded the night bulletin as "satisfactory."

Queen Mary's hopeful message to the Lord Mayor of London this morning and the official bulletin issued at the palace at 11:15 a. m., had aided in bolstering spirits throughout the day. The morning bulletin said:

"The king had a good night. The general and local conditions are unchanged."

It was learned at the same time that Lord Lascelles, husband of Princess Mary, was suffering from chill at Harewood House, Leeds, and Princess Mary had gone there to care for him. The princess went to her husband's bedside after nearly a month of continuous vigil at Buckingham Palace. It was reported that Lord Lascelles was progressing favorably.

Queen Mary's message said:

"The king's illness must be a long and arduous course, but, please God, I now look forward to the lifting of the clouds and the happy realization of the nation's faith and hope.

"The love and affection extended me and my children throughout the dark days, indeed has been a support to me and those dear to me and when his health and strength shall be, as we hope, vouchsafed again, the king will find it a source of happiness to know that in his suffering he was ever in the thoughts of the citizens of London.

"Please convey to one and all my heartfelt thanks.

"MARY R."

The letter was in response to the lord mayor's traditional New Year's greeting to the king.

King of Afghanistan Rewards Loyal Troops

Peshawar, India, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—King Amanullah of Afghanistan, according to advices received today, is celebrating a victory over the rebels in the vicinity of Kabul by distributing largesses to his soldiery. He gave the troops of the capital garrison a bonus of two months' pay and raised the pay of his bodyguard from 14 to 20 rupees monthly.

Owing to severe cold in the region of Kabul, another rebellious concentration there is considered improbable, if not impossible, before next spring. But no snow has fallen near Jallalabad and the rebellious Shinwaris have kept the field in front of that city.

German Steamer Afloat After Running on Bar

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 1 (A.P.).—The German steamer Crefeld, which has been stuck since Thursday night in the mud of Tangier Bar, where she ran hard aground trying to avoid collision with the American steamer Governor John Lind, was floated this morning and will be brought to Norfolk to the Army base.

More than 1,000 tons of the vessel's general cargo was removed when it was found impossible to pull her free from the bar and the lightered cargo was carried to Norfolk yesterday.

Vacation With Pay Plan Of Harvester Company

Chicago, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—A $1,000,000-a-year-vacation benefit for its 40,000 employes was the new year announcement of the International Harvester Co.

Two weeks' vacation with pay will be extended to craftsmen in all manufacturing departments, as well as to office help, and there will be "time off" allowances in emergency cases. In addition to the two weeks' vacation, every employe will be credited with a six-day "time off" allowance, the days to be used for any purpose, the announcement said.

HEALTH OFFICIALS GIVE PRACTICAL ADVICE TO HELP AVOID INFLUENZA

The recommendations of health officials deserve special consideration at this time: Get plenty of sleep. Be careful that you eat only wholesome food. Avoid crowds whenever possible. Stay at home and take good care of a cold however slight. Proper precautionary measures now should keep you free from the "flu." It is much easier to avoid than to cure.

With influenza sweeping across the country, many persons have found Vapex an excellent first aid in keeping free from colds of all kinds. The simplicity of the use of Vapex makes it especially suitable for those who cannot avoid crowds. Put a drop on a folded handkerchief every morning. Breathe the pleasing vapor frequently during the day. Use it often while riding in street cars, busses, etc. The strength of the vapor lasts all day. Vapex will keep you free from colds and stop a cold at the start. Get Vapex from your druggist in the little square bottle and the package with the green triangle.

CHARGED WITH "MORAL MURDER"

The charge of "moral murder" against Wilbur O. Heldman, furnace salesman, will be considered by a grand jury at Canton, Ohio, Monday. He told authorities his wife (at right) shot herself with the gun which she confessed to him she used in killing Vernard E. Fearn, coal dealer.

GARNER TO RESUME 'BARGAIN' TAX FIGHT

Asks Mellon for Data on "Credits;" Billions Are Refunded, He Charges.

U. S. STEEL'S CASE CITED

Representative Garner, ranking Democratic member of the House ways and means committee, is to follow up his charges of "bargain settlements and chaotic conditions" in the Treasury's handling of tax refunds by calling on Secretary Mellon to explain how much money has been allowed taxpayers in "credits," which, Garner charges, will bring the actual total of refunds close to $2,000,000,000.

Under the law the Treasury until recently reported only actual cash refunds to the House. According to Mr. Garner, no mention was made of the credits which taxpayers were permitted to deduct from their payments, though, he contends, these are the same as refunds, save for the bookkeeping method of dealing with them.

He declares that the United States Steel Corporation, for example, was reported by the Treasury as due to get back a $15,000,000 refund, but that counting in the credits, or deductions allowed, the steel corporation had actually received some $57,000,000.

Asks Data From Treasury.

Garner has already asked the Treasury to furnish him figures showing some of the largest "credits" allowed taxpayers in addition to the reported cash refunds. From the case of the steel corporation and one or two others which he has studied, he estimates that when the credits and refunds are combined it will be shown that the Treasury instead of having paid approximately $900,000,000 to taxpayers has allowed them in reality double that amount.

The Treasury's annual reports give only the cash refunds. Up to this year the total since 1917 was $793,000,000. No record appears of the credits allowed. These credits are deducted by the taxpayers from their subsequent tax payments.

The subject was touched upon, though not gone into extensively, by the Couzens special Senate committee which investigated the Internal Revenue Bureau in 1926.

Credited Against Tax Due.

In its report this committee said:

"When a taxpayer claims that the tax paid is excessive, either because the net income shown by his return is excessive or because a deficiency tax is illegal, he may file a claim for a credit or a refund. If this claim is sustained in whole or in part, and unpaid taxes of another year are due the Government, the excess tax paid is credited against the tax due.

"It is only in cases a tax paid is found to be excessive and there is no tax due for another year that a refund results."

Mr. Garner said yesterday he might introduce a resolution calling upon Secretary Mellon to give Congress a list of the credits without which, he said, the published lists of refunds give but half the picture of the allowances granted to taxpayers.

SCIENCE HEAD RAPS ATTACK ON RELIGION

inclemency of the weather, Thou art with us.'"

After the lecture of Dr. Harlow Shapley, Prof. Osborne amplified for newspaper men the criticism at which he had hinted.

"This has been a scientific meeting," he said, "and it has had to do with weighing, measuring and analyzing all that which can be known of the universe. It covers the whole realm of what can be estimated and understood.

"Mr. Barnes was wholly unwarranted in introducing a metaphysical, philosophical and religious subject. It was an unwarranted intrusion. He took advantage of this great platform of the American association to give expression to his own opinions on a subject which was totally unrelated to the subjects under discussion.

"Without expressing my personal view whether he was right or wrong, I desire to say that he was entirely wrong in taking this occasion to put out such views and to give the impression that his private views came with more or less force because it came from this gathering. As president I desire the public to understand that Mr. Barnes' statements do not reflect in any way the program and subject-matter of our meeting.

"They were calculated to give a wrong impression. If this had been a philosophical, metaphysical or religious meeting it would have been appropriate. If I had been present I would have protested against the introduction of that subject."

Buenos Aires New Year Celebrants Are Injured

Buenos Aires, Jan. 1 (U.P.).—Several persons were slightly injured today in New Year's celebrations. Most of the accidents were the result of pistol firing by celebrators early in the morning.

The first day of the year was cool and summerlike. The usual horse races and sporting events drew large crowds.

OUTER SPACE LIGHT HELD UNOBSTRUCTED

Vast Reaches Free of Meteoric Dust, Astronomer Tells Scientists.

NEW DISCOVERIES MADE

New York, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Announcement of a major astronomical discovery that goes far toward confirming the correctness of the concept of the immensity of outer space was made tonight before the closing session of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

It was that the vast reaches of outer space are effectively free from meteoric dust, meteors, comets, electrons or other substances that might interfere with the passage of light. The computations of the size of space, and the remote starry objects that astronomers have discovered therein recently, are based on measuring distance by the use of light. If space contained substances interfering with light, these figures would have to be revised.

The announcement was made by Dr. Harlow Shaply, director of Harvard observatory. He said that this "major discovery" does not mean that space is known to be completely empty, but only that the objects and substances identified in it do not obstruct light.

Unpenetrated by Telescopes.

The space to which he referred is within a radius of the earth estimated at about 100,000,000 light years. A light year is the distance light travels in one year at the speed of 186,000 miles per second. Beyond 100,000,000 light years telescopes have not penetrated because of lack of power.

A celestial day of 300,000,000 years also was described by Dr. Shapley. It is the rate of rotation of the vast body of stars to which the earth and all visible stars belong, named by astronomers the Milky Way. Dr. Shapley said this figure is not final, but is based on the estimated speed of whirl of this great heavenly group, if the direction is a circle. Should this rotation path be found elliptical, like the earth's rotation around the sun, the estimates might be different.

Other Discoveries Sketched.

Dr. Shapley, described by Henry Fairfield Osborn, retiring president of the association, as "the young Lochinvar of astronomy," sketched many more astronomical discoveries and theories, such as were the basis of an assertion at an earlier session of the association that concepts of God needed revision.

He said the Milky Way probably is composed of 10,000,000,000 stars, our sun being one; that in the space outside the milky way 100 star clusters, independent systems somewhat similar to the Milky Way, have been verified at Harvard; that the nucleus in which is the center of the Milky Way is about 47,000,000 light years away in the direction of the constellation Sagittarius; that this year alone Harvard photographs have identified about 8,000 new outside galaxies, or star clusters, and that the nearest of the great galaxies, Coma-Virgo, is 11,000,000 light years, about 6,000,000,000,000 miles away, and contains 250 separate systems. He described how light is used to measure distance from stars known as variables. The light of such stars, he explained, waxes and wanes from a variety of causes, some of them being thought to pulsate, while others revolve around a darker star that may diminish or obscure their light.

Wealthy Oil Man Killed When His Airplane Falls

Colorado, Tex., Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Sam Sloan, wealthy Midland, Tex., oil man, was killed here today when his airplane crashed at the Colorado Country Club.

Witnesses said Sloan was flying at a low altitude when the plane nosedived, falling near the clubhouse.

JURY WILL DECIDE ON 'MORAL MURDER'

To Get Data on Girl's Suicide When Goaded by Husband Next Monday.

SHE HAD SLAIN COAL MAN

Canton, Ohio, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—The next chapter in the Fearn-Heldman slaying and suicide will be written here next Monday. A grand jury will convene then to consider a "moral murder" charge against Wilbur O. Heldman, whose wife, Margaret, killed herself after confessing to him that she had slain a Canton coal man on December 6.

Heldman, 37-year-old Lorain furnace salesman, was held to the grand jury without bonds on the murder charge late yesterday at the conclusion of a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Donald Smyth.

The question the grand jury will consider is whether Heldman was morally responsible for the suicide of his wife, who shot herself December 13 as Heldman was bringing her here from Lorain to answer for the slaying of Vernard E. Fearn, whom she admitted killing because he made "life for me a hell on earth." The prosecution will attempt to show that Heldman's suggestion to his wife that she would "get the electric chair" for her act prompted the young woman to take her life.

Prosecutor Henry W. Harter, jr., introduced a purported statement from Heldman in which the defendant admitted making the remark about the electric chair. "I don't know what made me say such a brutal thing," the statement quoted Heldman as saying.

The statement also told of domestic unhappiness in the Heldman home several months prior to the Fearn slaying and subsequent suicide of Mrs. Heldman.

10,000 Americans Greet New Year in Havana

Havana, Cuba, Jan. 1 (U.P.).—President Machado held a reception at the palace this morning for members of the diplomatic corps, cabinet members and government officials.

The city, aided by 10,000 American visitors, welcomed the new year hilariously Monday night.

DRY RAIDERS CHECK NEW YORK'S GAYETY

Clad in Evening Garb, Squad Visits Roadhouses and Night Clubs.

FIREMEN'S PARTY FATAL

New York, Jan. 1 (U.P.).—Federal agents backed out of their rented soup and fish suits today after a night of unparalleled social activity, while the remainder of the Nation's whoopee capital woke up to a morning-after as lacking in glitter as a speech by James Joseph Tunney.

There were, however, few deaths during a night of unceasing dry raids, noise and horn-tooting, during which Broadway and even Fifth avenue experienced traffic jams as late as 5 a. m.

A 58-year-old man died of acute alcoholism in Brooklyn; a 49-year-old victim was found in a street of Paterson, N. J., and Norman St. Clair Hale, an actor, was found dead near a fire station in West Fifty-eighth street, Manhattan.

Fireman Falls Upon Him.

Hale, it was said, attended a party at the quarters of Fire Engine Company No. 23 and missed the brass pole when he wandered too near the hurry hole on the second floor. Fireman Thomas J. Walsh, of another station, tried to grab Hale and went down with him, landing on top. Walsh was uninjured, and great surprise was manifest when it was learned that Hale was dead. Because parties in fire houses are discouraged by departmental rules, an investigation is pending.

Only an even dozen persons, two of them women, were taken to Bellevue suffering from alcoholism. Police leniency in the Broadway district was withheld from but seventeen rowdily intoxicated New Year greeters of the hundreds of thousands who refused to go home while they could think of other addresses.

Twenty-five speakeasies, most of them cellar places, were closed by police raids. The sleuths of Maj. Maurice Campbell, Federal prohibition administrator, shot for larger game.

Many Places Are Raided.

All dressed up like social registerites dropping in on the Vanderbilts for a wedding, the Campbell raiders put a sudden halt to the merrymaking in seven well-known road houses and night clubs.

Four times the little band of dressed-up Federal agents struck in the Broadway sector. One of the places raided was the venerable Dinty Moore's, in West Forty-sixth street, a favorite eating place of stage stars. Another was the Saranion Chop House, a block away, and another Jack Kennedy's Chop House, in Forty-fifth street. The latter was raided only four days ago by police. At these and at a Forty-eighth street restaurant, waiters and cashiers were arrested, but little intoxicant was found.

The Footlight Club yielded more, including 20 barrels of beer, and a series of police raids in Greenwich Village netted maledictions, waiters and some of the worst gin ever captured in Manhattan.

Estranged Man Stabs Wife and Escort; Is Held

New York, Jan. 1 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Frank Flynn, 24, started the new year off early today by stabbing his wife and her escort, and by firing three pistol shots at them, according to charges made against him. Detective Curry said that Mrs. Minnie Flynn, 18, from whom Flynn has been separated three months, was returning from a party with James McCauley, 19, when Flynn attacked them.

McCauley drove the husband off, Curry said, but Flynn showed up a short time later in the hallway of the wife's home, where he stabbed his wife in the right shoulder and McCauley in both arms and in the neck. He is accused also of firing three shots. Flynn when arrested offered no resistance.

ARMY PLANE STARTS ENDURANCE FLIGHT

lasted until they flew over the Rose Bowl at Pasadena.

The five fliers aboard the ship were Maj. Carl Spatz, flight commander; Capt. Ira C. Eaker, chief pilot, who was at the controls at the hop-off; Lieuts. Harry A. Halverson and Elwood R. Quesada, pilots, and Staff Sergt. Roy W. Hoos, mechanic.

They went aloft in golf togs, and prepared to live aboard the ship as long as the motors continue to function. Three whole days aloft will establish a record, however, shattering the mark established by Belgian airmen.

The turkey dinner, prepared by women of a Van Nuys, Calif, church, near the airport, and a hearty breakfast for the crew, composed the food taken up with the plane. Two hot meals a day will be served aboard. These will be taken aboard at the morning and evening refuelings.

The Question Mark returned to the airport, circled the tower, and turned toward San Diego, flying evenly at about 2,500 feet. The next refueling was made in San Diego, where refueling ship No. 1 is stationed.

A report dropped by the Question Mark carried the following entries:

"Entered by Maj. Spatz. Contact number two established at 10:25 a. m. over Point Loma and maintained until 10:31 Northwest Rockwell Field. Air rough hose jerked out of hands three times; tanks registered 270 gallons received. Capt. Baker at controls. Halverson alongside. Hoos at pumps. Spatz at hose. Quesada alongside.

"This is to be known hereafter as position number one. Engine turned over 1550 during contact. Pylon at Rockwell Field rounded at 10:17 a. m.

"Entered by Capt. Baker. Flew 10:10 to 11:35 during contacts. Had to open up to hold position. Refueling plane should idle down as load runs out. Plane pretty heavy. Have to rev. (speed motors) up to 1500 to hold altitude. Quesada slept 11:15—11:45. Greased rocker arms. Ryan number 9003 passed under us at 11:55 nearing Metropolitan Airport. Dropping copy of log thus far. It is now 12 noon and Maj. Spatz and Quesada relieve Halverson and I until 6 p. m. Maj. Spatz now piloting."

A successful refueling contact was made over North Island at 5 p. m., when 200 gallons of gasoline were transferred to the Question Mark from fuel plane number one. At the same time Maj. Spatz sent down definite word for a night fuel contact. The fuel plane was ordered to meet the big monoplane over Rockwell Field at midnight.

San Diego, Calif., Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Refueling plane number one landed at Rockwell Field at 3:55 p. m. today after delivering seven five-gallon cans of lubricating oil to the Question Mark in two contacts.

The refueling plane brought down a requisition from Sergt. Roy Hoos for a pair of fur-lined boots. As mechanician on the Question Mark he is required to be outside the cabin to reach the motors when they need attention.

Durant Favors Congress Inquiry Into Liquor Traffic

Would Have Committee Discover Why Amendment Is Not Enforced.

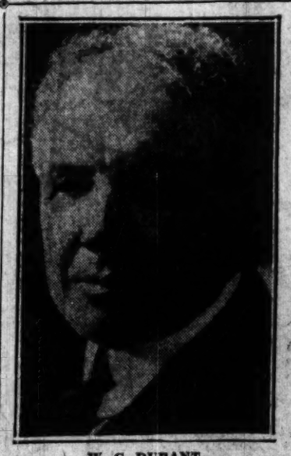

New York, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—W. C. Durant today suggested the appointment of a congressional committee "to discover and inform the country and Mr. Hoover as to why the eighteenth amendment has not been satisfactorily enforced."

The suggestion was made in a statement in which Mr. Durant disclosed that his offer of $25,000 for a practical plan for enforcement of the prohibition amendment was prompted by the taking of an oath of allegiance to the United States, on renewing his passport before a trip to Europe last summer.

En route to Europe, he said, his thought "reverted to our country's greatest domestic enemy, the bootlegger," and he felt that "unless something were done, the situation would get beyond control." He said that while he did not wish to pose as a reformer, he submitted the prize offer "in the hope that public interest might be aroused and a great national movement inaugurated that would to some extent correct the distressing and dangerous conditions existing."

In suggesting the appointment of the congressional committee, Mr. Durant recalled that President-elect Hoover, in his speech accepting the Republican nomination for the Presidency, had said that "common sense compels us to realize that grave abuses have occurred" and that "an organized, searching investigation of fact and causes can alone determine the wise method of correcting them."

Mr. Durant said that this fact-finding committee "would gather much information that the President needs, and that the people want."

W. C. DURANT.

"To such a committee," he added, "I would gladly turn over the rich material in the files of the prize contest, but if such a committee were appointed, I would suggest an appropriation sufficient to defray the expenses of many hundreds of men and women who, as evidenced by our files, would be able to give such testimony as would awaken the sleeping conscience of thousands of otherwise law-abiding citizens who are now thoughtlessly encouraging and supporting the country's greatest enemy—the bootlegger."

Earle Suspect Will Face Three Charges

Arraignment Set for Today After Police Announce New Confession.

Elmo William Williams, 21-year-old bandit suspect, will be arraigned in court here today on robbery charges growing out of the holdup at the Earle Theater and the theft of funds from two messengers en route to banks. At the same time his 21-year-old uncle, Thomas Edison Williams, of Tampa, Fla., will be arraigned for his alleged handling of funds from his nephew's loot.

Elmo Williams is charged with the holdup and robbery of the Earle Theater on October 29, the abduction and robbery of David W. Bell, jr., 21 years old, of 4318 Ninth street northwest, as he was carrying funds to the bank on August 27, and with robbery of Charles Kemper, a negro porter employed by the Peoples' Drug Store at 1107 G street northwest.

Williams is said to have confessed to the last charge yesterday, admitting that he obtained $70 on August 1 from the negro, who was en route to the bank. Williams told the police that he tricked the porter into giving him the money by impersonating an employe of the store.

Bodies of Train Victims Removed to Cumberland

Cumberland, Md., Jan. 1.—The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. William Brandt, of Cooks Mills, 9 miles north of Cumberland, killed yesterday when a light truck in which they were riding was struck by a Baltimore & Ohio passenger train at Cooks Mills crossing, have been brought to the home of Mrs. Brandt's sister, Mrs. Herman Lehman, Green street, this city. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon. The Rev. H. Hall Sharp, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Brandt was a dairyman, 55 years old. Mrs. Brandt was 54. They were on the front seat of a light truck used for delivery of milk when struck. The grade crossing is on a slight slope near the railroad station. The train does not stop at Cooks Mills.

Berlin, Jan. 1 (U.P.).—The German capital's New Year's Day casualties included three persons dead in revolver fights or fireworks accidents, eight suicides and 238 arrests for disorder or crimes.

Policeman Shoots Tire From Auto

Sends Machine Into Tree and Takes 14 Cases of Alleged Whisky.

Friends of Prince Georges County Policeman V. M. Nichols are considering renaming him "Dead Eye Dick," following his chase of a suspected bootleg car late Monday night, when he shot a tire from a fleeing automobile at a distance of approximately 300 feet.

Nichols, Lieut. A. W. Hepburn and Deputy Sheriff Harry Robertson were in one car chasing the other, which appeared to be about to distance them. Leaning from the side of the police car, which was careening along at a rate of about 55 miles an hour, Nichols fired at the fugitive auto and struck the tire, causing the suspected bootlegger to veer from the road and collide with a tree. The driver escaped in the heavy underbrush.

Fourteen cases of alleged liquor were seized. The police had chased the car from Red's Corner to Oxon Hill on the Southern Maryland pike.

Democrats Divided On Lee for Speaker

Row Marks Caucus on Eve of Assembly's Opening at Annapolis.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Jan. 1.—Discord marked a caucus of Democratic members of the legislature on the eve of the General Assembly's convening in biennial session here at noon tomorrow, but indications late tonight were that the State administration forces, dominated by Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, would have final control of the situation and that slates headed by Maj. E. Brooke Lee, of Montgomery County, for reelection as speaker of the house and David G. McIntosh, of Baltimore County, for reelection as president of the senate, would be put through tomorrow.

The more important desk men on the Senate slate are: Secretary, Emerson E. Crothers, Cecil County, incumbent; journal clerk, Walter D. Addison, Prince Georges County; reading clerk, Charles Schnaw, Baltimore City; assistant secretary, Albert Bolling, Charles County.

The House slate agreed upon follows: Chief clerk, Albert J. Almoney, Baltimore City, incumbent; journal clerk, Thomas J. Murray, Cecil County; reading clerk, Robert T. Battenden, Baltimore City, in place of Clarence Wolf, Baltimore City, who was ineligible because of occupying a like position in the city council of Baltimore; assistant chief clerk, Lewis F. Abell, St. Mary's County.

Prisoners Fire Jail In Escape Attempt

Sheriff and Police Quell Riot and Extinguish Threatening Blaze.

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., Jan. 1.—An attempted jail delivery early today by means of a fire was thwarted by prompt action of Sheriff Luther Pannett and city police, but not until after the prison, filled beyond capacity, had been thrown into a turmoil of excitement. There was a general stampede of prisoners. The sheriff awakened by cries of fire from a trusty, rushed into the main corridor clad only in pajamas and found terrified prisoners beating excitedly against cell doors and shouting for help.

Several trusties having liberty of the corridors made no effort to escape, but assisted the sheriff in fighting the blaze with buckets of water. Meanwhile, police arrived and guarded prisoners. Immense volumes of dense smoke poured from windows of three stories of structure and officers fought the blaze under difficulties.

An investigation showed a large hole burned in a pine and oak floor 3 inches thick, under which were joist laid 22 inches apart. The fire started in a cell occupied by prisoners awaiting transfer to the State penitentiary for robbery, several of whom were ready to drop through the opening when the sheriff, although unarmed, forced them into a steel cage.

U. S. WILL AID DRIVE TO CLEAN CHICAGO

City, State and County Also to Unite in War Upon Crime Syndicate.

TERRORISM TO BE ENDED

Chicago, Jan. 1 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Stung by taunts from all the civilized and uncivilized world as being the most lawless and crime-ridden spot on earth, Chicago has determined to enter upon a vigorous house cleaning.

It is admitted the task is appalling, but the State, city, county and Federal Government will combine in a series of efforts to dislodge the "crime syndicate," deeply entrenched by years of collusion with officials reaching from policemen to the municipal bench.

Swanson to Get Help.

State's Attorney John A. Swanson, elected by an overwhelming majority on his pledge to rid the city of criminals, especially "booze running" gangs and "racketeers," will have the active support of United States District Attorney George E. O. Johnson, whose power can extend beyond the statute restrictions which might hamper local officials. Federal grand juries are not subject to the pressure which can be applied to local juries.

Special attention will be given terrorists who threaten lives of jurymen, witnesses and their homes and families. Heretofore, it has been easy for outside friends of criminals to dispose of important witnesses with the result that trials became farces. Where the authorities had a clear case against a criminal, there would be many continuances and delays, sometimes as high as 30 continuances. Meanwhile, attorneys for the criminal and gangster friends would drive witnesses from the city.

Through the influence of United States Senator Charles S. Deneen, two of the Government's most able prosecutors will be assigned to the tremendous task of cleaning up Chicago. One is Oliver Pagan, an indictment expert, and the other, whose identity is not disclosed, is said to be a famous prosecutor.

Deportations to Be Arranged.

It is said there will be many deportations, as aliens are in the majority of the criminals operating in this city, notably the bootlegging gangs and the sawed-off and machine gun professional killers.

Judge Swanson and District Attorney Johnson declined to give any details of their plans tonight, confining their comments to this: "There will be much news during the ensuing year."

Senator Deneen and Judge Swanson have an especial incentive to make vigorous warfare on the criminals. The homes of both have been bombed by gangsters and their lives and the lives of their people have been threatened.

Wouldn't Take Pardon, Asserts Chapin, Slayer

Special to The Washington Post.

Ossining, N. Y., Jan. 1.—Charles E. Chapin, former New York World city editor, serving a life sentence at Sing Sing for wife-slaying, did not sanction an application made to former Gov. Al Smith for a pardon for him, he told Sing Sing attaches today.

"I would not accept a pardon even if one was offered me," he was reported as saying.

PROMOTER IS ILL

TEX RICKARD.

Rickard Improves After Operation

Appendicitis Attack Causes Quick Action to Save Fight Promoter.

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 1 (A.P.).—George L. (Tex) Rickard, president of Madison Square Garden, New York, and prize fight promoter, was operated on for appendicitis here early tonight. His condition was reported as good after the operation.

Rickard became ill at his home this morning and believed he had indigestion. When the pain became acute he summoned a physician, who diagnosed the case as appendicitis. He was taken to the Allison Hospital at 7:30 o'clock and operated on at once.

The promoter's illness prevented him from attending the opening tonight of the Miami Beach Kennel Club, a new greyhound racing plant, of which he is principal owner.

Diplomatic Reception Marks New Year in Peru

Lima, Peru, Jan. 1 (U.P.).—Diplomatic and government officials visited the presidential palace this morning to extend New Year's greetings to President Legula in a ceremony known as "Besomanos," the ecclesiastical name applied in colonial times to the court levy. The greeting now consists of merely shaking hands.

PISTOL IGNITES GAS, KILLING 3 CHILDREN

Fourth Is Seriously Injured at Play Around Automobile in Garage.

FAMILIES WERE FEASTING

Crowley, La., Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Three children were burned to death and another was seriously injured near here today when a cap pistol ignited gasolines in a garage where they were playing.

The children were playing around an automobile in the garage when the gasoline exploded. Vealon Fontenot, 12, had a cap pistol outside the car and was able to escape. The three trapped in the car were Hilman Fontenot, 7, Elton Fontenot, 8 and Realond Fontenot, 6. The car and garage were destroyed by flames.

When a relative arrived he found the three bodies. Smoke and flames pouring from the garage made it impossible to rescue the children.

Several French families had gathered at the home of "Bud" Fontenot for a New Year's celebration. The plan was for the older folks to spend the day in telling stories and singing songs while the children played. Hilman and Vealon were sons of Leonard Fontenot and the other two children were sons of Walter Fontenot.

Professors, in Election, Make Crew President

New York, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Prof. Henry Crew, of Northwestern University, was today reelected president of the Association of Professors. Prof. H. C. Warren, of Princeton, was elected vice president to succeed Marion P. Whitney, of Vassar College. Other officers were elected.

The association decided against immediate action on a resolution condemning "undercover efforts to utilize college teachers for propaganda purposes," pending completion of the Federal Trade Commission's investigation.

Senator-Elect Vare's Condition Unchanged

Fort Pierce, Fla., Jan. 1 (U.P.).—There was little change today in the condition of Senator-elect William S. Vare, of Pennsylvania, who is here recuperating from a five-month illness, it was said by his physician.

The doctor indicated that the senator-elect would be able to leave the hotel and occupy his winter home at St. Lucie by the end of the week. He is able to sit in his wheel chair part of the time, and it is believed his condition will show improvement when he has an opportunity to be out in the ideal weather.

Bud, Wed to Taxi Man, Now Bride of Wealth

Special to The Washington Post.

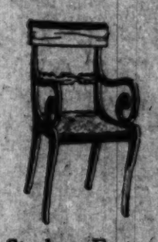

New York, Jan. 1.—Mrs. Ruth Sterling Holland, 25, daughter of Dr. Eugene Lyman Fiske, well known physician and head of the Life Extension Institute, who startled Eastern society six years ago when she married Earl J. Holland, New York taxicab driver, today took another husband. He is Oliver Alden 3d, son of a wealthy Chicago chain store merchant, and said to have been a friend of Holland when he was a Princeton student, before he went in for taxi driving. They were married by the Rev. William Alexander, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Alden divorced her first husband October 29, on statutory grounds, receiving custody of their child.

Perfect health is refreshing

If you are tired—lack pep—if your skin is not clear—if your appetite is "gone"—you owe it to yourself and friends to try S.S.S. Its tonic effects will surprise you.

WHEN your system is filled with rich, red blood, you don't have that tired, languid feeling when you awake in the morning.

Instead, you feel refreshed; ready to meet the world!

Your appetite is keen, you enjoy work or play. Your skin is clear—cheeks naturally rosy.

All this because rich, red blood is Nature's substance for building and sustaining the body.

Thousands have regained their strength and charm by taking a few bottles of S. S. S.—Nature's own tonic for restoring the appetite—building strength—and clearing the body of so-called skin troubles.

You know a clear skin comes from within. Correct the cause—thru the blood—and pimples, boils, eczema and that sallow complexion will disappear.

For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

"I was troubled with pimples and blackheads, but thanks to S.S.S., I got rid of them. My face now has a smooth feeling. I think S.S.S. does many wonders for the system. Besides giving me a clear complexion, it gave me a healthful look." Miss Angela Annunzio, 1007 S. Racine Ave., Chicago, Ill.

S.S.S. is a splendid tonic for growing children, too.

—purely vegetable

"I was troubled with pimples and blackheads. I took a course of S.S.S. It cleared my face and back. I think S.S.S. is wonderful. I have told many friends about S.S.S., and they are getting as much benefit as I did." Miss Ruth Gahm, 1134 Elden Ave., Los Angeles, Calif.

"LIQUIDATION OF THE WAR."

Congress is beginning to turn an inquiring eye toward the negotiations that have for their object the "liquidation of the war." The European creditors of Germany have agreed upon a plan which, to be successful, will require Americans to subscribe for an enormous flotation of German bonds and will also call for a scaling down of the debts owed to the United States. The total of Germany's reparation debt is to be agreed upon, and then "commercialized" by the issuance of bonds to be floated off upon the public of various countries, principally the United States. With the proceeds Germany's creditors will pay off their debts to the United States at a heavy discount for cash, and the remainder will be used for reconstruction of devastated areas, increase of armaments, &c.

It is generally assumed that S. Parker Gilbert, agent general for reparations, who is acting as go-between in the negotiations now on foot, has had the approval of the Coolidge administration in all that he has done thus far. The situation now calls for conferences with President-elect Hoover, who will be asked to approve of what has been done and to give his consent to the development of the plan. While the United States is not to be committed in advance to any plan evolved by the committee of experts, the engineers of the plan hope to have the unofficial cooperation of the Government during the negotiations, in order that the finished work shall not fail to command the formal approval of the United States. The experts will of course be in close touch with their home governments, and will in reality be directed by them, while none of the governments will be officially bound by what the experts propose during the negotiations. It is hoped that this informal arrangement will result in a plan that can be approved by each government and thereby put into effect, wiping out at one swoop Germany's obligations to the allies and the allies' obligations to the United States. Thereafter private persons will be the only creditors and all of them will look to Germany for ultimate payment of the bonds.

This plan can be effected only by the generous help of the United States Government and the liberal purchase of German bonds by American citizens. As several months will be consumed in the negotiations, the work will extend into the Hoover administration. Probably the success of the plan will hinge upon the willingness of Congress to accept a heavy discount of the war debts, the inducement being immediate or early payment of fixed sums instead of the 62-year arrangements now in effect. An effort will be made, doubtless, to convince Congress that it is its duty to accept the "present cash value" of the debts in order to assist the European governments to liquidate the war by squaring accounts, withdrawing allied troops from Germany, and starting afresh with a clean slate.

The alternative of America's refusal to agree to this plan will be the charge that the United States is a Shylock, demanding the last pound of flesh from stricken Europe; that amicable relations between Germany and the allies are made impossible by American refusal to cooperate, thus making America responsible for the continued presence of allied forces on German soil; that Germany can not continue to pay indefinitely enormous reparations without any assurance that it will ever be relieved from the crushing load; that this burden and uncertainty, together with the military occupation of the Rhineland, will cause deep resentment and antagonism, with the constant danger of war; that France, unable to obtain assurance that Germany will pay, will refuse to pay its debt to the United States; and that the United States will thereby lose heavily by refusing to join in the plan, besides incurring moral guilt for stirring up hatred and possible war.

It is a horrifying picture that will be painted, and well calculated to make a double appeal to American sentiment and cupidity. Why refuse to lend a hand, especially when cooperation will bring in actual cash for debt payments in place of uncertain agreements extending far into the future? Why not be liberal in scaling down the debts for the sake of universal good will and European restoration?

In view of the importance of what is proposed it is little wonder that President Coolidge should wish to lay the situation before Mr. Hoover and that Mr. Gilbert should hurry over from Berlin to consult the President-elect. The scheme is futile from the start unless it commands the approval of Mr. Hoover; and even if he should approve, there remains the task of convincing Congress that it is to the best interest of American taxpayers to deprive them of the proceeds of the European debts. As there is no method whereby the United States can scale down its own debt, the taxpayers who must pay off United States bonds must be made to see that it is their duty to forgive their foreign debtors and take over the burden themselves, meanwhile lending enormous sums of fresh money to Germany secured by mortgages on government-owned German railroads.

Naturally, members of Congress will ask how the mortgage can be foreclosed without making war, if foreclosure should become necessary; and they may suggest that a revolution in Germany might result in American holders of German bonds holding an empty bag, while the money they advanced was being used to build up the French military machine and the British navy.

NEW YORK'S EXECUTIVE.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, who was inaugurated Governor of New York yesterday, took office with a full corps of department heads of his own choosing. For the last several weeks Gov. Roosevelt has been indulging in the luxury of choosing his cabinet, while a score of new governors in other States must have looked on, green with envy.

The President of the United States, the Governor of New York, and a few other executives enjoy the privilege of choosing their own cabinets. In most of the States the governor's "cabinet" is wished on him by the electorate, and he has to take whoever the people send him, without regard for political harmony or efficiency. Gov. Roosevelt should consider himself fortunate in profiting by the foresight of previous executives and legislators in making an efficient State administration possible.

Mr. Roosevelt is responsible for the appointment of an assistant, a director of the budget, a commissioner of standards and purchase, a State superintendent of police, a commissioner of taxation and finance, a secretary of state, a superintendent of public works, a commissioner of conservation, an industrial commissioner, commissioners of health, mental hygiene and correction, and superintendents of banks and insurance. The people elect only a comptroller, who serves as an independent check on the State's financial accounts, and an attorney general. With these two exceptions the executive branch of the government is centralized under the authority of the chief executive.

Whatever dissension may develop between the Democratic governor and the Republican legislature in New York, there will be harmony within the executive department itself. This is an asset of which not many States in the Union can boast. They have gone to extremes in giving the people power to choose public officials. As a result it is not unusual to find a Democratic governor with a complete staff of Republican department heads, from the secretary of state down. Because they are elected by the people these department heads are not responsible to the governor, and he becomes only another department head himself, unable to accomplish any constructive work because of the opposition of his colleagues. This is one of the most senseless incongruities in the whole scheme of State governments.

If there ever was any excuse for having executive subordinates elected that excuse is no longer apparent. A lengthy ballot for voters to mark not only leaves a State with a many-headed executive, but it opens loopholes for inefficiencies and wasted efforts that have no end. States that are vexed with such a system would do well to turn their eyes to New York for an example of modern organization which at least makes efficient administration possible.

ALL-AMERICA HIGHWAY.

Pan-American Highway, a road stretching from Canada down through the tropics and into the frigid regions of South America, has been the dream of Pan-American statesmen for years. Such a road would draw the peoples of the Americas together. Upon such a highway freight would be moved, perhaps not in single hauls between the continents, but certainly between one country and its neighbors, and by easy stages to north or south. The dream of a Pan-American highway has advanced a stage nearer consummation.

Dr. L. S. Rowe, chairman of the executive committee of the Pan-American confederation for highway education and director general of the Pan-American Union, recently made inquiries of the ministers of the Central American States, seeking to ascertain if their governments had instituted surveys of prospective routes and other studies representing practical effort toward the building of a highway connecting their several republics. If these have been made, he suggested that they be turned over to the confederation, and if they have not been made he offered the assistance of the confederation in a cooperative field survey of the situation. For the present only the countries of Central America are being considered in connection with the Pan-American highway.

It now develops that President-elect Hoover has paid particular attention during his sojourn in South America to the matter of road building. Everywhere he went he took occasion to talk with highway officials regarding a Pan-American highway, and everywhere he discovered the greatest interest. It is said that Mr. Hoover has come to the opinion that the highway project is of importance equal to the airway project and the strengthening of the South American merchant marine fleet.

With the Pan-American Union and the President of the United States working toward the construction of the Pan-American highway, it may be that the new year will see the project well advanced.

THE TURKS AND ISLAM.

The suggestion made in Constantinople in a recent issue of Ikdam, that Turkey should celebrate the festival of Christmas, is interesting and may be imoprtant. The Turkish writer, Ahmet Hashim Bey, who puts forward the proposal, argues that Moslem children, in contrast with Christian children, have no special holiday peculiarly their own and that the establishment of Christmas as a time of rejoicing for the young would easily and naturally provide them with one. Claiming that Turkey has already taken over romance, poetry and sentiment from foreign countries, he sees no valid reason why she should not also fall into line in the direction indicated.

The importance that attaches to the public expression of such a view lies in the fact that the article in question may be nothing less than a camouflaged balloon d' essai. Strange as it may seem, there has been for some little time past a persistent and growing belief among the inhabitants of Turkey that the Moslem religion may be abolished in their country. The language reform, so sweeping in its character, is generally regarded as but a harbinger of another and still greater change. Nothing as yet has emanated from Chamkaya, the residence of President Kemal Pasha, to warrant such an opinion, but some recent editorials in the semiofficial press of Constantinople have been looked upon as a preparation of the public mind for the giving out of a manifesto which would abolish Islam and set up a new religion in its place.

A nation's religious faith has always been a thorny and difficult subject to interfere with, and Kemal Pasha, despite the many far-reaching reforms he has already successfully brought about in so short a time, is astute enough not to try to impose a new religion on his people unless he felt certain in advance that such action on his part would be well received and would commend itself as desirable to the national consciousness.

It may be said, however, that the publications above referred to have set people guessing and that in ordinary conversation, wherever Turkish nationals foregather, the topic of a projected change in religion is freely discussed.

SEARCHING THE UNIVERSE.

Man is insatiably curious. He delves deep into the earth seeking to add to his store of knowledge. He descends to the bottom of the sea to study the strange life that exists there. He peers through space toward the stars in an attempt to discover their mysteries. The incessant quest makes up the store of knowledge possessed by humankind. It accounts for man's progress and holds the secret of his continued development.

What was the knowledge of the ancients? Wise men there were in those days, but they had neither the background nor equipment to push their search for knowledge to the fullest extent. What is the knowledge of the wise men of today? Measured by past standards it is great indeed, but when one peers into the future one must conclude that mankind knows next to nothing. But the slender store of knowledge is increased and new equipment is produced to make easier the research of the scholars. Fortunately nature imposes no limitation upon man's capacity to learn.

For untold ages men have looked at the stars. The ancients gazed upon the heavens and worked out theories of stellar movements surprising in their accuracy. The telescope was invented, bringing the heavens closer. New stars were discovered and new knowledge was gained of the nature of the universe. Now it is planned to build a 200-inch telescope, with a reflector area of 240 square feet, or four times that of the world's largest existing telescope. With this instrument more definite knowledge of the nature of the universe may be gained. No one knows what types of research can be pursued with it, for its space-penetrating power promises to open up new and heretofore unimagined lines of investigation. Humankind's store of knowledge will be increased, but no final chapter will be written. The more man knows, the more he discovers he has yet to learn.

MEXICAN TEMPERANCE PROGRAM.

Among the reforms that President Portes Gil of Mexico hopes to inaugurate during his short term is temperance in the use of intoxicating liquor. In an interview with foreign correspondents he outlined his plan to wean the people away from intoxicants with more wholesome diversions. He will not follow the plan of the United States by trying to force a prohibition law upon the people. Mr. Portes Gil is thoroughly converted to the wisdom of abstaining from alcoholic liquors, but he is practical-minded enough to know that Mexico could not enforce a prohibition law at present. He refuses to lend his influence to any move designed to change Mexico from a wet to a dry nation overnight. He knows that it can not be done. The change can only come with a change in the habits of the people, and that is a painfully slow process.

The Mexican president plans a national program that will stimulate interest of the people in sports, music and other wholesome pastime. This will tend, he believes, to distract them from saloons and centers of vice and lessen their desire for alcohol. He is taking cognizance of that rule of psychology which says that the easiest way to break a habit is to replace it with another habit. Nor is the proposal of Mr. Portes Gil untried. During his governorship of the State of Tamaulipas he claims to have practically eliminated drinking in the small towns and petroleum fields, and to have greatly reduced the consumption of intoxicants in the cities through his plan of substitute diversions. His program will be extended to other states and the cooperation of governors will be asked.

The Mexican method of promoting temperance is likely to be handicapped by the fact that a great bootleg nation is next door, violently resorting to liquor in protest against an attempt to abolish habits by law.

PRESS COMMENT

The Foothold.

Topeka Capital: A Tokyo dispatch reports that chewing gum has obtained a foothold in Japan. And that is generally the worst thing about chewing gum.

Congressional Worries.

Atlanta Constitution: After appropriating a few billion dollars of the people's money the congressman at home on Christmas vacation will worry over the personal expenditures of $6.54 for Christmas cards.

Opposition Wanted.

Detroit News: Nothing important or necessary is ever built unless there has been heated opposition to it, and everyone agrees that a retreat for the President away from Washington, is a great idea. So it is still an idea.

New Stamp Issue.

Detroit News: "Four things I insist on," says New York's new police commissioner. "Stamp out gunmen, stamp out vice, stamp out speakeasies and stamp out breeding places of crime." This virtually constitutes a stamp issue.

What Shall He Do.

Times Picayune: Amullah of Afghanistan proved too Eastern for great respect in the West, and is now found too Western for his subjects of the East. And since there isn't any middle ground for him to inhabit, what shall a poor Emir do?

Now You Tell One.

Ohio State Journal: We always feel when a motor bus about fifteen feet wide and experiencing more or less engine trouble is just ahead of us in the traffic that it has just as much right to the use of the street as we have.

The Greater Need.

Atchison Globe: A member of the Kansas Legislature wants a State law that would compel a man to take a State examination before entering the banking business. Not a bad idea—and one that should be applied to a man before he could become eligible for membership in the legislature.

Foolish Prohibition.

Richmond Times Dispatch: Arrests for intoxication in the United States during 1928 rose approximately 50 per cent, according to a survey of the Moderation League. It begins to appear as if the eighteenth amendment is just about the wettest thing in the Constitution.

Numbers Don't Count.

Springfield Republican: Holding seven out of thirteen portfolios, Premier Mussolini has a majority in his cabinet, but it may be recalled that President Lincoln once declared himself in a majority when all the members of his cabinet were against him. In such cases arithmetic is not very important.

Foreign Missions Needed.

Houston Post-Dispatch: An Idaho woman whose little 3-year-old daughter was found to have been tortured with a hot poker told officers that that was the way she was raised and was the only way she knew to raise children. Now let's send a few more missionaries abroad, and make provision for keeping a few more at home.

STYLES AND STABILITY.

Feminine styles often are ruthless enemies of business stability, says the Kansas City Star. A manufacturer builds up a good business in some form of women's wear, only to discover that his customers have left him over night because of a change in style. Makers of corsets, of hairpins, of hair nets, of underwear, all have the same sad story to tell.

The latest sufferers are the sugar refiners. They have discovered that the fad for slimness actually is affecting the consumption of sugar. The devotee of the boyish figure often is coming to look askance on sugar in coffee, on grapefruit, on breakfast food. She even heroically waves away proffered candy.

On feminine tastes in general, we know better than to venture a merely masculine opinion. We hope we are brave. But we are not reckless. There is no question, however, that the fad for slimness is really damaging, and here we boldly take our stand beside the sugar refiners. Every one knows of cases of young girls whose health has been injured by deliberate starvation.

If there be skeptics we refer them to the article by Dr. Logan Clendening, of Kansas City, in the current issue of Plain Talk. In his experience he has found reducing to be a difficult and dangerous undertaking. Often it results in an impaired physical as well as mental condition.

While the rule of reason is called for in all things, we are glad to record one instance where inclination and well being march fairly well in hand. One shouldn't starve any more than one should stuff, and for ordinary mortals sugar and candy in moderation are wholesome foods as well as easy to take.

The Once Over---by---H. I. Phillips

The Coolidge Safari

President Coolidge is shooting his 1929 Thanksgiving turkeys early. Calvin, who entered the White House as an indoor man and is leaving it as an outdoor sportsman, is in Howard Coffin's Georgia hunters' paradise driving all the wild turkeys, deer, pheasants and peacocks into the Democratic party.

* * * * *

It is the best rod and gun orgy the President ever had. Every time Cal fires something drops. It isn't always what he aimed at, but results are what count.

* * * * *

On all Mr. Coolidge's previous expeditions there was a certain element of chance, but on Sapelo Island quick results are guaranteed. There is plenty of game there. Mr. Coffin put it there. When he takes a guest hunting he doesn't mean maybe.

* * * * *

Turkeys roost on the stranger's rifle, pheasants are so plentiful they can be taken with the bare hand and wild peacocks are often found under the bed when you go looking for a lost collar button.

* * * * *

Calvin wasnt out ten minutes before he had brought down two fat turkeys and six fat Fox movietone cameramen.

* * * * *

The service is wonderful. "Are you all ready to hunt turkey?" asks a guide.

"Yes, sir," replies the President.

"What size turkey do you like?" asks the guide.

"What size have you got?" asks the President. "I think something between twelve and fifteen pounds will do."

"Turkeys that small are scarce here," says the guide. "When they're under sixteen pounds we don't call them turkeys; we call them quail."

"Well, I'll take a bigger one, then," says the President.

"There'll be more white meat on the big ones and the second joints are much juicier. We are very proud of our wild second joints."

* * * * *

Whereupon the Presient is led out and shown more wild turkeys than he knew there were in all America. Then he is taken out to hunt wild cranberries and native celery. The cranberries are lured to the "blind" by a caller who deceives the cranberries with the well-known "Whmmph-whmmph," which is the call of the wild cranberry. The President has got so he can bring down a cranberry at 70 yards.

* * * * *

Getting the celery is more difficult. The hunter has to use celery hounds. And the celery is pursued on horseback. How the celery gets on horseback is another story.

* * * * *

Anyway, Calvin is having a wonderful time. It is now reported that upon his reitrement he will write a book entitled "My Seven Years With Rod, Gun and Cameramen."

* * * * *

Incidentally, we now begin to see why he wants all those new cruisers. He is evidently going sea gull hunting.

* * * * *

WORSE AND WORSE.

A Federal grand jury has found that a large shipment of whisky was made from bug killer. That, thinks Senator Dumm, must have been pretty excellent stuff. "Most of the stuff you get these days," he declares, "is elephant killer."

* * * * *

The American Society for the Advancement of Science announces the discovery that the female cricket does not care for the male cricket's music, that radium rays will kill fruit flies and that the cucumber can be made immune from insects. Now we can all go ahead with plans for the new year as if nothing had happened.

* * * * *

It is worthy of note that the scientists are yet to discover a way to restore hair to a bald head, change a typewriter ribbon without swearing and produce a safety razor blade that is much good after resharpening.

* * * * *

The problem of the era seems to be what to do with old automobiles.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Longer Lunch Hour for Clerks.

To the Editor of the Post—Sir: With all public health authorities advising plenty of sunshine as a safeguard against the approaching influenza menace, the question arises, does the present 30 minute lunch period permit 65,000 Government clerks in Washington sufficient time therefor?

We rush to work in the morning, and at 4:30 p. m. it is almost dark. A major part of the present brief lunch period must necessarily be spent indoors. With few exceptions, practically the entire business hours are spent indoors.

As a firm believer in preventive hygiene, I advocate lengthening the lunch period to one hour during the prevalence of the present emergency. This would permit everybody at least 30 minutes of fresh air and sunshine at the most beneficial time of the day, and would greatly help build a splendid resistance against the ravages of the dreaded disease.

HERBERT W. GEDDMAN.

"Massachusetts, Wet She Stands."

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I read with the greatest interest the communication of Edward Breck in Sunday's Post refuting the intimations by "Old Timer," that the Old Bay State had gone back on her record in voting wet. It is truly refreshing, and gives one a better opinion of Massachusetts, to learn that even in the days when she was hanging witches and stoning Quakers, and making the kissing of his wife by a husband a sin to be repented for, Massachusetts was delightfully wicked.

I recall that in my young college days we used to wonder how the boys and girls of Massachusetts did their courting in those old colonial days. We finally reached the conclusion that the beau took an icycle with him, and instead of holding hands he and the girl each held an end of the icycle. Why, in those college days the reading of Emerson was like taking a cold douche. During the Civil War I soldiered in the same brigade with a Massachusetts regiment, and the boys used to say the Bay State fellows drank their coffee cold. Now, when I am in the sere and yellow leaf of life, you can not imagine how it warmed my heart to read that good, old Massachusetts loved rum punch just as ordinary sinners did, and that I had always been laboring under a grievous mistake. Long live Massachusetts! Let us forgive her for voting the Democratic ticket last November, and remember only that even the best machine will now and then slip a cog.

TICALS AND BAHTS.

It takes 100 satang to make a baht, observers the New Orleans Times Picayune, the latter being equivalent of 0.68567 grams of fine gold. Perhaps you are more familiar with tidals than with bahts, for the first-named word was generally in use until recently, when a self-determination spirit in Siam caused the public to resent "tical" as being a foreign word, and insisted on the good old Siamese expression "baht" that now has been set up officially as the currency unit of the kingdom. The baht, sometimes just bat, is also the unit of weight. Eighty baht equal one chang, and 50 chang equal one haph. One-eighth of a baht is called a fuang, and two fuang are a salung. There are also wahs, sauks, krups and niews, as well as sens, yotes, tanhs and tamans. Twenty tanans formerly equaled half a cocoanut shell. You will have to keep that all straight in your mind if you travel in the Far East or have financial intercourse with Siam. But remember especially that tical is now out of use officially as a money unit. The new baht is of silver and is worth 40 cents of our money. You might cut out the above and hand it to the stenographer so that she will be up with her spelling when you dictate your next Siamese letter.

SOCIETY EVENTS

THE Mexican Ambassador, Senor Don Manuel C. Tellez, will entertain at dinner tomorrow night in honor of delegates to the Conference on Conciliation.

The German Ambassador and Frau von Prittwitz und Gaffron are the guests in whose honor Senator and Mrs. James Couzens will entertain at dinner Monday evening.

Secretary and Mrs. Kellogg Hold New Year Reception

The Secretary of State and Mrs. Frank B. Kellogg yesterday held their annual New Year's reception and breakfast in honor of the Diplomatic Corps at the Pan-American Union.

The Secretary and Mrs. Kellogg received at the north end of the Hall of Flags. They stood in front of a screen of palms and ferns. Mrs. Kellogg wore a gown of burgundy colored velvet, fashioned along straight lines, with drapery at the sides and long, tight-fitting sleeves. Her hat was a close-fitting model of velvet and felt of the same shade as the gown. She also wore a dark brown fox fur.

A buffet breakfast was served in the Hall of the Americas, where the long table was decorated with vases of scarlet poinsettias and the candelabra with red candles. The Marine Band played in the patio throughout the reception.

The Minister of Austria and Mme. Prochnik will have as their guests the latter's sister, Miss Violet James, who will arrive Sunday from Boston.

The retiring Minister of the Irish Free State, Mr. Timothy Smiddy, who was to have left for Europe Friday, has postponed the date of his sailing to January 11.

The ladies of the Cabinet will be at home this afternoon and on the following Wednesday afternoons in January.

Mrs. Dwight F. Davis, wife of the Secretary of War, will not receive this afternoon.

Mrs. Harry S. New, wife of the Postmaster General, will be at home this afternoon at her home, Hemlock Hedge. Assisting Mrs. New will be Mrs. John H. Bartlett, Mrs. Warren Irving Glover, Mrs. Robert S. Regar, Mrs. James Carroll Fraser and Mrs. Frederick L. Chapin.

Rear Adm. and Mrs. Campbell To Entertain Before Dance

The Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Curtis D. Wilbur are the guests in whose honor Rear Admiral and Mrs. Edward H. Campbell will entertain at dinner this evening preceding the Navy dance at the Willard.

Mrs. Wilbur will not receive this afternoon.

MISS BOOTH OPENS ARMY REFORM WAR

American Commander Is Not Allowed to See Brother, Ill Head of Order.

IS SHUNNED BY HER NIECE

for a meeting, but her niece sent an answer that it was impossible at the moment.

"Such a lot of noise has been made on behalf of the opponents of Gen. Booth," Col. Tucker began, in his discussion of the situation, "that one would think it was a foregone conclusion that he is to be deposed and that an end is to be put to his leadership. There is undeniably a definite split within the army on this issue, but just as many of the delegates to the council will be found standing behind the general as against him.

"My hopes and those of a large number of other people are that when the high council meets and when the delegates get the doctors' report (on Gen. Booth's condition) they will realize that Gen. Booth is quite competent to remain in office."

Controls $150,000,000 in Assets.

To the public, the importance of the identity of the individual at the head of the Salvation Army lies in the fact that the director of its world-wide activities has more or less autocratic control of trust funds and property of a total value of about $150,000,000.

The deed under which the Salvation Army was created provides that the world head of the organization shall be deemed to cease to conform to the duties of his office only "if a resolution adjudicating the general unfit for office and removing him therefrom shall be passed by a majority of not less than three-fourths of the members present and voting in the high council."

"There has been only about one fortnight," declared Col. Tucker, "when Gen. Booth was seriously ill that he could not do anything at all. Otherwise, he has throughout signed all legal documents. He's had a very severe attack of neuritis and an extremely bad nervous breakdown, but the suggestion that he has been mentally affected is absolutely untrue. He's now slowly but surely recovering."

Among the "reformist" element of the army, however, there is a strong sentiment favoring substantial modification of the centralized, one-man control of army affairs. This feeling reached a climax last March when seven commissioners presented to the chief of staff a requisition for summoning the high council.

Nomination Remains Valid.

Until the latter body has promulgated its decision Gen. Booth's nomination of his successor, which is kept in a sealed envelope, remains valid.

Following Col. Tucker's exposition of the views of Gen. Booth's party, Commander Evangeline Booth explained the position of the "reformists" in the following manner:

"Our constitution," she said, "was fr' ' by my father, the founder of the army, in the days when the army was a little parochial mission in the east End of London, and it hasn't been changed since, except in 1904, when he executed an amendment to the foundation deed wherein he brought into being the high council and laid down certain lines as to how to proceed to depose a general who wasn't fit for office and to elect a successor.

"The party for constitutional reform is urging that the clause in the amendment to the foundation deed should be incorporated, leaving the appointment of future generals in the hands of the high council or a similar body, instead of leaving it to the existing head as a personal requisite of his office."

Foresees Other Issues.

"This agitation," Commander Evangeline continued, "culminated in October, 1926, in presentation to the general of a considered memorandum by me embracing 15 points for reform in the constitution. These points dealt chiefly with the position of the general and the memorandum was receiving the attention of my brother, Gen. Bramwell Booth, when he fell ill last May."

Asked what would be her attitude if the high council should decide that the general is fit to continue in office, Commander Evangeline replied:

"The council will have to accept that position but there will arise other issues. The council, for instance, while dissolving, can resolve itself into a body of commissioners, who have powers to meet and so interpret their powers as to discuss any question affecting the constitution of the army. Knowing the attitude of the majority of the members of the high council, I can say quite definitely that it is impossible for the council to separate without some action being taken."

Book, Begun in 1625, Soon to Be Printed

French "Immortals" Promise to Publish Grammar Next Year.

Paris, Jan. 1 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—"The world do move," as some homespun sage observed, but the world of letters at least moves slowly.

Witness the speed in action of the "immortals" of the French Academy: Two hundred and ninety-three years ago that body, the personnel of which remains numerically fixed at 40, although its component individuals change with deaths and new selections, announced that it was going to publish a grammar of the French language.

Now the permanent secretary of the academy promises that the book will actually go to the printer soon—probably in 1930.

At the time of its foundation, in 1635, the French Academy was pledged to undertake publication of three works. Ten years later it was announced that one of these, the long-awaited grammar, was being prepared. The "Immortals," to whom two or three centuries are of slight import, have been preparing it ever since.

Reno Shows 2,000 Gain In Marriage Licenses

Reno, Nev., Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Reno, long celebrated as a divorce center, now steps up as an American Gretna Green.

Marriage licenses issued during 1928 totaled 3,404, which was almost 2,000 more than in 1927. The increase was attributed to the California law requiring three days' notice of an intended marriage to be given in that State. Divorces granted here in 1928 totaled 2,100, as against 1,982 in 1927.

Influenza Keeps Schools Shut.

for Hemorrhoids apply Gordshell's all Healing Salve

"I have known Gordshell's Ointment for thirty years, having used it personally, and also having had many opportunities to observe its effects when used by persons under my professional treatment.

"The results of its application have always been satisfactory, not only in cases of slight abrasions of the skin but also in many very obstinate cases of chronic ulcerations. It is clean and soothing in application and conducive to healing.

"I believe it to be free from injurious constituents, and from what I know of its effects I can recommend it as a safe and efficient remedy for any nonmalignant ulceration of the skin.

"Very truly yours,

PROHIBITION OBEYED, YELLOWLEY THINKS

Some Few Drink, Chicago Director Asserts, but Most Are Reconciled.

ARRESTS ARE FALLING OFF

Chicago, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—E. C. Yellowley, prohibition administrator for the Chicago district, today declared that the New Year's celebrations indicate the city and country are becoming reconciled to prohibition, and are not finding it so very painful.

"A certain few," he said, "persisted in trying to drink but they were in isolated cases. Reports from my men showed a very satisfactory respect for the prohibition laws."

Only one raid was made by the prohibition officials who toured the city New Year's eve and only three arrests were made. Prohibition agents in hotels and cafes mingled with the guests and ordered the management to confiscate bottles or flasks openly displayed but made no arrests and made no effort to find hip flasks not on tables.

Fewer Arrests Made.

Chicago hotels which entertained 14,000 guests and the night clubs and cafes which entertained probably as many more, characterized the celebration as the liveliest in the city's history.

Mr. Yellowley said fewer arrests were made this year than any previous year and said several places would be observed further as a result of evidence obtained by his men last night.

In his annual report released today, Mr. Yellowley observed that "definite and advanced results" in enforcement of prohibition had been accomplished in the last year, adding that diversion of bonded liquor has been reduced to a minimum and that smuggling from Canada is one of the problems faced by agents now. However, he said, less than 2 per cent of the liquor seized in this district has been found to be real whisky.

Moonshine Now Problem.

Diversion of industrial alcohol has been cut in half and the principal problem of prohibition enforcement now is the individual moonshine distiller rather than the large producer of former years and he predicted this would be remedied with cooperation from the new State's attorney and the United States district attorney.

During the year, said the report, property valued at $3,672,764.54 was seized in the district and permanent injunctions against 1,154 places were obtained, while 6,272 arrests were made. More than 93,000 gallons of alcohol, 309,000 gallons of beer and 2,298,000 gallons of mash were seized.

Poison, Taken on Dare, Kills New Year Guest

Towanda, Pa., Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Louis Myers, 26, died today from the effects of poison taken on a dare at a New Year's party here last night. Guests were discussing the recent suicide of Miss Esther Vanderpool, 19, when Myers obtained a bottle of the same poison the girl swallowed.

Reappearing among the guests, he asked if any one dared him to drink it. Thinking he had placed water in the bottle and was joking, a member of the party "called" the dare and Myers drained the bottle.

SHOT KILLS REVELER, POLICEMEN ACCUSED

Companion of Slain Man, Also Hit in Detroit, Asserts Patrolmen Fired.

WITNESSES SEE FLASHES

Detroit, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Beuren Garrell and Harry Lee, patrolmen attached to the Canfield station, were arrested today on charges of manslaughter after the death of Harold Burkart, 25, a New Year's reveler, who, witnesses said, was struck by a bullet fired by one of the policemen.

An assistant prosecuting attorney said charges of manslaughter would be preferred against the person or persons firing the shot.

Stephen Kim, one of Burkhart's companions, was wounded in the shoulder in the fusillade which struck down Burkhart.

The policemen admitted firing their pistols in the air in celebration of the New Year, but denied they had fired directly at either Burkhart or Kim.

Kim's account of the affair was that he, Burkhart and other companions were walking down a street when they passed the policemen and exchanged salutations. After proceeding a short distance, he said, he heard the discharge of a weapon and felt a pain in his shoulder. About the same time, he added, Burkhart pitched forward on his face. Kim fainted and was taken to the hospital.

Witnesses of the shooting declared one of the policemen raised his gun shoulder high and fired a second before Kim and Burkhart were struck. Five persons identified Garrell as the man who fired the shot.

Garrell and Lee explained that there was considerable promiscuous discharge of firearms in the vicinity where Burkhart was killed and said their opinion was that Burkhart was killed by a wild shot fired by some one a considerable distance away.

A post-mortem examination to learn the caliber of gun from which the shot was fired that killed Burkhart was ordered by the prosecutor.

DRY REORGANIZATION OPPOSED BY DORAN

"Mechanics" of Bureau Better Than Ever, Declares Commissioner.

(United Press.)

Prohibition Commissioner J. M. Doran predicted yesterday that dry law enforcement work would be more proficient and personal observance of the eighteenth amendment to the Constitution would be more general in the new year than at any time since prohibition.

"We get into the new year with the mechanics of the Prohibition Bureau in better shape than ever before, so far as organization goes," he told the United Press in an exclusive interview.

"The prospects of eliminating sources of bootleg supplies were never better, but the machine as it is must be left alone. If any one attempts a new reorganization of the bureau it would be like trying to unscramble eggs."

Cocktails To Go, He Says.

Doran said he was convinced the general public is slowly becoming accustomed to soft drinks instead of intoxicating beverages. He said many are even gradually eliminating near beer as a thirst quencher.

"We are steadily pushing commercial traffickers to the wall and this removes opportunity to drink. Eventually it is hoped the entire populace will become accustomed to nonintoxicating refreshments instead of celebrating with gin cocktails and whisky highballs.

"This can be brought about by educating the younger generations. Young people who now imbibe, drink for the novelty of it and to get a thrill. American youngsters are not half as bad as some people try to paint them.

Cites "Life Saver" for Many.

"It takes years for the liquor habit to develop and taking one or two drinks every few weeks does not develop the habit. Prohibition is one certain cure for the drink habit. It has been a life saver for the fellows who had to have five or six drinks of whisky every day to keep them moving."

Doran's view is reflected in a statement by F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Antisaloon League, who said yesterday there was every indication that voluntary observance of prohibition would increase. McBride, however, warned that the dry forces expect to seek more severe legislation with more extreme penalties for certain classes of offenders. He recommended deportation of aliens who violate the law, more severe punishment for commercial violators and extreme penalties for violations which lead to drinking by young people.

DRY LAW ENFORCED, VOLSTEAD ASSERTS

Year's Greatest Success Is Stopping Diversion of Alcohol, He Adds.

SEES "TOPERS" PASSING

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 1 (United Press).—Prohibition enforcement the past year was rigid and successful and 1929 will be a "banner year" in reducing liquor consumption, Andrew J. Volstead, "father of the dry law," declared today.

"The greatest achievement of last year," the former Minnesota representative in Congress said, "was the successful stoppage at its source of alcoholic diversion from legal to illegal uses. Illicit diversion of alcohol is almost a thing of the past. Shipments of alcohol and alcoholic preparations in carload lots have also practically disappeared."

The absence of the saloon, he said, has dispensed with the former problem of "topers," who gradually are passing out of existence.

"Some young people drink, no doubt," Volstead added, "but they think it is smart. As there are no saloons, however, it is not likely that they will acquire the habit. The 'topers' were once our greatest problem, but are now only a minor consideration. As time goes on they will gradually pass away and we will have less trouble."

Volstead said the real battleground for national prohibition enforcement was in the big cities. He named New York, Detroit, Chicago, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Boston as the country's "wettest" spots.

"The day of the big bootlegger is gone from many districts," he added, "and the reign of the erstwhile liquor czars in other places is diminishing."

THE CHOICEST BEEF
from the International Livestock Exposition

—in thick juicy steaks . . . full-bodied roasts . . . tender cuts on Pennsylvania trains this week

Your mouth can't help watering—and your eyes shine, as your knife cuts keenly this tender beef. . . From within its sizzling, appetizing exterior, savory juices flow forth—palate-tickling!

This week on Pennsylvania trains the choicest of all choice beef will be served: as steaks—as roasts—tender cuts in a variety of toothsome dishes. Whatever the cut, it's the finest beef the country produces—prize-winning beef from the famous International Exposition in Chicago. Hundreds of Pennsylvania cooks have been schooled in the royal etiquette of its preparation.

They are trained twice each week in three special schools. And they know how to cook prize foods!

Ask for prize beef this week on the diners of Pennsylvania trains. It will add zest to your trip.

CHRYSLER PREDICTS RECORD PROSPERITY

Expects Auto Export Total to Reach 1,000,000 in 1929 for New Mark.

LEADERS ARE OPTIMISTIC

New York, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—The year 1929 should be one of unprecedented prosperity, in the opinion of Walter P. Chrysler, president and chairman of the Chrysler Corporation, who bases his belief on the theory that the present state of prosperity is in thorough keeping with modern speed, to which he says the automobile has contributed mightily.

"Generally speaking," Mr. Chrysler said, "business is excellent and will be better in most lines. Manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers are not ununduly overextended in credit. Industry is not suffering from the overproduction which has sometimes characterized it in the past. I can see nothing but good signs along the road of business in the present year.

"Our automobile industry will achieve another production and sales record. I believe the figure will be approximately 4,750,000 cars by the end of next December. I believe the United States and Canada will export approximately 1,000,000 automobiles, thus realizing an ambition that has dominated our manufacturers for some time."

Stock Trading to Continue.

William Beatty, president of the New York Produce Exchange, believes that trading in securities steadily will increase.

"One reason for this," he explained, "seems to be that modern invention and better organization of industry has speeded up the creation of wealth, and a sound political and economic system has distributed the earnings of this process into the hands of millions of people."

Wesley O. Ash, manager of the San Francisco Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of the United States Department of Commerce, said indications point to a healthy increase in the foreign trade of the Pacific Coast for 1929, especially agricultural products. He estimates 130 ships, equipped with refrigerating machinery, will leave San Francisco for foreign ports as compared with 90 in 1928, while for the first time in history there will be direct service through the Panama Canal supplying both general and refrigerator cargoes to Argentina and Brazil.

The many applications of electricity and the usefulness and attractiveness of electrical products, according to Huntington B. Crouse, president of the National Electric Manufacturers Association, have stimulated the growth of the electrical industry in all its branches and have supplied many of the facilities that enabled other industries to reach new heights of prosperity during 1928. He sees added proof each year that the Nation is becoming electrical-minded.

Agricultural Conditions Improved.

Griff Johnson, vice president of the Equitable Life Insurance Co. of Iowa, of Des Moines, reports 1928 showed marked improvement in agricultural conditions throughout the Middle West. The general mental attitude now is more favorable, he says, inquiry about farms has been more active than at any time since 1919 and selling prices have shown a trend to higher levels.

More expensive boats, built for private owners, were launched during 1928 than in any other year on record and orders for 1929 have set a mark far beyond that of 1928, says Joseph A. MacDonald, president of Henry J. Gielow, Inc., of New York. "Foreign constructed yachts are no longer assumed to be superior," he explained, "and the day that we anticipated for many years is here. American yachts are built in American yards."

Post's Thrift Plan Offers Chance to Keep Resolutions

Readers Who Desire to Save During New Year May Do So Without Cost to Themselves; January 15 Is Limit for Opening Accounts.

Now that the New Year has been officially opened, have you made any resolutions on saving for the holidays which will come at the close of 1929?

There is no time like the present to begin a plan of thrift which will relieve you of untold worry when the time comes to do your Christmas shopping this year.

Believing that the average reader of The Washington Post likes to have extra cash on hand to handle the shopping problem when it arrives, this paper has offered a thrift plan whereby readers may have Christmas savings accounts opened in their names with dollars furnished by The Post.

If you have not taken advantage of this offer the warning is issued that such accounts must be opened by January 15 as that is the date on which the banks close their books for savings clubs.

Persons not subscribing to The Post, but who buy the paper on the street may have The Post delivered to their homes at the same price. A three-month subscription will result in the opening of a savings account with a dollar to your credit. Those who are subscribers may secure the same advantages by obtaining a subscription from a friend.

Both old and new subscribers need not stop after they have accounts opened, for The Post will pay one dollar for each three-month subscription reported, thus enabling readers to maintain their weekly payments with dollars furnished by the Post.

The value of Christmas Savings Clubs has been demonstrated in Washington by the fact that 80,000 such accounts were carried in 1928 with banks mailing out checks for $7,000,000 on December 1.

You will want to be one of the lucky ones next December 1 and The Washington Post presents a chance to do so without any cost to yourself. Get in line at once. Subscription blanks are carried in advertisements in The Post from day to day.

REV. C. H. WILLIAMS RITES

Services Will Be Held This Afternoon at Zion Baptist Church.

Funeral services for the Rev. Charles H. Williams, 96 years old, who was one of the oldest residents of Washington and who died Sunday at his home, 763 Kenyon street northwest, will be held at 1 o'clock this afternoon at the Zion Baptist Church. Burial will be in the Woodlawn Cemetery.

He was born near Richmond, Va., and was educated for the ministry, but he did not follow the profession. He was active, however, in church activities, particularly at the Zion Baptist Church here.

Surviving him are four daughters, Mrs. Katie Hall, Mrs. Cora B. Mason, Mrs. Minnie Brown and Mrs. Margaret Good Scott, and two sons, Samuel A. Williams and Joseph H. Williams. He was the stepfather of Mrs. Cerise White.

Benjamin Carter, Attorney, Is Dead

Former Assistant in Cleveland Regime Expires in Tennessee.

Benjamin Carter, attorney in Washington for 30 years, died at his sister's home in Pulaski, Tenn., yesterday, according to word received here. He had been ill about a year.

Mr. Carter was born in Tennessee October 18, 1861, and received his early education in that state. He came to Washington from Birmingham, where he had been engaged in the practice of law, to become assistant to the attorney general in Cleveland's cabinet. Since that time he had practiced law here until about a month ago when ill health forced him to return to Tennessee.

He is survived by the sister, Miss Cynthia Carter, of Pulaski. Funeral arrangements had not been completed yesterday.

MISS MARY C. HOYLE'S RITES

Woman Prominent in Washington Is Buried at St. Louis.

Funeral services were held yesterday in St. Louis for Miss Mary C. Hoyle, who died of pneumonia Saturday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Karl W. Core, at Ford City, Pa.

Miss Hoyle, who was well known in Washington, was the daughter of the late Charles Hoyle and Mrs. Caroline Hoyle. She also is survived by a brother, Charles Hoyle. She was a niece of Mrs. John Hays Hammond.

COPPER IN FOOD HELD NOT DISEASE CAUSE

Rockefeller Institute Claims Research Shows Mallory Theory Wrong.

TESTS LAST THREE YEARS

New York, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—The Journal of Experimental Medicine reports in its current issue that from evidence now at hand the quantities of copper found in food and drinking water will not injure any human organ. Furthermore, evidence is accumulating to show that small amounts of the metal have a beneficial effect on the blood in cases of anemia, it says.

The periodical, published by the Rockefeller Institute, made public today the results of nearly three years of research at the college of physicians and surgeons, Columbia University.

The problem was studied because experiments elsewhere had associated copper poisoning with the rare disease known as hemochromatosis and because the increased use of copper and its alloys in American homes had made desirable definite knowledge of the possibilities of such poisoning.

"The findings are of unusual interest to the medical profession," said the announcement, "because they refute the theory that copper is the etiological agent of the human disease hemochromatosis, which was advanced several years ago by Dr. Mallory, the eminent pathologist of the Boston City Hospital."

Studies by Two Scientists.

The scientists conducting the Columbia experiments were Dr. Frederick B. Flinn, director of industrial hygiene at the medical college, and Dr. William C. von Glahn, associate professor of pathology.

Mallory, a pathologist who had been interested for some time in the subject of cirrhosis of the liver, came to the conclusion that copper might be the underlying cause of the comparatively rare disease known as hemochromatosis, which has generally been found among men of middle age.

The Boston pathologist had noted that most of the persons who died of the disease during a sudden rise in its incidence had been drinkers of bootleg liquor. An analysis of samples of liquor sold in Boston revealed the presence of copper, which was believed to have been dissolved from the coils of the stills in which the beverage was made.

Mallory Claimed Discovery.

In an attempt to show that the pigmentation of the liver accompanying hemochromatosis was due to copper, Dr. Mallory fed copper acetate to rabbits and concluded that the resulting changes in their livers were comparable to those found in hemochromatosis cases.

With the knowledge that copper is found universally in all plant and animal life—in most vegetables as well as in milk—Dr. Flinn and Dr. Von Glahn set about determining whether feeding copper or its compounds to animals was responsible for the pigmentaation of the liver. Rabbits, rats and guinea pigs were used in their research.

The scientists learned that virtually all of the metal thus fed was eliminated and that, although various organs might contain very small quantities of copper, the liver was the main storage place of such as was retained.

The experiments divulged that copper was not the cause of the pigment deposit in a rabbit's liver, since the same change was produced when sodium acetate was given with a standard diet.

Nothing definite regarding the nature of the pigment can be said at present, the investigators asserted, although the evidence indicates that it originates in an internal process.

MRS. FANNIE GUSACK DIES.

Widow of Max Gusack was 75 Years Old; Rites Tomorrow.

Mrs. Fannie Gusack, died at her home, 1640 Kalorama road northwest, yesterday. She was 75 years old.

Mrs. Gusack had been a resident of Washington about 40 years and was the widow of Max Gusack, who died in 1913. She is survived by three sons, Samuel V. Gusack, a local attorney; Charles M. and Harry Gusack, financial editor of the Washington Times, and three daughters, Mrs. Morris Porton, of Tampa, Fla.; Estelle and Jennie Gusack, of this city.

Funeral services will be held at the chapel of Bernard Danzansky, 3501 Fourteenth street northwest, tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. Burial will be in the Hebrew Congregation Cemetery.

Don't Let That Cold Turn Into "Flu"

That cold may turn into "Flu," Grippe or, even worse, Pneumonia, unless you take care of it at once.

Rub Musterole on the congested parts and see how quickly it brings relief as effectively as the messy old mustard plaster.

Musterole, made from pure oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other simple ingredients, is a counter-irritant which stimulates circulation and helps break up the cold.

You will feel a warm tingle as it enters the pores, then a cooling sensation that brings welcome relief.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—The New York Cotton Exchange tomorrow will inaugurate trading in a new contract embracing deliveries at Houston, Galveston, New Orleans, Charleston and Norfolk as well as New York. Trading will start for next October delivery and quotations beginning tomorrow will be on old contracts for contracts ranging from January to September, old and new for October and November and new for December and later positions as they become active.

Maturities of railroad bonds and notes during 1929 are estimated at more than $353,000,000, as compared with $292,000,000 in 1928, and $357,000,000 in 1927. Maturities of Public Utility bonds and notes are placed at $281,000,000, the largest in five years, against $208,000,000 in 1928 and $280,000,000 in 1927.

Marine Engineering and Shipping Age says that while shipbuilding returns for 1928 showed a marked decrease in the amount of tonnage built in the United States, as compared with that of 1927, the outlook for new construction in 1929 is encouraging. Plans and specifications indicate construction of twenty passenger and cargo vessels for carrying mail under the Jones-White bill, while it is expected at least twelve additional mail, cargo and passenger vessels will be built. Some twenty other ships will be built for coastwise, intercoastal or harbor service. During 1928, 452 merchant vessels of all types were delivered by 42 American shipyards, with a total of 231,521 gross tons, while 33 yards reported 124 merchant vessels of 104,305 gross tons for 1928 output presents a 41.5 per cent decrease from that of 1927, but a 3.5 per cent increase over 1926.

David McAlpin, who once worked as a clerk for Clark, Dodge & Co., Wall street commission house, during summer vacations from Princeton and Harvard, has been admitted to the firm as a general partner.

Certificates of deposit issued under the plan for exchange of preference and common stock of the Chandler-Cleveland Motors Corporation for common stock of the Hupp Motor Car Corporation have been listed on the New York Stock Exchange. Deposits under the plan must be made by January 10.

Public offering will be made shortly of 50,000 shares of convertible preference stock, no par value, of the newly organized Kirsch Company, which has taken over assets of the Kirsch Manufacturing Corporation.

Advices received in Wall street from Italy say the Magneto Marelli Co. has obtained exclusive rights to manufacture Exide storage batteries for sale to Italian automotive manufacturers.

The STORY OF THE GEMS
The Diamond
Its Characteristics
IN addition to its uses for purely ornamental purposes, the diamond is the hardest known substance, and on this account is used extensively to cut other hard surfaces. It is interesting, however, that in spite of its hardness, it has no resiliency and, thus, can be smashed with a hammer-blow.
With the increase in scientific knowledge, it has become possible to manufacture diamonds by subjecting carbon to sudden changes of heat and cold under enormous pressure. For diamonds are identical with charcoal or graphite, but in crystalline form. Thus, if you heat a stone in oxygen, it will burn brilliantly.
The money you invest in some securities will likewise burn up, if conditions become hot enough. This is the reason why cool-headed investors prefer the First Mortgages issued by Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey Co., because for nearly sixty years they have remained safe and secure through burning times of wars and panics, as well as during cool times of peace and prosperity.
If you are cold and calculating, you shouold choose these investments for your funds. They are always available and pay interest at 6%.

Joey Sangor Outpoints Morgan

Champ Refused Bout on Foul in Fourth Round.

State Law Saves Title as Body Attack Is Decisive.

By CHARLES W. DUNKLEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 1.—Joey Sangor, of Milwaukee, knocked out two weeks ago by an opponent he figured to be a push-over, staged a remarkable comeback by decisively defeating Tod Morgan, of Seattle, Wash., junior lightweight champion, in a smashing ten-round battle here this afternoon.

The only reason Sangor is not the new ruler of the 130-pound division is because the Wisconsin law prohibits decisions by a referee or judges. Sangor, however, won the verdict in the opinion of the majority of the newspaper experts, with only one or two dissenting.

The match, fought in the Milwaukee Auditorium, drew a capacity crowd of 8,500 with receipts from $25,000 to $30,000. It was the biggest gate in Milwaukee since the days of Ritchie Mitchell.

Morgan had a chance to win the fight in the fourth round, when, during a furious toe to toe rally in mid-ring, Sangor cut loose with a sweeping left hook that sunk deep in the foul territory.

It was the second foul blow Sangor landed in this session. Morgan sank to his knees, apparently suffering intense pain, but gamely refused to take the fight on a foul and resumed the battle after a short rest.

From then on, Sangor moved out in front, taking the play away from the weakened Seattle boy by a furious body attack in close and short left and right punches to the head. Sangor was busy all the time in the last five rounds, pounding away with both fists to the body, with Morgan frequently in retreat. He apparently was laying back waiting for a chance to knock Sangor out with a short right cross to the chin.

The freckled-faced Milwaukee boy, knocked out in two rounds by Armando Santiago, a Cuban youth, in Chicago a fortnight ago, started out cautiously, but quickly regained his old fighting skill after the first round. In the opening session he made Morgan miss repeatedly by slipping inside his leads, but showed no instinct to do much leading.

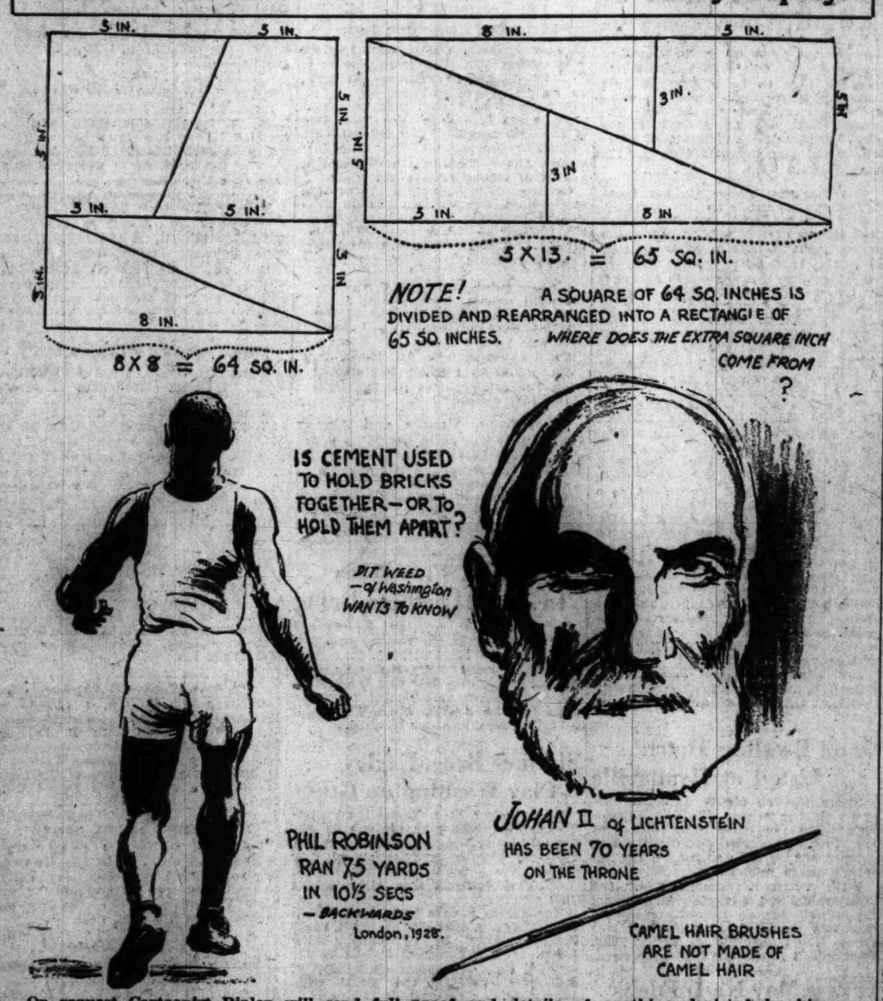

In the second, however, Sangor began scoring with left jabs to the face, with Morgan trying to nail him with rigat punches to the chin near the close of the round. Morgan tried vainly to put an end to the battle in the third by cracking the Milwaukee boy with six right crosses and three left hooks.

The fourth round was furiously fought, with Sangor trading punches in a midring rally that had the spectators on their feet screaming. It was during one of these midring slugging rallies that Sangor unintentionally fouled the champion. Morgan dropped to his knees, but was able to go to his corner without assistance.

Frank Churchill, manager of the champion, was first inclined to claim the fight on a foul, but representatives of the Wisconsin Athletic Commission jumped into the ring and after a hurried conference decided to give the champion time to recover from the effects of the punch.

The blow apparently damaged Morgan, because he lacked speed when he went out for the fifth. Morgan was guilty of holding and backing away with Sangor crowding in close, centering his shots at the body.

Believe It or Not —By Ripley.

On request Cartoonist Ripley will send full proof and details of anything depicted by him.

Ripley's explanation of the mysterious square-inch. This phenomenon which nonmathematicians find so perplexing is due to the fact that the edges which, in the rectangle, lie along the diagonal, do not coincide exactly in direction. In reality they form a small diamond-shaped figure whose area is equal to one square inch. The angle between the two sides of this diamond-shaped figure is less than 1¼ degrees. It is difficult for the eye to distinguish so small an angle unless the figure is drawn with great accuracy and care.

Believe it or not,
RIPLEY.

CENTRAL FIVE DOWNED BY ALUMNI

Burch Star as Grads Win, 30-25; Game Is Close Throughout.

THE alumni of the various local high schools have something on the undergraduates as far as basket ball is concerned. Yesterday the Central Five was added to the list of victims, losing to its Alumni, 30 to 25 in the Mount Pleasant gymnasium.

At that Central players put up a plucky fight although falling, forcing the Alumni to the limit to gain the verdict. Benny Burch, star of many an encounter last year and an all-high selection, proved the man of the hour for the Alumni, his six field goals proving the inspiration for his team to get started in the winning direction. Mickey Macdonald also played in a manner to lend moral support by finding the rims for four goals from the floor and a foul toss for nine points.

Ed DeLisio and Capt. Ken Fisher were the outstanding players for Coach Coggins' present Central team. De-

Almost the Naked Truth

—By JAMES S. COLLINS—

NEW YORK, Jan. 1.—The principal sporting task devolving on the infant year is the production of a worthy tenant for the heavyweight boxing throne that has been vacant since Gene Tunney went social register last summer. In all probability some one of the contenders now before the public will have demonstrated by the time another new year rolls around that he is the best of the crop, but this will not necessarily mean, brethren, that the proletariat will robe him in royal raiment.

No one is going to win universal recognition as champion until he has shown real championship class. The Sharkeys, Striblings, Paulinos, Heeneys, &c., will have to show a lot more than any of them did while they were stumbling through last winter's elimination tournament. It's a lot to hope for, but here's hoping 1929 produces another Dempsey. Too much? Well, then, another Tunney will do.

Tilden Will Play, and Spotless, When Gate Receipts Show Need.

The advent of the gladsome new year finds Bill Tilden still outside the tennis fold, but if he is doing any bleating about his plight it is inaudible in this quarter. Tilden probably knows very well that by the time his presence on the courts is needed to stimulate the gate receipts, he will again be as spotless officially as the long overdue snow. That is, unless his legs, arms and eyes go back on him in the meantime. In that case he will find that the U. S. L. T. A. has stood for the last of his monkeyshines. Observing their past vacillations, one might not suspect so, but the officials of the U. S. L. T. A. can be firm when conditions are just right.

Giants, in Withholding News of Kenny's Purchase, Arouse Interest.

President Charles A. Stoneham, of the Giants, and William J. Kenny, whose purchase of a fifth interest in the club leaked out a few days ago, both deny that the transaction presages any change in the control or management of the organization. Both declare that Mr. Kenny was actuated solely by a desire to invest some of his surplus cash in an enterprise at once financially profitable and attractive as a sporting proposition to an enthusiastic fan. Neither explains why the Giant management denied that such a transaction had taken place when a rumor of it ran around the town three months ago, or the curious fact that it was not revealed for six months and would not be known now unless it had leaked out.

Mr. Stoneham professes to be elated that a man of Mr. Kenny's high standing should become associated in the ownership of the club. One would think there would have been great public rejoicing at the time if such had been the case. The transaction may have been all in a day's work to a man of large affairs like Mr. Kenny, but it seems strange that the Giant officials withheld this morsel from the news hounds who daily haunt their offices.

The fistic record of Joe Oliver, who meets Spike Webb in one of those four-round atrocities in Madison Square Garden Friday night, is not very hot, even for a curtain-raising heavyweight, but is unique in one respect. Mr. Oliver's first fight, which resulted in a one-punch knockout victory for himself, was fought with a horse.

At that time Mr. Oliver, a mighty man with muscles on his brawny arms as strong as iron bands, was, of all things, a blacksmith. He was peacefully pursuing the trade that Bob Fitzsummons and Hank Longfellow made famous when one day a horse to whom he was ministering, basely and with felonious intent, kicked him in the

SCHOOL FIVES MAY DELAY START

Tech Gym Not Ready; Postponement Decision Due Today.

THE high school series basket ball situation, which has as its chief item of importance right now, the determining of a site for the opening games scheduled tomorrow, and which has created concern on the part of coaches, players, and faculty advisers alike, seems to be one more day off in deciding just where the games will be played, as it was learned last night that the Tech gymnasium will not be ready until a week from tomorrow because of the delay in arrival of the baskets and seats.

There is a possibility that the games tomorrow, which are scheduled to bring the Central and Western Teams together, as well as Eastern and Tech, will be postponed, along with the games of next Tuesday, which brings Tech against Western and Business against Central.

The postponement of the games would be made to keep all of the contests in one place, even though a late start would end the series later than ever before. The games for tomorrow and Tuesday, should this plan be carried out, would be placed on the tail end of the schedule, with the series opening Friday, January 11, with Business meeting Eastern and Central engaging Tech.

It is with this idea in view that S. T. Kimbel, raculty adviser at Central will go to G. Harris White, athletic director of the high schools, today to confer on the ultimate solving of the situation, which has now become a problem. According to Kimbel, his plan of postponing the series until January 11 would give ample time for the Tech gymnasium to be gotten in readiness, while it would do away with the jumping from one local college gymnasium to another for the first set of games.

Another U. S. Invasion Planned by Luis Firpo

Buenos Aires, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Victory over Roberto Roberti, giant Italian heavyweight, and a "substantial offer," will bring Luis Angel Firpo, once the wild bull of the prize ring, back to active competition in the United States.

Firpo, who lost a sensational battle with Jack Dempsey for the heavyweight title in 1923 after belting the champion from the ring, is scheduled to "comeback" against Roberti here in six weeks, in his last attempt to regain top form Firpo barely edged out a decision here over Herminio Spalla in 1926.

The shaggy-haired Argentine says he is training strenuously for the Roberti match but critics, recalling his poor showing in an exhibition December 16, are skeptical of his intentions. He appeared slow then, and greatly overweight.

So far, Luis says, the "substantial offer" has not been forthcoming, although "there's always something doing."

Shore Beaten In Tennis Finals

Bows to Murphy in Straight Sets for Jr. Indoor Title.

D. C. Janior Champion Outclassed, Losing 6—1, 6—2, 6—2.

Special to The Washington Post.

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 1.—Richard Murphy, left-handed youngster, from Utica, N. Y., is the possessor of the national indoor tennis crown for juniors. Murphy was accorded the honors today by defeating Frank Shore, of Washington, in the final round of the tournament which came to a close at the Fifth Regiment Armory this afternoon. He won in three straight sets and was not extended by the Capital man in any of them. The scores were 6—1, 6—1, 6—2. Murphy succeeded Frank Shields, of New York, who failed to enter the tournament.

The Utica lad dominated the play from start to finish. He started by winning his own service, broke through that of his opponent and ran out the first set without much trouble.

The second set was very much on the same order until the score stood 3 to 0 in Murphy's favor. Then Shore rallied and broke through to win on Murphy's service for the first of the match.

After a few minutes, it looked as if Shore would be able to make a better showing. He began to take more chances and got away with a good many of them. Murphy steadied, won on his opponent's service again to make it 5 to 2 and ran out the set.

Murphy took things rather easily in the third set after starting with a rush to give himself a working margin. He ran up a lead of four games to one. Shore then started another rally, won his own service, but it was his final spurt, for Murphy took the next two games for set, match and title.

Murphy also shared glory in the junior doubles championship. He and S. P. Hayes, of South Hadley, Mass., defeated Billy Jacobs, of Baltimore, and Richard Covington, of University of North Carolina, in three straight sets. The scores were 6—3, 8—6, 6—1.

Genaro to Risk Title In Rodriguez Fight

New York, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Frankie Genaro, world's champion of the bantamweights in the eyes of the National Boxing Association, has signed to meet Blas Rodriguez, of Mexico, in Mexico City, the latter part of this month. Genaro's N. B. A. title will be at stake.

Stribling Knocks Out League in First Round

Kansas City, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Young Stribling tonight knocked out Jack League, Texas heavyweight, in the first round of their scheduled 10-round bout here with a right cross to the jaw.

At the opening of the round League knocked Stribling down with a right to the chin.

D. C. Runners Far Back In Finish of Marathon

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 1.—Washingtonians fared badly today in the fourth annual New Year's Day 10-mile modified marathon sponsored by the Emerywood Club. The course was over Baltimore streets and the running was done throughout a light rain.

Covering the distance in 57 minutes and 28 seconds, less than 3 minutes more than the record, Paul Mundy, of the Nativity Catholic Club, of Philadelphia, captured first honors. His brother, Joe, was an easy second, finishing 13 2-5 seconds behind the winner.

Haskell F. Clark, unattached, of Washington, finished nineteenth. His time was 64 minutes and 7 2-5 seconds. Roland E. Parrish, of the American University, Washington, came in thirty-fifth, and J. H. Montague, unattached, of Washington, was thirty-ninth.

Rockne Not Considering Position at Ohio State

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—The Ohio State Journal tomorrow will say that Knute Rockne will remain as football coach at Notre Dame University and is not open to a proposition to coach Ohio State's football team next fall, as successor to Dr. J. W. Wilce, resigned.

Quoting a correspondent who journeyed to South Bend, Ind., for an interview with the famous coach, the Journal will say that Rockne plans to hold himself to his contract which has four years to run.

"I have not been offered the Ohio State job," the paper quotes Rockne as saying, "although I had a conference with L. W. St. John, its athletic director, at New Orleans last week. However, he conferred with a dozen coaches.

"I would rather not comment on the athletic situation at Ohio State, except to say it presents a great opportunity for some coach, whoever is chosen."

British Uniteds Score In Baltimore Contest

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 1.—The Fairlawn Rovers lost a 2-to-1 game to the British United Soccer Team, of Washington, on a muddy pitch at Clifton Park today. The visiting team is composed of players from the British Embassy in Washington. The Rovers missed several fine chances to add to their score, particularly two penalty kicks, both of which failed to tally. The first one was stopped when Taylor, goal for the British Team, made a fine save of a hard boot.

The British Team scored twice in the first half on goals shot by K. Knight inside right forward, and W. Smith, inside left forward, the defense holding the Rovers without a tally in this period.

PLAY-BY-PLAY ACCOUNT OF GEORGIA TECH VICTORY

(By Associated Press.)

FIRST PERIOD.

Capt. Pond, of Georgia Tech, and Phillips, of California, a couple of giants, met in midfield with a hearty hand clasp as Referee Dana spun a coin for the toss. Phillips was lucky and called the turn. He chose to receive, defending the South goal.

Waddy kicked off, Schmidt receiving and coming back 15 yards to California's 34-yard line. Barr hit center for a yard and Lom brought the crowd up cheering with a 37-yard dash after a fake punt. He was downed on Tech's 27-yard line.

Barr made 3 yards on the plunges. Lom picked left tackle for 3 yards. Tech regained the ball on the next play when Barr was rushed on a fake place kick and dropped for a 10-yard loss.

Mizell hit the line for a yard but Tech was penalized 5 yards on the next play for having the back field in motion. Mizell kicked and Breckenridge was dropped in his tracks on his own 41-yard line.

Barr slashed off 4 yards at left tackle. Schmidt hit center for 2 yards and a 5-yard penalty against Tech for off side gave the Bears first down on Tech's 48-yard line. Lom ripped off 6 yards at right tackle, was held for no gain on another try and Schmidt added 2 at center. Lom kicked, the ball going out of bounds on Tech's 16-yard line.

Thomason made a yard and Mizell punted on the next play. Breckenridge was tackled by Waddey on the 39-yard line. Lom packed the ball on a reverse and a fake pass, but failed to gain either time.

Mares broke through to drop Barr for a 5-yard loss and Lom punted on the next play. Thomason was dropped on Tech's 18-yard line. Tech rooters had a chance to cheer and did, when Mizell broke loose and ran 25 yards. He was downed on California's 49-yard line.

Lumpkin hit guard for 3 yards and Mizell added six at right end. Thomason made it first down on California's 37-yard line.

Lumpkin was held for no gain but Mizell swept around right end for 5 yards. The Bears took the ball on their own 37-yard line when Thomason fumbled and Barr recovered.

Barr hit center for a yard and added 7 more at left tackle. Schmidt hit center for a yard as the first period ended.

Score: U. C., 0; Georgia Tech, 0.

SECOND PERIOD.

Lom kicked, the ball going out of bounds on Tech's 20-yard line. Mizell went off tackle for 3 yards, and Lumpkin chalked up another 2 yards at Center. Mizell punted to Breckenridge, who returned 3 yards, stopping on California's 49-yard line.

Barr found a hole at right tackle for a yard and Schmidt added 3 at center. The Bears made its first down on Tech's 40-yard line when Lom made a short pass to Breckenridge.

The Bears lost 5 yards for taking too much time out.

The Bears made another first down when the officials allowed Lom's pass to Avery after Shulman, Tech quarter, had interfered with the receiver. It put the ball on Tech's 30-yard line.

Tech recovered the ball on downs after the Bears had rolled up 5 yards on two line plunges, but failed to complete a pass, Lom to Barr, on the fourth down.

Tech went into action on its own 25-yard line. Thomas fumbled and one of the greatest "boners" in gridiron history followed. Riegels, center and captain-elect of the Bears, snatched up the oval and, after starting for Tech's goal, suddenly reversed and ran 75 yards to within 1 foot of his own goal line.

Just before he could step over the line, another Californian caught up with him and pulled him back. Tech scored a safety on the next play when Lom's attempted kick from in back of his own goal line was blocked, and Barr fell on the ball.

Score, Georgia Tech, 2; U. C., 0.

Miller replaced Riegels at center and Schlicting went in for Barr at right half, in the Bear line up.

Lom kicked from his own 30-yard line to put the ball into play.

Tech was penalized 15 yards, putting the ball on its own 40-yard line. Lumpkin smacked guard for 4 yards and Mizell kicked, Breckenridge making a fair catch on the Bear 16-yard line.

Lom kicked after the catch and Lumkin returned to Tech's 45-yard line. Thomson skirted right end for 9 yards, stopping on California's 46-yard line.

Dunlap replaced Mizell at Tech's left half. Lumkin made it first down on California's 44-yard line. Dunlap went around right end for 3 yards and passed to Jones on the next play for a 22-yard gain. It put the ball on California's 14-yard line.

Tech was penalized 5 yards for off-side.

Cockburn replaced Schmidt at full back for the Bears.

Durant, who replaced Shulman at quarter back for Tech, was thrown for a 15-yard loss, putting the ball on the 29-yard line.

Dunlap's pass was incomplete and he failed to gain at right end.

Dunlap's pass fell incomplete in the end zone and the Bears took the ball on their own 20-yard line.

Rice, replacing Schlieting at right half, made 3 yards. Elsan went in for Breckenridge at quarter. Dunlap gave the crowd a thrill with a 30-yard run back of Lom's kick. Cockburn dumped

Havana Track Record Broken by Tutti Frutti

Havana, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Tutti Frutti, bred in Chile and owned by the president of the Chile Jockey Club, broke the Oriental Park track record this afternoon winning the New Year handicap.

His time for the mile and a sixteenth was 1.43 3-5, clipping 3-5 of a second from the previous record by Zululand and Boom of 144 1-5. The performance of Tutti Frutti is regarded as one of the most unusual events ever staged by a South American thoroughbred in this part of the world. He led all the way, winning by four lengths.

Hilltop Trio Expected To Shine in N. Y. Meet

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Jan. 1.—Brilliant competition is looked for from three Georgetown University athletes whose names appear in the 502 entrants in the Columbus Council, Knights of Columbus track meet which will be run off in the 106th Infantry Armory in Brooklyn Saturday night.

In Karl Wildermuth, the Hilltop's 60-yard indoor champion, the officials of the games look for one of the outstanding performers of the night, while this also goes for Eddie Hoctor and Eddie O'Shea, of the Georgetown mile relay team, who will compete in the feature event of the program, the Gov. Smith "500," which has drawn a field of entries comprising the cream of the quarter-mile sprinters of the East.

Max Schmeling Winds Up Work for Sekyra Bout

New York, Jan. 1 (U.P.).—Max Schmeling, German heavyweight, is winding up his training for Friday's bout with Joe Sekyra at Madison Square Garden. Once past the Ohio Pole, Schmeling will be given a chance in the so-called elimination tournament for the Tunney-Muldoon trophy.

Johnny Dundee, former featherweight champion, meets Charles Phil Rosenberg, former bantam king, in the semi-final.

Ban Johnson Opposes "Ten-Man" Team Plan

St. Louis, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Ban Johnson, retired president of the American League, is opposed to John Heydler's plan for ten-man baseball teams.

"The ten-man team idea does not appeal to me at all," he said. "It destroys the original thought in baseball of a team of nine men, and of each man being an athlete and a ball player who bats and runs and throws.

"I would suggest that instead of a ten-man team a rule be provided limiting the manager in the number of substitutes he may use," he said.

Johnson expressed opposition to the "chain store" or "farm" system, whereby major league clubs own and operate minor league teams, declaring that the system "is detrimental to the best interests of the game."

All-Time Records Entice Three Champions of Links

By BRIAN BELL
(Associated Press Sports Writer).

NEW YORK, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—The long, straight fairway of 1929 probably will prove a trail beset with trouble for golf champions. Many a great golfer goes through his competitive life without winning a title and, once won, the championships have a habit of slipping away. Three of the major champions go into the campaign of the new year with chances to make new golf records by winning again and this added responsibility may prove too great a burden.

If Bobby Jones is again crowned amateur king, he will annex the title for the fifth time—something that has not been done before.

Walter Hagen can give future generations of golfers something at which to shoot by successfully defending the British open, for he has had his name on the cup three times, more than any other player from the United States.

Glenna Collett may be the first woman to win the championship of her class four times.

Bobby Jones, perhaps, has the best chance if for no other reason because winning has become a fixed habit with him. The Atlanta lawyer has not been without a major title since 1923 and for six years had had at least one and sometimes two. His record of eight world series golf victories in six years seems safe from immediate attack.

The Atlantan has never played golf in California where he will be called on to defend his amateur championship, but there is a conviction that he will not be a pushover at Pebble Beach in September. On the other hand, George von Elm, now of Detroit, the only amateur who has defeated Robert Tyre in the last five tournaments, made a considerable part of his golf reputation in California and certainly will know his way about. Phillips Finlay, the long hitting collegian, reversed the process employed by von Elm when George moved East. Phil went West and he will play at Del Monte for the glory of his adopted State.

The Pacific Coast contingent, especially the delegation from Portland consisting of Dr. C. F. Willing, Frank Dolph and the Moe brothers, and Bond Stein, of Seattle, will bear watching this autumn.

Johnny Farrell has set about his task of defending his golf honor at Winged Foot in June as seriously as could be expected of any golfer. He reduced his playing to a minimum with a plan to work up to top form during the spring and early summer.

Glenna Collett, with her putting developed to the fine level of the rest of her game, gave no indications at Virginia Hot Springs last year that she had any motto but "forward," and barring a golf earthquake before September she will enter the women's tournament at Oakland Hills a heavy favorite.

The British will be called on to repulse the most ambitious invasion in recent years as the best professionals in the United States descend on the tight little isle in the spring. Led by Walter Hagen, British open title holder; Johnny Farrell, open champion of the United States, and Leo Diegel, P. G. A. and Canadian champion, a crack Ryder Cup Team will oppose Britain's best April 26. A little more than a week later the Americans will go on to Muirfield for a mass attack on the British open.

The British golfing world has grown weary of seeing its most prized trophy leave home and every effort will be made to do something about it. For five years "the cup" has been packed for shipment to the United States each year, although Bobby Jones left it in England when he won it the second time.

A matter of less moment is the British women's title which has spent the last two years in France. Miss Collett, who ran into difficulties after a brave start in the last British tournament, may have something to say about disposition of the trophy for 1929.

Run to Wrong Goal Proves Decisive

"Boner" by Riegels Helps Tech to Winning Margin.

Mizell's 30-Yard Run, Pass by Lom Figure in Touchdowns.

on only one occasion. For the most part, Mizell and Thomason bore the brunt of the Tech attack. Time and again Mizell would outrun a California wingman or skirt the end after the opposition was out of the play.

Lumpkin was effective as he followed the giant center, Fund, through the line. Waddey and Fund stood out in the defensive play of the Southerners.

Mizell kicked better than expected, although one of his efforts was blocked. In general, he was outdistanced by Lom, of California, but Lom had two kicks blocked in critical situations.

Lom almost exclusively cared for California's running attack and he and Phillips contributed the most to the overhead game which netted California some 138 yards, gave it a 13 to 8 advantage in first downs and permitted its only touchdown.

Phillips played a great offensive game for the Golden Bears, but frequently was outrun or turned in when Mizell or Thomason elected to try his end.

Elsan returned punts in an impressive manner for California and Barr's all-round work was good.

The tragedy and, as it later turned out to be, the very balance on which the game swung, occurred in the second quarter.

Thomason, of Tech, fumbled when tackled on his own 25-yard line. The ball bounded into a pile of men and a second later Riegels bounded out with it. He took several steps toward Tech's goal line and then pivoted suddenly and darted for his own.

Seventy thousand people stood almost petrified in the stands to watch Riegels race down the side lines, with one of his own men, Benny Lom, in pursuit.

Lom reached Riegels just as the latter crossed the goal line after a 66-yard run. He pulled Riegels' jersey and the couple turned in an attempt to make the journey back to the field. After the safety, Coach Nibs Price sent Miller into the game in place of Riegels. The entire California cheering section stood up to applaud the captain-elect who made such a fatal error. Riegels, with head bowed, walked slowly from the field.

In the second half, he came back to play the best game of any of the California linesmen. He made many of the tackles and blocked and recovered one Tech punt.

Tech, underdog in the pregame betting, overcame California's weight advantage with fight, individual brilliance and a knack of taking care of the breaks.

California's rather impressive passing attack was started too late to be really effective.

California went to the air often in the final two quarters. Of 17 passes attempted, nine were successful and brought gains of 125 yards. Tech tried the overhead game only three times. One pass was successful and netted 25 yards.

The teams gained about an equal amount of yardage with running plays, but, on total yards from scrimmage, California showed 276 against 179 for Tech.

The game was interesting from the start and, no later than the second play, Lom gave notice of what he intended to do when he faked a pass and then ran 45 yards to Tech's 26-yard line.

On this run, Lom went around his own right end, doubled back to the center of the field and threaded his way through the Tech defense until he finally was downed by Thomason. California was unable to take advantage of this first trip into enemy territory and Tech finally took the ball on its own 29-yard line.

The first time he received the ball, Mizell skirted his own right end 14 yards, the first indication of the trouble he was to furnish the Golden Bear Phillips, California's all-American end, was turned in on the play.

Lom's punting kept Tech in its own territory until late in the period, when Mizell again took things in his hands and turned Avery's end for a 32-yard gallop to the 30-yard line. He looked for a minute as if he might get away from everyone. This drive, started by Mizell, was stopped on California's 36-yard marker when Thomason fumbled and Barr recovered for the Western team.

California threatened again early in the second quarter when it got the ball on Tech's 20-yard line because Thomason interfered with Avery's attempt to catch Lom's pass. The play went for a 25-yard gain for California.

California, however, was unable to make the necessary 10 yards on the next four plays and the ball went to Tech.

Then Reigels made his 66-yard run, which led to the only score of the first half, when Lom's blocked kick was turned to a safety for Tech.

California rooters were given a false thrill just as the quarter ended. Failing to hear the referee's whistle, Bancroft picked up a ball which he thought was fumbled by Thomason and ran 65 yards across the goal line. The ball was called back.

When Waddey blocked and Thrash recovered a punt by Lom on the 27-yard line, Tech muffed a chance to score early in the third quarter. Lumpkin, Mizell and Thomason carried the ball to the 1-yard line, where the Bear forward wall held as Thomason made a last assault.

Lom kicked out to the Tech 4 yard line. Mizell took out over Avery's end and traveled 45 yards before he was downed by a host of California men on California's 15-yard line. Thomason then went over Phillips' end 15 yards to score the touchdown. Thomason failed to kick goal.

Later in the quarter Reigels broke through the center of the line to Daley Looks for Dark Horse to Suceeed Gene Tunney.

College Sports Boom; Babe Ruth Proves Good Prophet.

By GEORGE DALEY.

NEW YORK, Jan. 1 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Here we are starting a new year for sports. Standing on the doorstep and looking back, one can see in mock parade the outstanding personalities of 1928 march by—Babe Ruth in baseball, Gene Tunney in boxing, Bobby Jones, Johnny Farrell and Walter Hagen in golf, Henri Cochet and Helen Wills in lawn tennis, Percy Williams, Ray Barbutte and Sabin Carr in track athletics, Thomas Hitchcock and his mates of the United States team in polo, the University of California Crew in rowing, Johnny Weissmuller in swimming, Paul Scull, Chris Cagle and Ken Strong in football, Reigh Count and High Strung in racing.

Looking forward from the same doorstep, one can visualize without any stretch of the imagination another parade which will be no less spectacular in personnel and achievements. Having believed in fairies and later in Santa Claus, no effort is required to believe in the continued growth and prosperity of sports, which are doing so much for the health and wholesome entertainment of the Nation. New names may head the parade in the various divisions, but they will be no less distinctive individually and collectively. A happy new year for sports is assured.

One exception to an otherwise bright outlook may be noted. The year 1929 will give us a new heavyweight boxing champion, but that he will measure up to fighters like Gene Tunney, Jack Dempsey, Jim Jeffries, Jack Johnson, Jim Corbett, Bob Fitzsimmons or even Jess Willard is beyond any faith in the ability of such pretenders as are clamoring for the title left vacant by the voluntary retirement of Tunney.

I feel rather with Charley Murray that the next champion still is around the corner and his appearance may be one of the little surprises the new year has in store. Let us hope such is the case and that he will be a determined fellow for whom the world makes way and deserving of a place in the line.

It is now 23 years since the National Collegiate Athletic Association was organized here at the old Murray Hill Hotel. Just 39 delegates were present. Over 300 delegates from practically every educational institution in the country gathered at New Orleans last Thursday—a plain indication of what the growth has been.

Education is a slow process, but largely by this method such evils of college athletics as proselyting, tramp athletes, recruiting, commercialism, overemphasis, scouting and the like have been minimized and much of the credit belongs to this association under the militant leadership of Gen. Palmer E. Pierce. Football, too, was saved. Few realize how close it came to being abolished as an intercollegiate sport in 1905. Some colleges, including Columbia, did abolish it for a time.

Babe Ruth is something more than a slam-bang hitter of home runs with a highly competitive spirit. He is a baseball prophet of renown. In looking over some clippings yesterday, this one turned up to glorify his vision:

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 19.—"Babe Ruth came out today with the prediction that the world series next fall will find the Yankees battling the St. Louis Cardinals. He can't see how Pittsburgh can repeat in the National League, and says the Philadelphia Athletics will be runners-up to the Yanks."

All this came true to the last word early in October, but it is not too late to give the credit which is due for such amazing foresight. The only wonder is he did not predict that the Yanks would beat the Cardinals in four straight games. In truth, he did make that explosive statement on the eve of the world series.

Stewards of the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association will gather on Thursday to consider ways and means to improve that spectacular side of racing. More and better material in the way of both horses and jockeys is the chief need, and they will go about getting the latter by an amendment to the rules which will give more weight allowances to inexperienced riders. That should help. It is not so easy to encourage owners to school the better class horses to jumping. Even the Grand National Steeplechase of $35,000 run now for two years has not been the spur expected. If such a prize will not tempt, nothing will.

PECK BASKETERS SCORE.

Peck basketers were winners in two games last night, the seniors defeating the Pierce A. C. of Hyattsville, 51 to 9, and the juniors nosing out the Lightning A. C., 28 to 24. The win for the seniors marked the thirteenth of the season for that team.

COLLYER'S COMMENT on the SPORT of KINGS

BY BERT E. COLLYER

GALE.

Wee Willie Sims is all set to do the honors with this gelding at the Fair Grounds this afternoon. Word has reached me via the grape vine route that all angles have been taken care of and the sky will be the limit. The big event takes place in the sixth, a claiming affair over the mile and an eighth route. WILLIAM PENN, the inconsistent maverick from the C. T. Worthington Stables, is packing a lot of weight and if Burney rides you might as well toss your dough in a sewer as to bet on him. EASY MONEY'S last effort gives him a chance to cop a portion of the swag.

Look out for SHASTA PRUNE in the opening spasm. Understand commission was planted in Louisville and Cincinati last Monday. Knebelkamp's gelding has little to beat here.

GOLD RIDGE appears a standout in the second. FIRE LINE looks like the runner up on its race behind Blandris the other day. RUSSELL GARDNER is the nominee in the third event. Likes the route and the track is made to order for him. TALLEDAGA has a lot of early speed and probably will get the place, with LETTER SIX on the show end. GENUINE was dropped in a nice spot in the fourth. Has SCOTLAND and GROUCHER for close company. SPORTING GRIT was the medium of an overnight plunge in the fifth. That last race of his over the mile route makes him look like a standout. SAMBO G and BUDDY BASIL for what is left. PAT CALHOUN is to be dragged out of the old vat in the seventh. This old fellow ran a corking good race behind Leisure Hour a few days ago.

FAIR GROUNDS.

1—Shasta Prune, When in Rome, Colonel Howard.
2—Gold Ridge, Fire Line, Guy's Image.
3—Russell Gardner, Talladega, Letter Six.

STAR	118	1	7	7^{1}	7^{6}	Pascuma	3.69
ARBALISTA	118	8	4	2^{2}	8	Churchman	18.93

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BROD'S BUDDY, $24.98, $10.10, $4.58; HOWTIZ, $4.80, $3.20; FOXY, $2.86.

BRODS BUDDY, away fast, saved ground all the way and just lasted to win. HOWTIZ broke slowly and was forced wide all the way, but finished with a rush. FOXY SETH closed gamely and ran a good race. CALCITE displayed good speed and should improve. STAR lacked speed.

SECOND RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,200. The Col. W. R. Simmons. For 3-year-olds. Start bad. Won driving. Place same. Went to post at 2:18. Off at 2:22. Winner, Kelly and Dean's br. f. (3), by Bish Huon—Ballyighn. Trained by F. A. Kelly. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24, 0:48 1-5, 1:08.

Overweight—UPSET LAD (1). DOMULATIA bolted badly.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—HELEN DEAN, $34.92, $10.90, $4.24; THUNDER CALL, $9.92, $3.36; UPSET LAD, $2.36.

HELEN DEAN, well handled, closed gamely in stretch and was up to win in last stride. THUNDER CALL raced MARIE NASH into defeat and held on gamely. UPSET LAD was practically left, closed a big gap under hard riding and would have won with a better start. LITTLE GYP had no mishaps. MARIA NASH ran a good race and should improve. DOMULATIA bolted.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200. The Winter Garden Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start poor. Won driving. Place same. Went to post at 2:49. Off at 2:51. Winner, L. J. Watts' ch. g. (6), by High Time—Lucan Red. Trained by C. Lapplegale. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 4-5, 0:48, 1:14.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—HOT TIME, $13.54, $5.16, $2.06; PIGEON HOLE, $6.88, $3.22; FALSE PRIDE, $2.38.

HOT TIME broke fast, showed a decided liking for the soft track, and held on gamely. PIGEON HOLE was kept close to pace all the way and ran a good race. FALSE PRIDE broke slowly and suffered a lot of interference. TANNIC ran a good race.

FOURTH RACE—One mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,200. The Southland. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving. Place easily. Went to post at 3:19. Off at 3:20. Winner, G. Collins' b. h. (7), by Brown Prince II—Blume. Trained by E. Haughton. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:26, 0:48 3-5, 1:14 1-5, 1:40 3-5, 1:45 3-5.

FAIR GROUNDS FEATURE TO FLY HAWK

Maher's Horse Comes From Behind to Pass Solace.

FAIR GROUNDS RACE TRACK, New Orleans, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Before a record-breaking New Year's crowd, which was estimated at 20,000, William Maher's Fly Hawk, ridden by F. Moon, scored in a sensational finish in winning the New Year's Day Handicap, which featured the opening of the Louisiana Jockey Club here today. It was a great race and remarkably free from interference. The Seagram Stable's Solace was second, and the Wild Rose Stable's Crossco third. The race was run over a good track and the winner earned $5,150. The second horse $1,000, the third $500, and the fourth horse, which was Dolan, $250.

The start was good, the twelve horses going away in a line. Solace was quickest to get into his racing stride and he sprinted to the front and led the field at a hot clip. He was three lengths to the good at one time and appeared the winner, but when the field made the turn into the stretch, Fly Hawk, who had been running in third place, moved up to second place and in the next furlong took the lead and won easily by a length and a half. Solace took the place by four lengths from Crossco. The time was 1:46 4-5.

Jockey McCoy was in great form today. He rode three winners which included Old Slip, Helen Dean and Hot Time. He had the mount on Duelist in the big race but failed to get anything.

It required his best riding to land his three mounts in front. His ride on Old Slip was very good. He had to ride the old horse hard to make him last it out. On Helen Dean he had to give her his best to make her win by a head from Thunder Call.

TIA JUANA RESULTS.

Almost the Naked Truth

By JAMES S. COLLINS

head. The horse was as big as a Broadway reveler's head on New Year's Day and his swift, vicious kick so irritated our hero that he "hit the horse one good 'wallop in the 'stummick' and knocked him cold."

As he gazed down on the prostrate form of his victim Whicophis' helper counted ten on the anvil 30 or 40 times, it dawned on Mr. Oliver that nature had ordained him to be a pugilist. Off came the leather apron and on came the leather mittens. So, for once, the Garden fans will know next Friday night how in the world one of these four-round heavyweights ever got the idea he could fight.

The fact that Heinie Mueller, baseball's roving jester, is not the best outfielder in the game is so widely known that Heinie himself admits cognizance of the fact. Heinie is game enough. He proves that every time he risks his life by getting in the vicinity or under a fly ball. But Heinie's mental processes have a way of backfiring on him that nearly drove John J. McGraw to harsh words when Heinie was losing games for the Giants. Yet Heinie seems to have no trouble remaining in fast company, the fast company being Rogers Hornsby.

When Hornsby was manager of the Cards he stuck to Heinie through thick and thin until he saw a chance to win a pennant and palmed off Mueller on John McGraw for Billy Southworth in one of those deals upon which Mr. McGraw's reputation as a managerial genius distinctly is not based. Hornsby didn't speak to Mr. Stoneham in the elevator one morning or otherwise committed some high crime and was sent to Boston as manager of the Braves. One of his acts as manager of the Braves was to reach down into Toledo for his old pal, Heinie, whom Mr. McGraw had become fed up on, as the savants say, and the Dutchman resumed his life work of keeping Hornsby amused.

Now that Rogers has gone to Chicago it is a good bet that he will suggest that the Cubs acquire his favorite jester.

Good Bowling Match Listed at Hyattsville

There will be plenty of action tonight on the Arcade Alleys in Hyattsville when the Dixie Pigs, leaders of the Prince Georges County Bowling League, engage the Company F Rollers, second place holders.

Both teams are composed of the best bowlers in the league which should argue well for an interesting match. Company F will need to take all three games to get near the top as the Dixie Pigs hold a four game lead at present.

Illness May Keep Fuchs From Testifying Today

Boston, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—An attack of pleurisy that placed him in a physician's care may prevent Emil Fuchs, president of the Boston Braves, from appearing before the city finance commission tomorrow to testify in connection with the controversy over the Sunday baseball question, Braves' officials said tonight. His condition was not serious, but if attendance at the meeting would endanger his health he would not attend, it was said.

Fuchs and Charles Adams, vice president of the Braves, whose intimations that a Boston city councilor sought graft to assure early and favorable action on the baseball order started the rumpus, have both been summoned to testify under oath. Others who were expected to appear were Thomas H. Green, president of the city council; Robert Quinn, president of the Boston Red Sox Baseball Team, and Arthur L. Race, manager of a local hotel.

The testimony of Adams was the most eagerly awaited as he had promised to explain his insinuations of bribery. Fuchs' part in the proceedings was expected to depend principally on Adams' revelations.

G. U. TOSSERS PLAY YALE TONIGHT

Blue and Gray Rated as Favorite to Win Elis' Tourney.

Special to The Washington Post.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 1.—The Georgetown University Quintet, of Washington, which has built up an impressive early-season record, will meet a hard test here tomorrow night when it engages the Yale Five in the first round of the annual Yale University tournament. The Blue this season has a veteran line-up and a wealth of strong reserve material.

Georgetown is counted on to provide much hard competition and is considered by many the likely winner of the tourney in which New York University and Holy Cross are the other two participants.

Some think New York U. the potential winner, basing their opinions on the recent victories of the violet over high-ranking Eastern teams. Coach Ripley of Georgetown probably will use the same line-up as that which has started all the other games for the Hilltop this season.

Capt. Freddy Mesmer and Johnny Dunn likely will be in the forward positions, with Don Dutton at center and Maurice McCarthy and Hal Meenan at the guard posts.

The winners of tomorrow's card will clash Thursday night for final honors and the two losing fives will meet for runner-up.

Howard U. Five Wins In North Carolina Game

Greensboro, N. C., Jan. 1.—Howard University's crack floor team won the first game of its Southern tour here last night, beating the North Carolina Aggies, 20-12, in a fast and interesting game. Streeter and Tucker were the stars for the Aggies, while Wood and Simpson were best for Howard.

Skinker Bros. Eagles, Play Washington Grays

The Skinker Bros. Eagles open their Wednesday night play tonight by entertaining the Washington Grays in the Congress Heights gymnasium at 8:30 o'clock. In a preliminary, the French A. C. and Pullman Five will meet at 7:30 o'clock.

The Eagles have a banner attraction for Sunday, a game with the Newark Pleasure Club, of Baltimore, being listed. The preliminary will bring the original Pontiacs, senior champions of Baltimore, against the Boys' Club Standards.

Marriner Breaks Hand; Must Idle for 3 Months

Chicago, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Les Marriner, who rose to prominence in the heavyweight ranks by sixteen knockouts in seventeen matches, has broken his right hand again and will be incapacitated for another three months.

Three months ago Marriner broke his hand in a match with George Gemas, Philadelphia, at Peoria, but after absorbing terrific punishment, he came back to win the decision. Yesterday he attempted his first workout here and broke his hand again.

Y. M. C. A. AZTECS TRIUMPH

FIGHT RESULTS

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 1 (U.P.).—Lou (Kid) Kaplan, Meriden, Conn., lightweight who vacated the featherweight championship undefeated, outclassed Ritchie King, of Philadelphia, in the main bout of the New Year card at the arena A. C. today.

Kaplan weighed 133¼ and King 133. Kaplan got the judges' decision at the end of the ten rounds.

Johnny Erickson, New York bantam, was held to a draw in ten rounds by Videl Gregorio, of Spain. Gaston Lecadre, French lightweight champion, lost the judges' decision to Bucky Boyle, of Allentown, Pa., in ten rounds.

JOCK MALONE WINS ON POINTS.

Reno, Nev., Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Jock Malone, St. Paul middleweight, won a decision in ten rounds of tame fighting with Jack Gibbs, of Los Angeles, on the top position of a New Year's card here this afternoon.

MIDGET O'DOWD EASY VICTOR.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Midget Mike O'Dowd, of Columbus, Ohio, easily defeated Jackie Rodgers, Pittsburgh negro bantamweight, in ten rounds here today. Sports writers gave O'Dowd nine of the ten sets while Rodgers was applauded for his gameness.

EDDIE O'DOWD GETS VERDICT.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Eddie O'Dowd, Columbus featherweight, won a decisive victory over Homer Ronan, Newark, Ohio, in a 12-round bout here today. O'Dowd at 134½ pounds was outweighed by 2¼ pounds. All three judges agreed, while ring critics gave O'Dowd nine rounds and called three even. Joe O'Malley and Shifty Dandoe, Columbus welterweights, slugged through ten rounds with Dandoe helpless except in one or two.

HIBERT BEATS YARBO.

Cleveland, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Floyd Hibert, Cleveland, won a newspaper decision over Wilson Yarbo, Cleveland, in the six-round main bout of a boxing show here today. Hibert weighed 154½ and Yarbo 160.

WEBSTER STOPS P. DELANEY.

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Al Webster, Billings, Mont., middleweight, toyed four rounds with P. Delaney Spokane, before the referee stopped the one-sided bout and awarded Webster a technical knockout in one of the main events of a New Year's Day boxing card.

KING TUT'S RALLY SCORES.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 1 (A.P.).—King Tut, Minneapolis lightweight, won the decision over Russie Leroy, of Fargo, in ten rounds here. Leroy had the better of the milling early in the bout but wilted under the fast pace.

SCOZZA BESTS MAHONEY.

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 1 (U.P.).—Lou Scozza, of Buffalo, 167, defeated Jimmy Mahoney, 166, of Chicago, in a 10-round bout here today.

K. O. LEONARD KAYOED.

Hamilton, Ohio, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Frankie Palmo, Cincinnati welterweight, knocked out K. O. Leonard, Nashville, Tenn., in the second round of their ten-round bout here today.

HENRY FIRPO GETS DRAW.

Newcastle, Pa., Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Henry Firpo, of Louisville, Ky., and Jack Dillon, of Nashville, Tenn., fought a ten-round draw here today. Dillon was outfought and outslugged by Firpo, but the Nashville boy was clever at infighting.

PAYNE DROPS DECISION.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Freddie Miller, Cincinnati featherweight, won the decision over Cecil Payne, Louisville, Ky., in a ten-round bout here today.

In the semifinal, Vincent Hambright, Cincinnati junior welterweight, knocked out Paul Anthony, Sioux City, Iowa, in the ninth round of a ten-round match. Dudley Ring, Cincinnati lightweight, outpointed Johnny Cobb, Detroit, in six rounds.

RAY McQUILLAN WINS.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Ray McQuillan, Denver negro, defeated Doc Snell, Tacoma, in six rounds here this afternoon. Snell weighed 135, McQuillan, 139¾.

Don Fraser, Spokane junior welterweight, defeated Joe Sielaff, Milwaukee, in a slow six-round semifinal match.

ROBERTS STOPS LANG.

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 1 (A.P.).—Eddie "Kayo" Roberts, of Tacoma, who a year ago was rated among the leaders in the welterweight division, signalized his return to the ring by knocking out Billy Lang, Tacoma 152-pounder, in the second round of a scheduled six-round main event here today.

D. C. SCORERS TOPPED BY COSGROVE

Gallaudet Courtman Passes McCarthy, of Georgetown.

DEL COSGROVE, of Gallaudet, now tops the District college basket ball scorers, with a total of 59 points, having ousted Maurice McCarthy, of Georgetown, from the lead by virtue of two big nights during the holiday season.

McCarthy refused to slip back far, however, as he increased his total in the last three games to earn him second place, 40 points. Hal Meenan, also of Georgetown, dropped one position because of Cosgrove's sudden rise and now occupies third place, with 39 points.

Don Dutton, of Georgetown, gained ground, while Forrest Burgess, of American, was idling, the big Hoya center taking fourth place with 38 points. Dunn, of Georgetown, rose to sixth place, with 30 points, thereby supplanting Freddy Mesmer, a teammate, who held that position in the last compilation of figures made by The Post on December 24.

Henry Draplewski, of Gallaudet, climbed along with Cosgrove, winning fifth place with a total of 32 points, a jump of four places since the last list was published. Hokanson, another Gallaudet player, moved up a peg by increasing his total to 18 points for ninth place.

CENTRAL HIGH FIVE BEATEN BY ALUMNI

Lisio especially had his eye focused on the rims when foul tosses came his way, making good five from the 15-yard mark. He also slipped two baskets in from side court. Fisher, playing his usual steady game at his guard position, tossed three baskets and one foul shot for seven points.

That the undergraduates put up an unusually good fight can be seen from the score at half-time, at which time they trailed by only one point, 14 to 13. How Burch and MacDonald asserted themselves, though, in the later quarters can be taken on the final score of the game. It was these two performers who more than did their part in winning for the Alumni.

block and then recover Mizell's attempted punt on the Tech 28-yard line. Four plays lost 4 yards and Tech took the ball on its own 32.

California scored its only points in the final quarter. A pass, Loom to Phillips, was good for 40 yards to the Tech 27-yard line. Eisan made 17 to the 10-yard line and then Phillips jumped higher than a group of Tech players to take Lom's pass and count the touchdown.

Charity Game at Dallas Ends in Free-for-All

Dallas, Tex., Jan. 1 (U.P.).—The devastation that Blue Howell, star Nebraska fullback, wrought among the all-st-- Southwestern Conference football stars this afternoon in Ownby Stadium, invoked the ire of Southwestern fans and the game ended in a free-for-all fight. With the Big Six all-star team having the ball on the 2-yard line and two minutes of the game left, the crowds in the stadium descended on the field and the game ended in a melee.

The score was, Big Six, 14; Southwestern, 6.

Trouble started when fans protested the many penalties the Southwestern Team was drawing. In the third quarter, a Southwestern player struck at Howell, who was repeatedly tearing through the Southwestern defense.

The climax came in the fourth period with only two minutes to play, when another attack was made on Howell and the crowd, which had been rowdy throughout the game, joined in the fracas. Police intervened and the disturbance soon was quelled, but the game was stopped.

The Southwestern Team was on the defense throughout the game, scoring only once and that in the third period. The Big Six offense opened with the starting whistle when Howell took the ball on three successive runs, carrying it over for a touchdown. The second Big Six counter came in the second period.

A large crowd of college students home for the holidays attended the game, the proceeds of which will go to charity.

the little Tech man on California's 40-yard line.

California was penalized 5 yards for taking too much time out.

California hopes rose to the sky, then dropped to earth with a thud when Lom picked up a fumble, ran 68 yards to a supposed touchdown and then was called back because the ball had been ruled dead.

Thomason punted out of bounds on California's 22-yard line. Lom skirted left end for 13 yards as the second period ended.

Score—Georgia Tech, 2; U. of C., 0.

THIRD PERIOD.

Lom took Waddey's kickoff on California's 2-yard line and ran it back 20 yards. Riegels was back at center. It was reported that he had become excited during the freak play that gave Tech two points.

Breckenridge was back at quarter and Schlicting at right half in the Bear line-up.

Schmidt hit center for 3 yards and Lom punted to Tech's 23-yard line.

Lumpkin went out of bounds and Mizell kicked. Tech recovered the ball on the California's 23-yard line when Waddey fell on the oval after Breckenridge had fumbled. The Bears recovered the ball when Fits recovered Mizell's fumble. Lom's punt was blocked and Mizell recovered for Tech. The ball was on California's 10-yard line.

Tech rooters shouted for a touchdown and Mizell hit center for 4 yards. Lumpkin added three more and the ball was on the 3-yard line.

Eisan came in for Breckenridge in the Bear line-up. Lumpkin chopped a hole at center for 2 yards. Bear rooters sent up a tremendous cheer as Lumpkin was held for no gain and Lom, punting from behind his own goal line, sent the ball to midfield.

Dunlap came back 5 yards to California's 45-yard line. Mizell scampered around left end for 30 yards putting the ball on California's 15-yard line. Tech scored a touchdown when Thomason cut back through tackle and dashed over the line.

Thomason's attempted place kick for extra point was wide.

Score—Georgia Tech, 8; University of California, 0.

Waddey kicked-off to Schlicting, who ran it back to California's 30-yard line. Lom lost his interference but pushed ahead for a 7-yard gain around right end.

Schmidt put his head down and made it first down on California's 42-yard line. It was a 5-yard gain. Schmidt was held for no gain and Lom's pass to Phillips fell incomplete.

Lom passed 20 yards to Avery, giving the Bears first down on Tech's 38-yard line. Lom's pass to Avery was incomplete, but he passed to Eisan on the next play for a yard gain. Phillips' pass to Eisan was incomplete and Tech took the ball on its own 37-yard line.

Mizell went around left end for 5 yards. Lumpkin was held for no gain.

Cockburn replaced Schmidt at full back for California. Riegels blocked Mizell's kick and recovered the oval on Tech's 28-yard line.

Lom reversed right end for a 5-yard gain and Schlicting was stopped at the line of scrimmage. Lom's pass was incomplete and Tech took the ball on its own 33-yard line.

Mizell pushed through center for 2 yards and Lumpkin added 5 at left guard. Mizell punted to Eisan, who was stopped on California's 28-yard line.

A short pass, Lom to Eisan, netted 8 yards as the period ended.

Score: Georgia Tech, 8; California, 0.

FOURTH PERIOD.

Lom's pass was speared by Lumpkins. From a pass formation, Lom cut through tackle and ran 26 yards before he was downed. It brought the ball to Tech's 48-yard line. Rice replaced Schlicting at right half for California.

Pund intercepted Lom's pass and Tech snapped into action on its 38-yard line. Thomason ran out of bounds after a yard gain around right end. Lumpkin went through left guard for 4 yards. Mizell kicked to Eisan, who ran out of bounds on California's 49-yard line after a 25-yard return. Rice went through right tackle for 3 yards, but was held for no gain on the next play.

After an incomplete pass, Lom kicked. Thomason fumbled after signaling for a fair catch, but the Tech half back recovered and dashed back 8 yards before he was downed on his 17-yard line.

Tech was penalized 5 yards for taking too much time out. Mizell kicked to Eisan, who returned it 5 yards. He was stopped on his 47-yard line.

Eisan fumbled Lom's short pass and Tech took the ball on its 46-yard line.

Mizell hit the line for five yards and was held for no gain on a second try.

Lumpkin hit center for two yards and Mizell punted out of bounds on California's 4-yard line. Lom kicked to Thomason, who was thrown on Tech's 44-yard line by Phillips. Lumpkin bumped left tackle for five yards and Thomason added a yard at center.

Lom carried the ball for three yards and then six yards, both times off tackle. Cockburn made it first down on the 31-yard line. Lom hit center for two yards and passed to Phillips for a 27-yard gain, the latter being downed on Tech's 30-yard line.

Lom passed to Eisan for a 20-yard gain, Eisan falling on the 10-yard line. Lom passed over the goal line to Phillips for a touchdown.

Barr place-kicked the try for goal for point.

Tech, 8; California, 7.

Tech took the ball on an offside kick. Mizell cut through left guard for 2 yards to stop on Tech's 42-yard line. Thomason and Lumpkin hit the line for no gain. The gun sounded before the next play could start.

Bridge Play Featured by Mrs. Purdy

Teacher and Lecturer Stars in Game Over Radio—L. D. Hinman Is Her Partner Against Whitehead and Work.

Mrs. Guy U. Purdy, of Omaha, Nebr., the nationally known teacher and lecturer on bridge, was the bright particular star of this week's Radio Bridge game, broadcast yesterday afternoon from Station WRC. Mrs. Purdy's partner, against Mr. Work and Mr. Whitehead, was Mr. L. D. Hinman, of Enid, Okla., very prominent in Bridge circles in the Southwest.

The hands in this game were: Mr. Work, Dealer, South: Spades, 10, 8, 5, 3; Hearts, A, K, Q, 9; Diamonds, 6, 5, 4; Clubs, A, J. Mrs. Purdy, West: Spades, Q, 4; Hearts, 8, 7, 5, 3; Diamonds, Q, 10, 9; Clubs, 9 5 4 2. Mr. Whitehead North: Spades, K, 7, 6, 2; Hearts, J, 6, 4; Diamonds, K, 7, 3 2; Clubs 8, 3. Mr. Hinman, East: Spades, A, J, 9; Hearts, 10, 2; Diamonds, A, J, 8; Clubs, K, Q, 10, 7, 6.

Mr. Work Dealer, opened the bidding with one Heart, a sound four-card suit bid, even had his hand not contained additional strength in the Ace of Clubs. Mrs. Purdy, West, passed. Mr. Whitehead, North, having normal support for his partner's Heart, also passed. Mr. Hinman, East, doubled informatorily. With strength in the three suits other than the Heart suit adversely bid, Mr. Hinman was prepared to leave in and possibly to assist any response that his partner might make.

Mr. Work passed, and Mrs. Purdy answered her partner's double with two Clubs, which, under the circumstances, was her only bid. Holding four cards in Hearts and four in Clubs, she naturally would have responded with a Heart bid had not the opponents already bid that suit. All passed the two-Club bid; therefore, Mrs. Purdy became the Declarer.

Mr. Whitehead, North, opened the play with the Jack of Hearts, the highest of his three cards of his partner's suit. Mr. Hinman, East, spread his hand for Dummy, and Mrs. Purdy played from it the 2 of Hearts. Mr. Work, South, played the 9; Mr. Purdy, West, the 3. Mr. Whitehead continued with the 6 of Hearts, his next best rather than the lowest of the three held originally. Dummy played the 10; Mr. Work the Queen; Declarer the 5.

Mr. Work led the Ace of Hearts; Mrs. Purdy followed with the 7; Mr. Whitehead with the 4; and Dummy trumped with the 6 of Clubs.

Dummy at once opened the trump suit, leading the King of Clubs, which Mr. Work won with the Ace, Declarer playing the 2 and Mr. Whitehead the 3. Mr. Work's next lead was the King of Hearts, to continue forcing the strong trump hand. Declarer played the 8 of Hearts; Mr. Whitehead the 2 of Diamonds; and Dummy trumped with the 10 of Clubs. Declarer retained the 7 of Clubs in Dummy to give a possible entry to her own hand with her 9.

Dummy then led the Queen of Clubs; Mr. Work played the Jack; Mrs. Purdy, Declarer, the 4; Mr. Whitehead the 8.

The adverse trumps were now all taken, and Mrs. Purdy had nothing to worry about so far as her contract was concerned, although game was impossible, since the opponents already had three tricks. However, Mrs. Purdy determined to take as many tricks as she could, which always is the practice of the expert player. She saw she need lose no more tricks if she could finesse successfully against the King of Spades and the King of Diamonds. To try these finesses, the lead must come from Mrs. Purdy's own hand. As the lead was then in Dummy, she led Dummy's 7 of Clubs, overtaking it with the 9 in her own hand. Mr. Work, South, discarded the 4 of Diamonds, and Mr. Whitehead, North, the 2 of Spades.

Mrs. Purdy then led the Queen of Diamonds for the finesse. Mr. Whitehead, North, played the 3. Ordinarily he would have covered the honor led in the hope of establishing a card of the suit in his partner's hand. But he ducked in this instance, expecting Dummy also to duck with the 8 of Diamonds, in which case, if Mrs. Purdy continued with Diamonds, Mr. Whitehead would duck again, forcing Dummy to win. Then Dummy, after taking the third Diamond trick, would be compelled to lead up to Mr. Whitehead's King of Spades for the loss of a trick.

Mrs. Purdy, however, was alert to the situation. Instead of ducking with the 8, she ducked with the Jack, which was of the same value as the 8, since she held the 9 and 10 in her own hand. Mr. Work played the 5 of Diamonds.

Mrs. Purdy continued with the 10 of Diamonds. Mr. Whitehead again ducked, playing the 7. He realized he could accomplish nothing by playing his King, as Declarer would not have played Dummy's Jack on the first round of Diamonds unless she had held the 10 and 9 in her hand. His only hope was that Declarer would lead Diamonds a third time, in which case Dummy must win and lead a Spade. Dummy played the 8 of Diamonds; Mr. Work the 6.

Mrs. Purdy, however, was through with the Diamond suit temporarily. She next led her Queen of Spades for a finesse in that suit. Mr. Whitehead at this point could read Mrs. Purdy's remaining cards as being the 9 of Diamonds, the thirteenth trump and one more Spade. He saw that whether or not he covered the Spade he could take no more tricks. He played the 6 of Spades; Dummy the 9; Mr. Work the 3.

Mrs. Purdy continued with the 4 of Spades; Mr. Whitehead played the 7; Dummy the Ace, since the finesse was not needed; Mr. Work the 5. Dummy then led the Ace of Diamonds; Mr. Work discarded the 8 of Spades; Declarer played the 9 of Diamonds; Mr. Whitehead the King. For the last trick Dummy led the Jack of Spades which Mrs. Purdy trumped with the 5 of Clubs, thus winning four odd at Clubs, with a score of 24 for tricks and 30 for simple honors.

The play in this hand illustrates a situation which often arises in Auction Bridge; that is, when a Declarer finds himself in a position in which his contract is assured, but game is impossible. Tricks made under such conditions are frequently spoken of as "tricks immaterial." While they do not affect the making of contract, game or slam, each one counts its mite in the grand total, and it is bad practice for players to become careless about winning even the immaterial tricks.

In Contract, however, the value of these so-called immaterial tricks is much greater than in Auction, as there is a bonus of 50 points for each trick made over the amount bid.

At Contract the bidding of the hand, also, would be much the same as at Auction, according to Mr. Work. South would open with one Heart, although four-card suits are scrutinized with more care before they are bid in Contract.

After South's pass, West, of course, would pass. So would North, as his hand lacks the strength to justify a jump of a one-Heart bid. If South had wished for a light jump from partner, he would have started by bidding two.

East, after one Heart and two passes, would be in position to pass South's one Heart with perfect safety, as South could not make game from a love score with a bid of one; but East also would appreciate that with his strength there would be little chance that North and South, if given the opportunity, would make a game-going bid in any declaration, and still less chance of their succeeding if they made it. On the other hand, East has a good opportunity of making a partial score—very valuable in Contract—and consequently he should try for it—either with the informatory double, as in Auction; or with two Clubs. The latter probably is the better bid; in which case East would be the Declarer.

Corn-Beef Hash Climax Of Fete for Debutante

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Jan. 1.—After years of subsisting on scrambled eggs at the breakfasts which climax big dances, society was put on a cornbeef diet at the dance which Mrs. Richard Edwards Breed, of Park avenue, gave at the Ritz-Carlton tonight for her debutante daughter, Jane Porter Breed.

It was another of those dances which circled the clock, beginning with dinner, progressing through supper and ending up with breakfast. As a sop to aesthetic guests, Mrs. Breed offset the cornbeef by transforming the ballroom into a blossoming cherry orchard. Among the guests at Jane's debut were Count and Countess Alfredo Jannin, Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Graham, the young Guernsey Currans and the Eugene E. Du Ponts, of Wilmington, Del.

"Sappho" by Massenet on Air Tonight

Mary Garden to Sing Title Role of Opera Given by Chicago Group—"Aunt Jemima" Series on WJZ Starts at 9:30.

"Sappho" from the pen of Massenet, with the text by Henri Cain and Arthur Bernede, from the novel by the same name, will be produced in French by the Chicago Civic Opera Company at 10 o'clock tonight direct from the stage of the Auditorium Theater by the National Broadcasting Co.

Mary Garden, world-famous soprano, will sing the title role of Fanny Le-Grand, known to her associates as "Sappho." Stations through which this program may be heard are KYW, Chicago; WJZ, New York; WBZ, Springfield; WBZA, Boston; WBAL, Baltimore; WHAM, Rochester; KDKA, Pittsburgh; WJR, Detroit; WLW, Cincinnati, and KWK, St. Louis, but not WRC.

The entr'acte music of Bizet's opera, "Carmen," will be a symphonic feature of the Palmolive hour from Station WRC at 9:30 o'clock tonight. Olive Palmer, coloratura soprano, will sing "Charmant Oiseau," from "Pearl of Brazil," and Alabieff's "Russian Nightingale." She will also be heard in a soprano-contralto duet, "Whispering Hope."

Paul Oliver will sing Strauss' "Valse Scherzo" and "Macushla." "Manhattan Madness" and "I Wanna Be Loved by You" will be feature numbers, with the Revelers singing, "My Blackbirds Are Bluebirds Now."

The complete program for the Slumber Music broadcast is as follows: "Pomp and Circumstance" and "Serenade Lyrique," Elgar; "Pavane and Gaillarde," Byrd; "Petite Suite," Coleridge-Taylor; Dances from "Henry VIII" Suite, German; selection from "The Bohemian Girl," Balfe; "Irish Suite," Foulds, and "Londonderry Air," an old Irish melody.

"The "Aunt Jemima" series will be inaugurated at 9:30 o'clock tonight from WJZ and associated stations, including WBAL, Baltimore. The character of the old negro woman will be portrayed by the noted diseuse, Katherine Tift-Jones, while J. Rosamond Johnson, negro composer, known for many years in the world of music and the theater, will play the part of Uncle Ned, Aunt Jemima's husband. The kindly old couple are continually surrounded by a host of visitors, who drop in at their cabin at all hours, to remain for an exchange of song and conversation.

The original hill-billies, famous singers of old folklore, will be the big feature of the half-hour that the La Palina Smoker will broadcast at 9:30 o'clock tonight from WMAL. Up from the mountains of Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia have come this little band, five strong, who are known as the singers of the only real traditional folklore music we have in America.

The Columbians will offer a popular program at 8:30 o'clock, including "The Spell of the Blues" with a male quartet.

Station WJSV will present a varied program, opening with the Merchants Half Hour at 7 o'clock. The Army Band will be on the air for one hour at 7:30 o'clock.

Chick Godfred, singing leatherneck, will be heard in a fifteen-minute program at 9:30 o'clock. The Hilo Hawaiians will be on the air at 10:30 o'clock.

The Wardman Park Dance Orchestra will be on the air from Station WOL for two hours tonight, beginning at 10 o'clock. The Carolinians Dance Orchestra will be featured at 7 o'clock.

Harris E. Kirk, jr., is the possessor of the new announcing voice frequently heard from Station WBAL in Baltimore.

TODAY'S WOMEN

By EARL MINDERMAN.

JANUARY 2.

THE second woman to be elected to the Congress of the United States, Alice Mary Robertson, was born this day, 1854. She was elected from the Oklahoma district in 1921. Miss Robertson is a descendant on the maternal side of Lucy Winthrop, sister of the famous Puritan governor of Massachusetts, and of Esther, sister of Jonathan Edwards.

Besides her career as a Congresswoman, Miss Robertson is noted for her work among the Indians, having established Nuyaka mission and having had charge of the boarding school for Indian girls at Muskogee, which grew into Henry Kendall College, now the University of Tulsa. From 1900 to 1905 she was government supervisor of the Creek Indian schools.

Other noted women born this day include Anne Sewell Young, professor of astronomy and director of Williston Observatory at Mt. Holyoke College, 1871; Martha C. Thomas, educator and writer, one-time president of Bryn Mawr College, 1857; Elizabeth R. Charles, writer of religious stories, 1828, and Marie F. Dumesnil, actress, 1713.

Rest Robe de Luxe.

To cover bed or chaise-longue, a rest robe of apricot silk, exquisitely quilted in a very elaborate design, is a thing of beauty as well as of utility. Lounging pajamas of the same silk, also quilted, are included in the set, and there is most fascinating coat to slip on over the pajamas.

Fragile Tea-Cloth.

A lovely new tea-cloth is made of the finest of handkerchief linen covered with a tracery of appliqued flowers in a contrasting color.

New Book Ends.

Delightful new book ends are made of pottery, in cream, yellow, green, &c., and come in the shape of large elephants.

Evening Slippers.

Evening slippers gain an added luster if the buckles are of pastel-colored pearls to match the shoes.

Black and White.

A distinguished-looking evening gown is made of black taffeta with a full irregular sirt, which touches the floor upon one side. The low-cut bodice has as a trimming a cluster of white roses upon one shoulder and down the back.

Additional Women's Features Will Be Found on Page 15.

Dare Interprets the Mode

Two novel notes in the hat mode—the one is a bonnet of flat black fur, with a flaring veil sewn to the edge, trimmed in crystal hoops; the other is of blue jersey embroidered in matching woolen yarn. (Both courtesy of J. Suzanne Talbot, Paris.)

New York, Jan. 1, 1929.

The crisp contrast of black and white has been so important and so successful a note in the mode that it was more or less inevitable that the same principle should find application in other directions.

The sponsor for this movement is Jean Patou—and trends originated in the ateliers of M. Patou have a way of becoming generally accepted and followed.

It is an idea of almost ridiculous simplicity—but of infinite charm. It consists in the use of a very pale tint of a color with a dark shade of the same hue. Pale beige, for example, with a deep, rich brown. Or a delicate green, just a shade removed from white in combination with dark green. Or the palest of blues contrasting with navy.

The effect is infinitely charming. It has the same virtue of combining brilliant contrast with complete harmony of hue, plus the aid of color.

We are not suggesting that this idea has never been used before, but pointing out that its use in this instance is neither accidental nor limited, but is a definite trend. And due to the shrewd fashion instinct of M. Patou, plus the highly organized research laboratory which studies all such questions for him, the trends upon which he places his seal of approval have, as we said, a way of finding general acceptance.

And then, we ripped up the cape we made from a yard and three-quarters of 54-inch wide material just for the New Year Eve's party, fully aware that it was only for the night—'n' then we sent a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post to get this week's illustrated leaflet, which gave us a choice of:

Three skirts.
Two jackets.
Smart straight coat.
Chic street dress.
Lovely evening dress.

Naturally we have both the material for the cape and the material for the lining, so we make more than one of these designs and some of them take far less material, so we can even make two or three.

Promised to sketch it for you a long time ago and didn't, but here it is! Talbot's delightful bonnet, "Alaska"—fashioned of flat black fur, called poulain, with its adorably exaggere crystal hoops at either side, and its delightful veil sewn right to the border.

Nor is it too late to show it to you, since it has become so extremely popular that she is repeating the same idea in her spring collection.

And then, for good measure, "Lido," a blue jersey bonnet with woolen embroidery in the form of the Persian motifs of which Talbot is so fond—one on either side of the ears and one at the back.

Fashion French.

Note the title and note that this is the very first of a fashion dictionary we have decided to give you here—watch for "Fashion French," cut it out and put it in a little 5-cent notebook—one of these days you will have a complete dictionary of all the terms you are likely to see or hear connected with this pleasant feminine occupation—style.

Apricot (abree-ko)—apricot a color.
S'accorder (suh-cor-day)—to harmonize (of colors).
Accroc (akro)—a hook.
Acheteur (ahsh-toor)—buyer.
Acier (ah-see-ay)—steel.

The Answers.

4. At Auction Bridge the bidding should be: South one No Trump—no other bid.

5. At Contract Bridge South should bid two No Trumps (four suits stopped, count of 20) and North should bid three No Trumps. South has very nearly a three No Trump bid in his own hand, being only one short of the minimum; North, with a count of 6, can jump from two to a game bid.

6. West should lead the Trey of Hearts the fourth best card of his longest suit. The fact that the suit is headed by King-Jack, an undesirable combination from which to lead, would not justify the lead of a short suit in preference. Opening against a No Trump, unless partner has bid and his suit can be led, a long suit always should be selected.

7. The Queen of Hearts played by East should win the first trick. Declarer, with Ace and two others, should hold up the Ace until the third round of Hearts so as to exhaust the East hand of Hearts should the division of the adverse Hearts prove to be 5-3. Declarer can win one Heart trick, three Diamonds and two Clubs, and will go game by making three Spades unless the adversaries, after winning their Spade trick, should make a total of four Hearts. If East has the Ace of Spades, he can not lead Hearts and save the game if Declarer holds up the Heart Ace until the third round; if West has it, the hold-up will be fruitless, but can not cost anything.

Conduct and Common Sense

BY ANNE SINGLETON

BAD MANNERS AT BRIDGE

"DEAR Miss Singleton: What would you do if the thing happened to you that did to me? I kept the score at a bridge party the other day and noticed that one of my opponents, who was quite obviously playing for the prize, was watching my scoring rather carefully. I finally had the high score, but as she evidently wanted the prize badly, I offered it to her, only to be met with, 'There, I knew she cheated. She wouldn't have given up the prize so easily if she hadn't.' I ignored her, but should I have asked for it back again and made an issue of her statement? P.K."

If the remark quoted was made as a joke, perhaps the utmost intimacy and understanding could excuse it. If it was made semiseriously, it was in the worst possible taste. I think you might have pretended to take it lightly, but you could have said, "I thought I'd give up the prize because you seemed so eager for it, but since you consider it in the light of incriminating evidence, perhaps I'd better keep it in my own possession." Then you might have walked off with it, leaving her gasping. This woman's kind of insult is the hardest to answer, because she would probably pretend that she had meant it in fun if you took it seriously. The only way to answer it, if you answer at all, is the way suggested above. You affect a polite lightness of tone, so as not to destroy the social atmosphere by any appearance of a quarrel. But you manage to convey to her that you saw her eagerness to win, you appreciated her rudeness to yourself, and you paid her out for it by taking away the thing she coveted, all with the most perfect good breeding.

JELLEFF'S ◆ F STREET

YOUR BOY AND YOUR GIRL

By ARTHUR DEAN, SC. D.
The Parent Counselor.

The Blindfold Test.

THE school hall was jammed. Not scholars alone, but fathers, mothers, cousins, aunts—everybody was there to see the results of the blindfold test.

Bill Gaffney, the subject, had never indulged. No brand had touched his lips. As a great football star, captain of the baseball team, master hand at tennis, the community's best long-distance swimmer, the school's brightest scholar, he had never fallen.

Handsome, strong, perfect figure, wonderful eyes, dark wavy hair, marvelous voice, beautiful smile that flashed pearly white teeth—the king of the boys, the hero of the school and the idol of every kid on the streets.

No wonder crowds packed the hall to see the blindfold test. They ogled and gawped. "Can Bill pick the right one?" people whispered to one another. How would he stand the test? Would he pick the popular brand? The most advertised? The best for sore eyes, the best for brain growth, the best for nerve, the best for the heart?

Every brand had tried desperately on previous occasions to reach his lips, be held by his strong fingers, be his companion at his study table, in the athletic field, at parties, but most of all each brand had tried to give Bill solace when he was alone. Now was their chance. Boy! What a struggle! And what a master stroke for the winner!

Watch, Here They Come!

Miss Unlucky Stuntman headed the row. She had spent hours in preparation, dolling up with her favorite mixture, "Three P's for Pep"—paint, powder and perfume. Blindfolded Bill couldn't see her. He didn't need to. "Your nose knows!" One down, nine to go.

The next, nicknamed by her admirers "The Three Graces," had read a book on "Personality," and confidently sure for herself she greeted Bill with "Gee, kid, it's swell to see you again." The ears of Bill got it but the heart heard not that message. Two down!

Miss Milo Walker was third. The crowd was rooting for her—high heeled, short-skirted, well prinked and a wonderful looker. But remember, Bill was blindfolded. Three down.

Fourth came Miss Camile Chesterwood. She had studied and practiced for the occasion by taking six lessons in French so she would surely make a hit. "Parlez-vous Francais?" she sweetly babbled in her best Parisian accent. But Bill didn't care for veneered culture. Besides, he disliked a girl who talked through her nose so that made it four straight.

Then Miss Stoutima. Of course she would win, because she was so awfully popular—one of those life-of-the-party girls, you know. And she minced up and whispered, "Got anything on your hip, big boy? Because if you haven't I know where I can get it." But Bill had had athletic coaching, and he took his training seriously.

One to Go.

Beatrice Haviland was last. Bill had his wits, if not his eyes. Instinctively he felt she had entered the lists. Her intelligence, combined with a touch of reserve, would naturally, he figured, make her take the last position. Bill knew he couldn't smell her. She wouldn't, in passing, put her hands on him. She wouldn't do anything offensive to good taste. Her heels wouldn't click-clock her going. How could he pick her out?

"I have it," said Bill to himself, "her step is distinctive and her voice is low and interesting."

Beatrice walked by. Bill's ears caught her step. "If she speaks, then I'll know," he said. She passed by. But mindful of Bill she turned, went back and said simply and friendly, "Bill, you can not see. You must be tired. Good luck to you always. I am the last."

Bill tore the bandage from his eyes and stated for publication, "No, you are not! You are the first—first in my experience and first in my heart. You are my brand from now on. I shall use no other."

OUR CONVERSATION CORNER.

Dollars and Dough.

I am working in a bakery, and my folks want me to continue, as it is a well-paying trade. But I am interested in drawing. Should I quit my present job and try to find work in some commercial art company, or stick to my present position and save my money? DOUGHBOY.

Answer—Stay in the bakery business for one year more and get the dough. Salt away all you can. Then seek a commercial art position and go to night school. In five years from now the dough, through compound interest, will have raised quite a bit. Use this in a regular art course.

No Self-Addressed Stamped Envelope.

Ann: I certainly shouldn't. Consult his physician.

Helpless: Indeed you are, unless you go to your mother.

C. C.: Past is past. Something to work for and a pay envelope of his own will save this situation.

Bewildered: Inform him that for your own protection you will tell if repeated.

Lonesome Billy: An address on your letter would have brought a personal reply.

Terrible Fix: Write again, inclosing a self-addressed stamped envelope, and repeat your question. It's important for you that I answer it.

The Crisis Student: I agree that you are up against it. Confess to that teacher you most respect and trust to her judgment.

Atheist: You who said, "I fear neither God, man or devil," were afraid to sign your name to a vicious attack on Christianity.

Abnormal: If you will repeat your question and follow column rules of the S. A. S. E. I will send you helpful on this peculiar matter.

Amusement Yield Big.

Stockholm (A.P.).—Sweden's amusement tax for 1927 amounted to 4,900,000 crowns, or about $1,309,526. In the nine years that this tax has existed the government has received a revenue of $12,362,000.

Uncle Ray's Corner

The Hunter of the Sky

AMONG the pictures the olden Greeks thought they saw in the sky, was the figure of a hunter named Orion. They pointed out his belt, his dagger, his legs, shoulder and head. They also fancied the figure of a bull nearby.

The chief stars of the star group known as Orion.

One of the stories the Greeks told was about the death of the hunter. They said that Artemis, the goddess of the chase, had fallen in love with him. Her brother, Apollo, did not approve of their love, so he played a cruel trick upon her. One day at the seashore, Apollo pointed out a black object in the water and said to Artemis:

"I don't believe you are good enough shot to hit that with your bow-and-arrow."

"Yes I can," she replied, fitting a shaft to the string.

True to its mark the arrow flew, and struck the object—which was the head of Orion! She had killed her lover who had been swimming in the sea!

Yet Orion was not destined to vanish from the sight of the world. Upon his death, he was placed in the sky—forming the brightest group of stars to be seen. He is there with his faithful hound, and may be seen any clear winter evening.

If it is clear tonight, you may be able to find Orion in the sky. You will have to have sharper eyes than mine to make out the complete figure of a hunter, but at least you can see his belt and dagger. The bright star above the belt marks the hunter's shoulder.

The Greeks did not know the immense size of the stars—that some of them are millions of times as large as the earth. If they had known that, I think that they would not have made up a story of a hunter becoming as large as a group of stars! To find Orion, look straight above, then turn to the southwest and let your eyes go down about half-way to the horizon.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

A Golfer's New Year Vow.

Let the drinker give up drinking, now the year is bright and new,
Let him make his vow and keep it, 'tis an easy thing to do.
Let the smoker give up smoking. 'Tis a trifling test and small.
Here's a New Year's resolution: "Keep your eye upon the ball."

I am done with resolutions of the ordinary kind,
As a golfer I am seeking to leave graver faults behind.
I will pledge myself to something that is difficult to do.
So I've sworn that in the future, as the pro, I'll follow through.

I have analyzed the errors which have vexed me, mind and soul.
Through the year that lies before me I will practice self-control.
Never more when I am golfing shall I let my shoulder fall,
On my new leaf I have written: "Keep your eye upon the ball!"

I will make no resolutions of the weak and flabby sort.
The impossible I'll tackle just to prove that I'm a sport.
For myself a task I've chosen that is hardest of them all,
Once again I'm going to try to keep my eye upon the ball!

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES McDONALD

"Business-like Love."

DEAR MISS M'DONALD: I am old enough to know my own business, but am coming to you, nevertheless, as I am feeling great doubt on an important matter.

Five years ago I inherited a large estate, my parents dying within a year of each other. My father had a man in his employ who had known me intimately for fifteen years and never gave me a second look. Now it was a great surprise to every one that my father had such wealth. Mother never knew it, and scrimped and slaved, and I never had a good time in my life, and I am now 40 years old.

Well, to get to the story. This man suddenly developed the greatest interest in me. Started by calling up each day after father's death to see if everything was all right. I, being lonely, suggested he run over, and within a month he was here day and night, telling me I must marry some one and why not him?

Now here is the difficult part. In my heart I know he does not care a straw for me, but is after my money, as he just can not keep off the subject, asking all sorts of questions about rents, &c., on houses, apartment houses, that we never knew "dad" had. I kno wit is my money he wants, but for fifteen years, ever since I first saw this man in my father's store, I have been in love with him. No one on earth suspects it. I never gave him even a sign and have not yet.

But now I just wonder. I am 40 with a lot of money that has come too late. He is good looking, bright, likable, and to me, at least, lovable. Mother always loathed him. She used to tell "dad" she wouldn't "trust that fellow around the room and back." He is not a high type either of intelligence or manhood. He gossips, tells little tales about people such as men never bother about. He does not pay his bills, and can't talk about anything but small doings, although he is bright in a business way. Another thing, he associates with awful ordinary people always much below himself, and he is very untruthful.

With all this muddled information can you just answer me this: Would I lothe myself for ever if I married this man?" MAUDE U. L.

Well, Maude you would be buying him as you would buy a horse, and fourth rate horse.

Women have done this thing time and time again, and as a rule the horse runs away in the end, or kicks over the traces, and the woman is back where she started from.

In your place, Maude, dear, I'd rather buy a freckle-faced orphan about 10 years old or maybe two, and start in and really live.

Have you ever stood at night at the foot of a child's bed and looked at the helplessness, and confidence of childhood's sleep? There is written the story of life, and why we live, and how. Forty is not too late for anything. Brisbane assures us that we do not even begin to be ourselves, or really develop our charms to the fullest until we pass 40, which statement links him arm in arm forever with Ananias, but comforts us enormously just the same. I would love to know how he would answer you, Maude.

For myself I can only say that if I were buying a horse I would want to know if it had no bad traits or mean tricks, and if I were buying a husband, well, I'd not deliberately buy a fourth rater, with my eyes wide open.

BEAUTY AND YOU

By VIOLA PARIS

PRE-SHAMPOO RITES

IF you are one of those who have a careful and conscientious shampoo regularly every two or three weeks, you probably feel that you are doing complete justice to your hair. And, if your scalp is healthy and your hair is in good condition, then you are doing just that! But, if the hair remains oily or dry or lusterless, or the scalp continues to be afflicted with dandruff (and, alas, too many of us know that this is the case, no matter how conscientious we are about our shampoos), then we are wise if we adopt some pre-shampoo rites on the night before the shampoo.

The first of these is the manipulation of the scalp. If we do this every night of our lives, our hair would be infinitely better and more beautiful, for good circulation of the blood beneath the scalp insures hair health and beauty. But, if we don't have the persistence to follow this regime every night, we can at least devote a brief while to it the night before the shampoo. This manipulation of the scalp is a very simple procedure, but it is not so simple that it means a rubbing over the surface of the scalp, as many people interpret it. I have even seen unskilled operators give a massage that consisted chiefly of rubbing over the scalp, instead of moving the scalp itself, and I have wanted to rise up and tell them that they were doing more harm than good. The proper way to manipulate the scalp in a massage is to press the finger-tips of both hands upon the scalp, and then to move the scalp itself beneath the finger-tips in a circular motion, using the thumbs as a pivotal base, to steady the hands and give strength to the fingers. This manipulation should be extended over the complete scalp.

Another simple treatment to be given the night before a shampoo that is beneficial to any scalp is the application of warm oil. Of course, the benefits of the procedure for a dry scalp are obvious, but I never recommend it for oily scalps that some one doesn't ask. "You don't mean to say that more oil is really going to help an already oily scalp?" And I do mean just that! Briefly, the situation is this. Excess oil is the result of an overstimulation of the oil cells (due, very often, to too-frequent shampoos) so that they function in excess of their proper amount and send the surplus oil into the hair. When the proper amount of oil is supplied to these cells, they cease their excess activity, and the excess oil is decreased correspondingly.

The oil may be a good quality of olive-oil or odorless castor-oil, and it should not be allowed to become so hot that there is any possibility of burning the scalp. The hair is separated into strands, and the oil is applied along the parts with a bit of cotton or a medicine dropper. A hot towel wrung out in hot water and wrapped about the head will help the oil to penetrate into the scalp, and when the first towel has cooled, the process can be repeated two or three times. Of course, the chief advantage of applying this oil the night before the shampoo is that it can remain on the scalp during the night.

Vaccine at Times Good For Colds

Experiments Show It Is Not Perfect Preventive. No One Type Superior to Others—Some Persons Naturally Immune.

By DR. W. A. EVANS.

ONE of the most difficult questions to decide at this season of the years is whether to be vaccinated against colds. Related is the difficulty in deciding whether or not to advise the use of vaccines for this purpose. So far as the latter is concerned, I find that of the various pieces of pretty well controlled clinical research on the problems, somewhat more than one-half have shown that vaccines did some good and nearly one-half have shown that they did no good. None have shown results that indicated that vaccine was a perfect preventive or one that was overwhelmingly helpful. No one kind of vaccine has shown any outstanding superiority over its competitors.

A British report recently received is the most negative that has come to my attention. This man found that in a group of people those who took the vaccine had nearly twice as many colds as those who did not. His result seemed to show that one way to have frequent colds was to take vaccines. However, in conclusion he was much more on the fence. He gave vaccine at weekly intervals until he had given several injections. This method he thought a mistake. It kept the subjects in a negative phase a considerable part of the time and while in that phase the susceptibility to cold was increased. He plans another effort in which he will give one injection each month from the beginning to the end of the colds season. In the light of such conflicting testimony one wonders what is the best policy.

There are people who rarely have colds. They seem to have a natural immunity. To them the question is of no interest. There are others who have attacks of tonsilitis frequently, but who escape nose colds entirely. The two are not parts of the same thing. In fact, one student found that certain kinds of sore throat seem to beget some immunity. The people who carry that particular type of tonsil seem to escape colds and general sore throats.

Then there are others and they make up a large group, who have between two and six colds every winter-spring. These people spend a total of from two to six weeks a year in considerable discomfort. They are the people who want advice. If the advice offered them is counted by the dozen, the election goes to vaccines, but not by a heavy plurality.

EATING GREASY GRAVY.

J. T. writes:

1. Is the fat grease in gravy that is served in ordinary restaurants with meals constipating or laxative?

2. What happens if mercury is put into the stomach of a human being?

REPLY.

1. Neither.

2. I presume you refer to metallic mercury and not to salts of mercury. There are two preparations of metallic mercury that are used internally. One is blue mass and the other gray powder. When either is given there is some purgative action and in some cases salivation. A little of the mercury in the mass or powder is converted into mercury salts, after which it has the constitutional effect of such salts.

WOMAN IS CHOKED BY THIEF; SILENCES HER WITH PILLOW

Mrs. Anne Lally, 68, Wakes to Find Him Searching Room; Obeys Threats.

FOUR OTHER PLACES ROBBED BY GANGSMEN

Valuable Furs Taken From Merchant; Office Ransacked; Wallet Vanishes.

Awakened about 3 o'clock yesterday morning to find a colored man ransacking her apartment, Mrs. Annie Lally, 63 years old, of apartment 1, 504 Third street northwest, was choked and a pillow forced over her head by the intruder when he saw that she was awake. The man then made off with approximately $30, after warning Mrs. Lally to make no outcry.

Mrs. Lally said that so far as she knew, the man was unarmed and she was not seriously hurt, but was in a highly nervous state yesterday as a result of her experience. Later in the morning Detective Sergts. E. E. Thompson and Thomas Nally arrested a 28-year-old colored laborer in connection with the assault and robbery, and are holding him at the First Precinct Station on a technical charge of investigation. Mrs. Lally will make an effort to identify the prisoner today.

Policeman's Room Searched.

Policeman T. J. Lynch, of the Sixth Precinct, occupies a room in Mrs. Lally's apartment, but was on duty in his precinct yesterday morning when the attack occurred. His room and clothes were also ransacked, but apparently the thief was looking only for money, and nothing was stolen from the policeman.

Four other places were also entered yesterday morning, and thieves made off with more than $100 in cash, a raccoon coat valued at $295 and a fox fur piece valued at $225. The furs were stolen from the display window of William Rosendorf, furrier, at 1215 G street northwest, when the thief broke the window, grabbed the coat and fur piece and made his escape.

The window was fitted with a burglar alarm, which sounded at the Mutual District Messenger Co.'s office at 1402 G street northwest when the window was broken, but when an operator of the company arrived at the store three minutes later the thief had vanished.

Police Take One Suspect.

Louis Harris, of 1912 Seventh street northwest, reported to the police yesterday that his office had been entered and ransacked and that $98 in bills and change were stolen. Later in the day police of the Eighth Precinct arrested a man whom they suspect of the robbery. He is being held for investigation.

The store of William Gilliland, 1521 North Capitol street, was entered yesterday morning and about $5 stolen from the cash register. Gilliland reported that an effort was also made to enter the safe, but that it was unsuccessful.

A small amount of change was stolen from the cash register in the store of Louis Macina, 1009 E street northwest, when thieves entered the place early yesterday morning by jimmying a rear window, Macina told police of the First Precinct.

William J. Finke, of 3000 Connecticut avenue northwest, reported to the police of the Fourteenth Precinct that his wallet, containing $110 in bills, was either lost or stolen early yesterday morning at the Wardman Park Hotel. Police are investigating the loss.

2 Held in Strange Robbery of Garage

Tools Worth $250 Found Scattered Over City Last November.

Charged with housebreaking and grand larceny in connection with a mysterious theft committed November 30, John Rutley, 24 years old, 1430 Chapin street northwest, and Harry Eldridge, 21 years old, 4901 Howard street northwest, were arrested and placed in jail yesterday by Policeman R. Downs and Detective R. L. Jones.

The charges were preferred by William Grey, whose garage at the rear of 2301 Fourteenth street northwest was entered in November with the loss of about $250 worth of tools and a Ford truck. The truck was found abandoned shortly after the robbery and the tools were found, according to police, "scattered all over the city."

Rutley's arrest followed a tip received by police yesterday. He is said by Downs and Jones to have confessed and implicated Eldridge, who was subsequently arrested, but denied the charge.

Winston-Salem Police Capture Boy Fugitive

Laverne R. Taylor, 19, fugitive from the National Training School for Boys, was apprehended in Winston-Salem, N. C., yesterday and will be brought back immediately. An officer from the school left last night with instructions to speed the youth's return.

Taylor, under sentence for transporting a stolen automobile from one State to another, escaped from the school several weeks ago. He was captured on a tip furnished Winston-Salem police by his father, according to information received here.

Washington's Children Resume Studies Today

Washington's approximately 73,000 public school children will return to their desks this morning to begin final preparation for their midyear examinations, following a 10-day Christmas period holiday.

School officials in the administration building at the Franklin School, who, too, have "taken it easy" during the holidays, will return to their offices today prepared to complete plans for the midyear graduation exercises in graded, junior and senior high schools. The Board of Education will hold its semi-monthly meeting this afternoon at the Franklin School.

WORKER EXEMPTIONS ASSAILED BY C. OF C.

Shipstead Bill, Granting Favors to Combinations of Employes, Hit.

LETTER SENT TO NORRIS

On the basis that combinations of employes would be given a special exemption from the operations of the laws of the United States under its provisions, the Shipstead bill, now before Congress, was vigorously assailed by William Butterworth, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce in a communication addressed to Senator William A. Norris, chairman of the Senate judiciary committee, which was made public yesterday.

The Shipstead bill would deprive the Federal courts of the power to enjoin continued violations of the antitrust statutes by organizations of wage earners. Butterworth said that member organizations of the Chamber of Commerce affirmed the right of workers to organize, but upheld the principle that associations or combinations of employers or employes or both should be equally subject to the authority of the State.

"The measure which is before you," Butterworth wrote to Senator Norris, "is contrary to the propositions for which our organization stands, in that the bill has as its essential purpose a special exemption for employes and their associations from the operation of the laws of the United States, particularly the laws against restraints of interstate commerce. Both the exemption and the method through which it would be granted are contrary to the declarations as to principle made by our membership.

"On the other hand, the organizations in the chamber's membership have united in urging a reconsideration of antitrust legislation. From the point of view of the chamber, therefore, it may be submitted that if the legislative department of the Government is of the opinion that any feature of the substantive legislation as to interstate commerce has effects other than those which were intended, or effects which, while originally intended, are now considered to be contrary to the public interest, it would seem appropriate to consider amendments to the substantive legislation."

CONGRESS TO WEIGH DISTRICT MEASURES

Committees Slated to Debate Merger and Appropriations Following Recess.

BRAND OPPOSED BY UNION

Congress comes back from its holiday recess tomorrow to find a number of District of Columbia matters awaiting attention. So far in this session, only three local measures have been passed—a bill creating an additional judgeship, one changing the law covering fraternal insurance and one affecting the National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

Dominating everything else from now on will be the hearings on the proposed merger of the street car companies, which will be conducted by the Senate District committee. The first of these hearings will be held either late this week or early next week.

Hearing on Appropriations.

Tomorrow the District subcommittee of the House District committee will start hearings on the District of Columbia appropriation bill for the fiscal year of 1929. The Commissioners will be the first witnesses called.

The Senate District committee probably will hold an early meeting to consider the nomination of Col. Harrison Brand, jr., to serve another term as a member of the Public Utilities Commission. The Central Labor Union will have representatives before the committee to oppose the nomination.

Welch Act Revision Planned.

Chairman Lehlbach, of the House civil service committee, is expected to arrive here late in the week, bearing a draft of his bill to revise the Welch pay-raise act.

The steering committee of the House is expected to meet within the next few days to consider what shall be done about the Dale-Lehlbach bill to liberalize the civil service retirement law. If the committee should decide to let it come up for a vote, it certainly will be passed. Consequently, it will become a law, as the Senate already has passed it.

40 South African Students to Tour U. S.

Forty South African students of Dutch, English and French descent will land in New York Saturday for a tour of the United States as guests of the National Student Federation of America, according to an announcement issued yesterday by that organization. They will visit Washington during their month's tour and will sail for home February 2.

The purpose of the tour, it was announced, is to introduce South African students to the best of American college and home life and also to show them something of the industrial and civic life of the United States. They are being sent here by the National Union of Students of South Africa.

U. S. Today Opens Oil Bids.

Bids for the sale of the Government's royalty oil in the Cat Creek field, Mont., will be opened publicly this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the office of Secretary of the Interior Roy O. West.

Columbia Heights' New Traffic Lights Praised

Columbia Heights boasts of the best traffic regulation in the city, Alton B. Carty, member of the executive committee of the Columbia Heights Business Men's Association and former president of the Columbia Heights Citizens Association, declared yesterday in a speech in the course of a ceremony at the turning on of new automatic traffic lights on Fourteenth street, between Harvard and Monroe streets.

The new lights, with safety zones and better street lighting, Carty said, placed that section in the forefront. B. A. Levitan, president of the association, turned on the new lights from No. 11 Engine House on Fourteenth street.

World Map at Exposition To Show U. S. Foreign Trade

Four-Panel Screen to Harmonize With American Building at Seville, Spain; All Wording in Spanish; Dioramas Illustrate Commerce Relations.

A world map, 16 feet long and 10 feet high, is the central feature of an exhibit of the United States Shipping Board, including a series of dioramas, pictures, and specially designed pennants, which will be forwarded to the International Exposition at Seville, Spain.

The map takes the form of a four-panel screen, designed to harmonize with the general architecture of the building in which the United States Government exhibits are to be located. On the map, the land areas of the world are segregated by different colors into the United States coastal and insular districts and foreign trade regions with which external commerce of the United States is transacted.

Every port of the world which participates in the foreign and insular commerce is shown as well as the foreign cities where the Shipping Board, Department of Commerce, and Department of State maintain offices. The American flag steamship services and trade routes operating under private and government control, in foreign or insular commerce are also included.

All wording on the map and other portions of the exhibit are in Spanish out of courtesy to the Spanish-speaking countries taking part in the exposition and descriptive booklets in Spanish, containing detailed information on the more important and exported commodities through the several trade regions, addresses of the American representatives in those regions and other pertinent data will be distributed.

The dioramas illustrate trade relations which have been developed through direct service between the United States, the countries of the Iberian Peninsula and the Latin-American republics. The central position of the group is a painting of New York Harbor, showing in the foreground two ships, one beginning a voyage to Europe and the other to South America. The ship leaving for Europe is again shown entering the ports of Lisbon and Seville, and the ship bound for South America is seen at Rio de Janeiro and Valparaiso, Chile, shown in illuminated relief.

The Shipping Board exhibit will also include a series of pictures illustrating the ships, or types of ships prominent in American marine history beginning with the caravels of Columbus and concluding with the S. S. Leviathan.

Construction of the map was in the hands of Henry Littlefield, assisted by T. C. Jeffers. J. M. Baker colored it.

313 ARRESTS MARK CAPITAL GAYETY AT NEW YEAR'S START

Only 57 Held as Intoxicated or Disorderly; Police Raid Causes Near Riot.

RECEPTIONS ARE STAGED BY OFFICIALS AND CLUBS

Secretary and Mrs. Kellogg Celebrate With Breakfast for Diplomats.

Law enforcement officials presumably do not list books on poetry among their manuals, but the official comment on the Capital's celebration of the New Year, as expressed in the mundane figures and reports at police court, indicates that policemen and judges alike felt that, after all:

"It's a pretty good world, good people."

Those who laughed up a sleeve at the pronouncement of Maj. Edwin B. Hesse, superintendent of police, that Washington would be as dry as he could make it as the Old Year went out, considered today that only 313 persons were arrested for various exhibitions of hilariousness and 57 faced trial for intoxication, drinking in public and disorder.

Three night clubs were raided and a riot call for police added to confusion, but, nevertheless, the Capital today will settle down to normal pursuits, with the prevailing spirit a disposition to ask, "well, what of it?"

Start Year Under Arrest.

Henry E. Smith got a definite answer to the question, going to jail for intoxication on a 30-day ticket issued by Judge Given. He was the New Year's first contribution to the calaboose.

Twenty persons were committed to jail, 65 forfeited collateral, and 30 out of 156, who guessed wrong on possibilities in negotiating traffic, answered "present" before Judge Given and deposited small fines. Several persons charged with driving too fast called on Judge Hitt and a few suspected of driving while intoxicated await jury trials.

New Year's Day, dull and discomforting from a drizzling rain, seemingly had enough gayety inherent to bestir hosts of citizens, from officialdom on down, to participate in holiday "whopee."

In the absence of President and Mrs. Coolidge, official Washington centered attention on the brilliant diplomatic breakfast at the Pan-American Union Building, at which Secretary of State and Mrs. Kellogg greeted members of the Diplomatic Corps.

Conciliation Delegates Attend.

Among the invited guests were delegates to the Pan-American Conference on Conciliation and Arbitration, here from many countries; members of the foreign relations and foreign affairs committees of the Senate and House and their wives, officials of the State Department, and a few persons from the ranks of unofficial society.

Secretary and Mrs. Kellogg greeted each guest in the broad entrance to the Hall of the Americas, which was brilliantly decorated for the occasion, and later partook of breakfast with Sir Esme and Lady Isabella Howard, of the British Embassy. Sir Esme is dean of the Diplomatic Corps.

Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Wilbur entertained formally in the afternoon. Other members of the Cabinet did not observe the New Year formally.

Annual Army Reception.

The annual Army reception was held in the afternoon at the quarters of the chief of staff at Fort Myer, where Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Charles P. Summerall received guests from 6 to 6:30 o'clock.

The day was one of rest and recreation for many of Washington residents. The great army of Government clerks had no use for the alarm clock.

Churches took advantage of the opportunity to observe appropriately the start of another twelve-month period. Programs, depicting in song and story the significance of a "fresh start," attracted great numbers of people to edifices decorated fittingly. Morning and afternoon services were general.

Hopes entertained earlier by Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant, 3d, that ice skating might take place on Lincoln Memorial Pool were dashed by the rain, but children for the most part responded by getting out their Santa Claus presents other than ice skates and putting in a full day despite the drizzle.

Many organizations entertained at receptions.

Members of the Woman's Relief Corps, Department of the Potomac, were hostesses to veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic and other guests from 1 to 5 o'clock at 1326 Massachusetts avenue. The Arts Club entertained for its patrons and friends.

The Association of Oldest Inhabitants, its members perhaps prouder than other residents on seeing another year come in, made merry in the old Union Engine House.

A reception of the Central Union Mission, an annual affair, was held in the afternoon at the Emergency Home for Children, 624 Louisiana avenue. Superintendent and Mrs. John S. Bennett and the institution's board of directors and ministerial council conducted "open house."

Freedom for Race Topic of Speakers

Organizations for Equal Rights Holding Joint Sessions Here.

Steps designed to complete the emancipation of the colored race by the removal of public race restrictions were discussed by speakers at the opening session of the two-day meeting of the National Equal Rights League and Race Congress of America, which is being held at the Mount Carmel Baptist Church, Third and I streets northwest. The meeting is the twenty-first held annually by the organizations.

The principal address last night was made by William M. Trotter, corresponding secretary of the league, who delivered an eulogy of Abraham Lincoln and also discussed the steps through which the colored race might make further progress. Kelly Miller, dean of the Howard University, also paid tribute to Lincoln.

Other speakers included Dr. W. H. Jernagin, vice president of the league, and Roscoe Conklin. The choir of the church rendered a musical program.

Husband Accuses Woman.

Mrs. Alice Lee Jaimedes, 22 years old, of 1407 Rhode Island avenue northwest, and E. M. Demer, 39 years old, of 1226 Fourteenth street northwest, were arrested by police last night at the woman's home on a warrant sworn out by her husband, Stephen Jaimedes, a chef at the Occidental Hotel. Bonds of $300 were posted.

DISTRICT TO SELL MANY PROPERTIES FOR UNPAID TAXES

Public Auction of 15,000 Parcels of Realty to Begin Next Tuesday.

DELINQUENTS MAY HALT SALE BY QUICK PAYMENT

Unpaid Levies Now Due the Government Total $2,000,000, It Is Said.

Approximately 15,000 parcels of real estate on which owners have failed to pay taxes for the last two years will be sold for the amount of the delinquent assessments next week.

The sale will be conducted by Chatham M. Towers, District tax collector, in his office in the District Building, beginning next Tuesday and continuing until all of the parcels have been offered and bid in or refused.

There were 20,000 parcels in the first listing prepared several weeks ago by District officials, but the owners of more than 3,000 parcels acted on the warning of sale sent them and have paid their taxes.

Hundreds of Others May Pay.

Towers said he expected several hundred others to pay the taxes and accrued penalties and save their property from sale.

Approximately $2,000,000 is due the District from unpaid taxes on the listed properties, many of which are in the downtown and other high value sections, although most of the properties lie in the outlying sections, which have not been fully developed.

Some of the parcels have been carried on the District books for years and, in some instances the taxes due on them, plus the accrued penalties, total more than the assessed or market value.

Mostly Small Parcels.

For the most part these are small bits of land located in various sections of the city. They never are bought by the tax script buyers, for there would be no profit in it and they are carried from year to year and annually offered for sale.

Only about half of the parcels offered at the annual District tax sale are bought for taxes. Under the law owners have the privilege of redeeming their property so sold upon payment of prescribed penalties to the holder of the tax deed and back taxes and penalties due to the District. After the expiration of this grace period, however, holders of tax deeds may demand whatever they will before surrendering their claim which remains as a cloud against a clear title.

Three Hurt as Car And Patrol Crash

Driver of Police Machine Suffers Knee Fracture as Auto Skids.

Three persons, two of them women passengers on a street car, were injured last night in a collision between a police patrol and a street car at Rhode Island avenue and Tenth street northeast. The patrol skidded when the driver attempted to avoid another automobile at the intersection, and the street car, eastbound, struck it.

Mrs. Frank Inches, 32 years old, of Hyattsville, Md., was cut about the face by flying glass, and Mrs. Ethel Barber, 1010 Maryland avenue northeast, suffered a wrenched back. Both were taken to the homes of physicians by passing motorists. G. N. Nicholson, 1710 East Capitol street, driver of the police patrol, received a knee fracture and internal injuries.

The street car and the patrol were badly damaged and were towed from the streets.

Passenger in Auto Cut As Machine Overturns

Severence Farmer, 21 years old, of the Stanhope Apartments, suffered lacerations to the cheek and scalp early yesterday morning when the automobile in which he was riding ran into a ditch and turned over on Benning road near Thirty-ninth street northeast.

Farmer was removed to Casualty Hospital in a passing automobile and treated by Dr. W. H. Peacock. His condition is not serious. The driver of the automobile that turned over, Lawrence D. Wood, 16 years old, of 723 L street northeast, was uninjured. He told police that the car ran into the ditch when he swerved it in an effort to avoid colliding with another machine.

Woman and Operator Of Taxi Hurt in Crash

Mrs. Nellie Belt, 44 years old, of 1314 Levis street northeast, and Joe King, 22-year-old taxicab driver, of 1255 Irving street northwest, were slightly injured early yesterday morning when the latter's cab collided at Sixth street and Massachusetts avenue northwest with the automobile in which Mrs. Belt was riding.

Mrs. Belt was taken to her home by her husband, Samuel Belt, operator of the second car in the collision, and treated for bruises to the side and legs and shock. King was treated at the clinic at 1723 Rhode Island avenue northwest for bruises to the side. The condition of neither is considered serious.

Man Taken Off Train After Heart Attack

A man believed to be Frank J. Cassada, of Elmira, N. Y., was in a critical condition last night at Emergency Hospital, following a heart attack which rendered him unconscious while a passenger on a Southern Railway train that arrived in Washington about 9 o'clock.

He was removed from the train at the Union Station and after receiving first-aid treatment was taken to the hospital. He carried a ticket that showed he boarded the train at Gulfport, Miss., and was bound for Elmira.

Cars Delayed As Motor Burns Out.

Northbound Capital Traction Co. cars routed on Fourteenth street were delayed for half an hour last night shortly after 11 o'clock when the after motor on car No. 17, bound for Chevy Chase Lake, burned out while the car was loading passengers at the platform at Fourteenth and H streets northwest. No one was injured.

Capt. J. L. Smith Slated For Local High Court

Republicans Are to Urge His Appointment Soon By President.

CAPT. JOHN LEWIS SMITH.

Capt. John Lewis Smith, prominent attorney and Republican worker here, probably will be the seventh justice of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia.

The Republican organization has decided to ask President Coolidge to nominate Smith for the post, it was announced yesterday by Samuel J. Prescott, chairman of the Republican State Committee for the District of Columbia.

The additional judgeship was created by a recent act of Congress. Whoever is appointed will be assigned to handling cases involving condemnation of land for park purposes.

Born Here 51 Years Ago.

Capt. Smith was born in this city 51 years ago, and has practiced law here for the last 25 years. In the recent political campaign, he was president of the Hoover and Curtis Club, and did valuable work in getting absentee voters here to vote for the Republican ticket by mail.

Capt. Smith also was one of the organizers of the Hughes Republican Club, the Harding and Coolidge Club and the Coolidge and Dawes Club.

In the administration of President Taft he was appointed Assistant United States Attorney, while Clarence R. Wilson was the United States Attorney here. He occupied this post three years, and then resigned to resume private practice.

Head of Bar Association.

He was elected president of the District of Columbia Bar Association. In 1922 he was selected by the president of the American Bar Association as a member of the legal advisory council of the United States Veterans' Bureau.

Capt. Smith served in the War with Spain with the First District of Columbia Volunteers in Cuba and was later elected commander-in-chief of the United Spanish War Veterans. In the World War he was a captain in the military intelligence division of the Army and afterward became commander of the local department of the American Legion.

He is a son of the late John Ambler Smith, of Virginia, once a Republican in the Virginia State Senate and member of the forty-third Congress. His grandfather, John F. Lewis, also a Virginian, was a delegate to the State secession convention of 1861 and refused to sign the ordinance of secession. He was elected lieutenant governor on the True Republican ticket in 1869 and later was elected to the United States Senate.

THRIFT SHOP RAISES $4,000 FOR CHARITY

Directors Cite Success; Mail Checks to Four Child Welfare Agencies.

PIANO AMONG GIFTS SOLD

Checks totaling $4,000 have been sent to the four child welfare agencies benefitting from the Thrift Shop, 804 Tenth street, it was announced last night by Mrs. John Allan Dougherty, chairman of the committee in charge.

The checks represent results of only four weeks' operation of the shop as a permanent rummage sale for these charities. The promoters are convinced that the venture, which is the first of its kind ever attempted here, is on a successful footing. The checks were signed by Mrs. Robert V. Fleming, treasurer of the organization, and one $1,000 check went to each of these four groups: The Children's Hospital, Child Welfare Society, Children's Country Home and prenatal clinic of Columbia Hospital.

In a statement acknowledging the cooperation of all who had helped in the project, Mrs. Dougherty declared: "We have shown that the shop is limited only by the amount of material our friends give us." Among the many things of wide variety which have been sold are a piano, washing machine, buffalo robes, clothing, law books, baby carriages, swords, camping outfits, drums, toys and bird cages. The store is open daily, and on Saturday evenings until 9 o'clock.

Ten per cent of the net returns from the shop were retained in the shop's banking account.

Prisoner Found in Cell Suffering Razor Wound

Clarence K. Cookus, 25 years old, of 722 Eleventh street northwest, a prisoner at the Third Precinct Station, was found in his cell early yesterday morning suffering from a razor blade wound to his neck, which police say he inflicted upon himself.

The man was removed for treatment to Emergency and later to Gallinger Hospital, and his condition is said not to be serious. Cookus was being held by the police on a technical charge of investigation.

University to Teach Civil Church Law

National University will offer a new course in Modern American Civil Church law, beginning with the opening of its sixtieth winter term this afternoon, it was announced yesterday by Dr. Charles F. Carusi, Chancellor. The course will be delivered by Dr. Charles P. Sherman, of the faculty.

This particular course, which treats of the nature, organization, powers, officers, and property of religious societies will start January 15, and will be given Tuesday and Friday afternoons at 4:45 o'clock.

INAUGURAL LEADERS SEEK BATTLESHIPS

Favor Plan to Request Naval Vessels for Ceremonies; Meeting Tomorrow.

FINANCING WILL BE TOPIC

For the benefit of hundreds of visitors who will come to Washington for the inauguration of Herbert Hoover, the general inaugural committee shortly is expected to ask the Navy Department to bring submarines and cruisers to the navy yard and to anchor capital battleships in the bay during the days immediately before and after the ceremonies.

The suggestion has been made to the general entertainment subcommittee, of which E. C. Graham is chairman. It was pointed out that among the visitors who will come here for the occasion there will be hundreds who have never seen a naval vessel. The committee is said to have received the suggestion favorably and to be planning to take the matter up with Secretary of Navy Wilbur at an early date.

Dirigible Use Considered.

Secretary Wilbur already is considering a request for the use of the dirigible Los Angeles in the air circus which is scheduled to be a feature of the inaugural parade.

There was no activity in inaugural circles yesterday, headquarters being closed and committee members generally enjoying the holiday. Preparations, however, will be renewed today, as subcommittee chairmen are scheduled to meet tomorrow afternoon at the Willard Hotel with Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant, 3d, chairman of the inaugural committee, for the purpose of mapping out details of the inaugural program. This program is to be submitted to President-elect Hoover on his return to Washington January 7.

Financing to Be Topic.

One of the reports expected to be made at the meeting tomorrow which is looked forward to with interest is that of Robert Fleming, chairman of the subcommittee on finance. Fleming is expected to tell what progress, if any, has been made toward raising the $100,000 guarantee fund necessary to defray expenses of the inauguration other than those incident to the formal ceremony at the Capitol.

Fleming's committee has been working quietly for several days and is reported to have made considerable progress toward raising the fund. The sum so far subscribed has not been disclosed.

Twentieth Century Club To Hear Merle Thorpe

Merle Thorpe, editor of the Nation's Business, will address the Twentieth Century Club at a luncheon meeting in the National Press Club auditorium tomorrow at noon.

Mr. Thorpe's subject is "This Amazing Decade."

Judges to Select Winners In Outdoor Light Contest

Final Decisions on Displays Will Be Made After Tour of City Tonight; Ten Prizes Await Residents Whose Homes Were Best Decorated.

Final judging in the outdoor decorative contest of the Electric League of Washington is scheduled for tonight, with results to be announced within a few days.

The judges, Gilbert L. Rodier, architect; Dr. J. Franklin Meyer, electrical engineer, and Paul Wooten, newspaper man, have already eliminated many of the poorer displays from the entire list of entries in the contest.

Tonight's judging will consist of a final review of a number of layouts which attracted attention during the preliminary surveys. From this special list, ten winners will be selected and ten prizes, offered by the Electric League, will be awarded to the residents whose homes were chosen as the best decorated.

These prizes range in value from $75 to $15, while the winners will have the opportunity of competing for $600 in cash prizes offered by the Society for Electrical Development in divisional and national contests.

Washington was more beautifully decorated during the present holiday season than ever before, observers believe, and the contest conducted by the Electric League is thought to have stimulated interest in the placing of decorations outdoors where neighbors and passersby might enjoy them.

When winners of the individual prizes are announced the judges will also make public the victor in the contest for communities, the prize for which is the Electric League loving cup. This trophy is now held by Wesley Heights, that section having had the largest percentage of its homes decorated during the last holiday season.

Keen competition between individuals and communities resulted from the announcement of the Electric League contests and many attractive displays adorned the residences and lawns of persons in all sections of the District of Columbia. The territory within three miles of the District line was included in the contest and a number of splendid exhibits of outdoor lighting were registered from these sections.

Of interest to Washington visitors during the holiday season was the national Christmas tree in Sherman Square, which was decorated and lighted by the Electric League.

DRIVING DEAD TAGS GETS 103 AUTOISTS IN TOILS OF POLICE

New Year Not Five Minutes Old When Record Drive for Years Starts.

PRISONERS PUT UP $2 TO $10 APIECE

Maj. Hesse Warns of No Let-Up; Drive to Be Continued Until All Pay Authorities.

Several score of District motorists, caught in the most energetic dead tag drive by the police on January 1 in years, learned yesterday that New Year's Day may be a day of whoopee, but it is also a day for new automobile license tags.

The New Year was a tender babe, not more than five minutes old, when the tag game began, and it continued throughout the day and night with the number of motorists arrested growing hourly.

Collateral ranged from $2, required by the Second and Twelfth Precincts to $10 charged by the Thirteenth, Ninth and Seventh Precincts.

Traffic Bureau Leads.

The Traffic Bureau headed the list with the largest total of arrests. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon, at the end of the day shift, the Traffic Bureau reported 40 arrests, while the total reported by all precincts was 103. Three of the precincts reported no arrests for dead tags.

Not only did those arrested by Traffic Bureau officers suffer the inconvenience of arrest and the loss of $5 collateral which was required of them, but the police confiscated their dead 1928 tags and, despite pleadings and excuses, thereby put the machines out of commission.

Many of the machines were parked in front of the Traffic Bureau, minus tags, until their owners can get new tags today and put them on.

Excuses Lack Originality.

No arrests were made in the Third, Fourth and Eleventh Precincts during the day. There were three in the First Precinct, where $5 collateral was required; four in the Second, $2 collateral; one in the Fifth, $5 collateral; twelve in the Sixth, $5 collateral; three in the Seventh, two being required to post $10 collateral, and one, $5; five in the eighth, $5 collateral; eight in the Ninth, $10 collateral; nineteen in the Tenth, $5 collateral; one in the Twelfth, $2 collateral; five in the Thirteenth, $10 collateral; two in the Fourteenth, $5 collateral, and 40 in the Traffic Bureau.

Excuses showed a surprising lack of originality in the early hours. One man, arrested on Bladensburg road shortly after midnight, said that he was taking a young woman companion to her home in Maryland and was hurrying to get across the District line with his old tags before midnight. He was charged with speeding and bad lights as well as dead tags.

Most persons professed to believe that they would be permitted to operate their cars yesterday until they were able to get new tags today. Several said they were "too busy" to get their tags before; others said that while they did not have 1929 tags they were using their cars in emergencies.

No Let-Up, Hesse Warns.

Whatever may be the reason, whether forehandness in getting their tags or foresightedness in not driving if they didn't have new tags, there were no women among those arrested between midnight and 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

The drive of the police against 1928 tags will be continued without a let-up, Maj. Edwin B. Hesse, superintendent of police warned. Ample warning was given that there would be no period of grace allowed, Maj. Hesse said, and motorists who fell afoul of the law had only themselves to blame.

Wade H. Coombs, superintendent of licenses, estimated that there are approximately 4,000 persons who failed to get new tags.

3 Die, 96 New Cases Of Flu in Capital

National Reports Indicate Crest Reached in First Wave of Epidemic.

Three additional deaths from influenza and 96 new cases of the disease were reported to the District Health Department yesterday. Simultaneously, public health officials announced that reports from all States for the week ending December 29, indicated that the crest of the first wave of the influenza epidemic has been reached.

Twenty-four States and New York City reported 90,000 new cases, compared with approximately 108,000 cases in the same States during the previous week. Officials warned, however, that such a development only substantiated the belief that a second and more severe wave might follow.

Twenty-four persons died of influenza in the District of Columbia in December. Dr. William C. Fowler, health officer, said that 758 cases of influenza had been reported during 1928.

Cramton Will Talk Upon Park System

Representative Louis C. Cramton, of Michigan, author of the pending bill for a comprehensive park system for Washington and the outlying region, will discuss the bill before the public grounds committee of the Women's City Club this afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Active members of the committee are Mrs. Merritt O. Chance, Mrs. William E. Chamberlin, Mrs. J. Garfield Riley, Mrs. Susie Root Rhodes, Mrs. Francis D. Merchant, Mrs. Leon Arnold, Mrs. Bertha Voorhorst, Miss Antoinette Hechmer, Mrs. Thomas J. Howerton, Mrs. Elma Saul, Mrs. J. N. Saunders, Mrs. Edgar Sydenstricker, Mrs. Edgar T. Brown, Mrs. Alva Gardner, Mrs. Frances Williams, Mrs. Virgil Miller, Mrs. Charles A. Hammett and Mrs. Rose Cecile Hall. Miss Mary E. Lazenby is chairman.
